Ike Doctrine Clears Hurdle

At Least Four Women Killed In Factory Fire

Smaller Atom Blasts Will Be Set Off In Nevada This Spring

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The United States, pushing ahead with its nuclear weapon development, announced plans tonight for a new series of comparatively small atomic detonations.

The test explosions will start late this spring at the Nevada proving grounds.

The trials of new designs will be directed primarily at tactical type weapons which would be used on a battlefield in aerial defense rather than in strategic warfare against industrial and military and production centers.

Such designs include warheads for missiles and cannons as well as bombs for use by jet powered fighter-bomber planes.

President Eisenhower already has stated that during the weapon research in the new fiscal year emphasis would be on the tactical mission for nuclear bombs.

Defense Weapons Objective

In a joint announcement today with the Defense Department, the Atomic Energy Commission said that "the development of weapons for defense against attack is a major objective" of the forthcoming series.

That suggested that further developments have been made in atomic weapons for anti-aircraft missile defense. The commission and the Defense Department has been working on that project for more than two years.

The name chose for this series is "Operation Plumb Bob." the name was taken from a file of old names used for designating various tests by the AEC and the military. It has no significance.

Dates To Be Announced

Dates for the start and end of the series are to be announced later.

The commission said only "low-yield nuclear tests" will be conducted at the Nevada site, adding that tests of high-yield devices—H-bomb—are never conducted in Nevada.

The announcement said arrangements will be made for "limited coverage" by newsmen of the tests.

Competitive Atom Merchant Vessel Aim Of Program

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The government today announced a long-range program aimed at developing atomic power plants for "commercially competitive" merchant ships.

The Atomic Energy Commission and the Maritime Administration, which will conduct the project jointly, made the announcement.

The program will be an addition to the work now progressing on development and construction of the first nuclear-powered merchant ship, announced by President Eisenhower on Oct. 15.

A spokesman for the AEC told a reporter that while the atomic-powered vessel now under development will be a working merchant ship — designed to carry cargo and passengers — it will not be competitive from an economic standpoint with orthodox merchant vessels.

Britain Orders Defense Set Up For Atomic Age

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan tonight ordered a complete manpower and money overhaul of Britain's defense setup for the nuclear age.

He told Defense Minister Duncan Sandys to formulate a policy "in the light of present strategic needs" that would bring about a substantial slash in expenditures and manpower.

Move Announced In Commons

Sandys, son-in-law of Sir Winston Churchill and armed with new cabinet powers, also was told to prepare a plan to streamline the armed forces along lines emphasizing nuclear weapons.

Air Marshal Sir William Dickson, 58, direct descendant of the famed Lord Nelson, was named Sandys' chief of staff to carry out the program.

The prime minister announced the move in the House of Commons almost casually while answering questions about military service departments.

Sandys Coming To U. S.

Macmillan's action came, significantly, on the eve of Sandys' flight to Washington for talks with American leaders. He leaves tomorrow, accompanied by a top-flight nuclear team which includes Sir William Penney, the scientist who developed Britain's atomic and hydrogen bombs.

To fulfill her aim of remaining a leading military power as a partner of the United States, Britain must equip herself with new guided missiles and other nuclear age weapons during the next two years.

Britain looks to the United States for approval and help in its new program.

Disarmament Plans Head For Private Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Russia and the Western powers joined today in submitting a resolution that would avoid a showdown now on controversial disarmament proposals and refer them to private talks for early action.

Twelve countries sponsored the resolution for consideration in the 80-nation Political Committee of the General Assembly. A U. S. spokesman said it probably will be debated and voted on in the committee tomorrow.

The resolution would have the Assembly ask the Disarmament Commission to convene its five-nation subcommittee soon with instructions to make a progress report by Aug. 1.

The subcommittee consists of Britain, Canada, France, the Soviet Union and the United States. It would be asked to give prompt attention to the various proposals submitted to the United Nations on disarmament.

The resolution merely mentioned most such proposals by date and authorship. But it spelled out a pending Soviet proposal that the Assembly convene a special session on disarmament. It asked the Disarmament Commission to consider the advisability of recommending such a session or a general disarmament conference.

The draft also asked the subcommittee to give continued consideration to President Eisenhower's open skies aerial inspection plan and Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's control-post plan of 1955.

7 Killed In Crash Of Tanker Plane

ROME, N.Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—The wreckage of an Air Force tanker plane in which seven men died was spotted today in the Adirondack wilderness but heavy snow, the rugged terrain and finally darkness halted efforts of ground parties to reach the scene.

The KC97 crashed into the mountainside Tuesday night. It sheared off trees for approximately 400 feet before nosing into the snow. Both wings were torn off and parts of the plane were scattered 300 feet from the fuselage, which was partially burned.

L. J. Bessett of Syracuse, a civilian pilot who flew over the scene, said the tanker apparently hit a ridge and skidded down the opposite side of the mountain.

State police said that ground parties would start out again at dawn tomorrow and would attempt to reach the crash area over an old logging road that was spotted from the air. They plan to use caterpillar tractors and snowmobiles.

Ike To Visit Retreat

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower will drive tomorrow to Camp David, presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md. to spend the weekend.

Woman Hurt In 1915 Zeppelin Raid Dies

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP)—A 72-year-old London woman died today of injuries suffered in one of the world's first air raids — the Zeppelin raids of 1915.

Dr. Louis Steingold, a pathologist, said the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Cox was due to pulmonary embolism which originated in a leg injury suffered during the raid.

Masked, Silent Gunman Holds Up Baltimore Bank

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24 (AP) — A silent gunman, his features masked by a dirty handkerchief and sun glasses, held up a bank with startling speed today and fled with $4,570.

He struck about an hour before lunch. There were four persons transacting business and nine employes in the branch of the Fidelity Baltimore National Bank when the gunman vaulted a counter and landed among the startled tellers.

Waving the employes back to the wall with an automatic pistol, the gunman scooped money into a brown paper bag from cash drawers at four teller stations and from the top of the counter at the fifth. Then he jumped back over the counter and fled.

Not a word was spoken.

"He jumped over the counter and took what he wanted," said assistant manager Upshur Lowndes, "and then jumped back.

"He had a car double-parked outside in front of the bank, and we got the license number.

"He was in the bank about two minutes.

"I don't know who did it, but somebody hit the burglar alarm while he was behind the counter."

Police cars were converging on the bank, on broad Charles street at the northern edge of the downtown section, when the gunman drove away. But his escape was clean.

The getaway car was found abandoned three hours later about 16 blocks from the bank, near Memorial Stadium. The motor was still warm.

Panicky Rush Blocks Doors, Fire Escapes

31 Persons Hurt At New Haven, Conn.; Death Toll May Rise

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 24 (AP)—A dry and dusty factory loft building of 19th century vintage burst into flames today, setting off panic and horror among the women working inside.

Six hours after the blaze, officials puzzled over the death toll. Four bodies lay in the city morgue. Officials said there was a possibility some more could lay in the smouldering ruins. About 200 worked in the building.

Frank Looney, city welfare director, said the families of six persons who worked in the building had reported them missing.

Firemen said screaming women, some with their clothing and hair ablaze, bottled up at doors and fire escapes.

Two of the bodies clung in stark, black horror on a side fire escape where five women had jammed up in an excited rush for safety.

Two others were dead on arrival at hospitals.

They were among five women firemen had to pull from the fire escape where there was a jam-up because their legs caught between the iron steps as they raced hysterically for safety.

The two who perished were burned by flames licking from a door.

31 Persons Injured

Fireman James Curry, his face stricken with disbelief, said he was the first firefighter who went up the fire escape after the women.

"Their clothing was on fire and they were screaming," he said. "Their legs were caught between the steps of the fire escape and we had to pull them apart. I could hardly pull them apart."

Hospitals reported 31 persons injured, nine critically.

Four and a half hours after the fire broke out, the side wall of the four-story building collapsed. Fire officials said a search for other bodies in the building would be delayed until morning because the three other walls were weakened.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Jessie Mongillo, a 42-year-old mother of one child, Mrs. Angelina De Rienzo, 18, a bride of only three months, Miss Alma Bradley, 46, New Haven, and Miss Grace Pitman, 42, New Haven.

Five Firms In Building

Five firms occupied the building in the center of an outmoded tenement and factory loft section of the city's east side.

On the first floor three brothers operate a metal fabricating shop called the Stanley Co. Dress-making firms occupied the three other floors.

Walter Myjak, one of the owners of the metal shop, said the fire broke out about 3 p.m. He said he heard a rumbling in the building and opened the door to the elevator shaft.

"Red fire burst out at me," he said. He said he tried to call the fire department but the telephone was dead.

He said he ran upstairs and kicked one of the doors open to get people out.

On the fourth floor, he said, he saw women jammed at an emergency door which they couldn't get open. They pounded and pushed but none could remember in their panic that a lever had to be pulled down to release the lock.

Liz Taylor In Mexico For Divorce, Marriage

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 24 (AP)—British actor Michael Wilding said today that his estranged wife, Elizabeth Taylor, is in Acapulco for a Mexican divorce and marriage to producer Mike Todd.

Wilding said he is flying to Acapulco today to make an appearance in the divorce hearing and "expedite the proceedings."

Wilding's current girl friend is Marie McDonald, whose tale of kidnaping has been much headlined recently. Wilding said he had no immediate marriage plans himself.

Smoke Pours From Blazing Factory

Smoke billows from the front of an ancient factory building in New Haven, Conn., where at least four women died yesterday in a panicky rush to escape the flames. Screaming women, some with hair and clothing ablaze, jammed up at doors and fire escapes, firemen said. Thirty-one persons were injured. (AP Photofax)

Middle Income Families Priced Out Of Housing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The staff of the Senate Housing subcommittee reported today that middle-income families increasingly are being priced out of the housing market.

The report, released by Chairman Sparkman (D-Ala), said housing shortages exist in most of the nation's cities, with these groups especially hard hit: low-income families, middle-income families, families from minority groups, and elderly persons.

Mayors Cooperate

The study, made with the cooperation of the mayors of 131 cities, devoted much attention to the problem of middle-income families. The staff pointed out that the low-rent public housing program alleviates the problem for poorer families.

Middle-income families were defined as those with annual incomes ranging from $3,325 to $5,638, with a median of $4,422.

Using the rule of thumb that a family can afford a new home priced at two to two and one-half times its annual income, this means that the median family could buy a house costing $8,844 to $11,055, the report pointed out.

Further Increase Probable

But, it said, the median home price in the last three years has been above the $11,055 ceiling and has been rising sharply—$12,300 in 1954, $13,700 in 1955, and $14,500 in 1956. The report said that "a further increase appears probable in 1957."

Even allowing for wide geographical and urban-rural variations, it is obvious that many middle-income families could not afford new housing, the report said.

"The building industry itself is concerned with the question of whether it is pricing itself out of the market," the staff asserted.

Report Of Bomber Collision Checked

MIAMI, Jan. 24 (AP)—A spokesman said tonight that Homestead Air Force Base is investigating "an unconfirmed report" of a collision of two B47 stratojet bombers in flight over the Caribbean Sea south of Cuba.

Maj. Ralph W. Bryant, public information officer at the bomber base near Miami, said the report was that the six-jet intercontinental bombers from Homestead collided in a refueling training area.

B47s normally carry a crew of three.

The Coast Guard in Miami said the Cuban army and navy had been alerted and reportedly had dispatched a vessel to the scene.

Only last Jan. 15 the same type of B47 stratojet caught fire and crashed in a potato field at Homestead Air Force Base, killing all four of its occupants.

That was the jet bomber base's first major accident since its reactivation in November, 1955.

Saud To Address U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—King Saud of Saudi Arabia will address the U. N. General Assembly next Tuesday, an Arab spokesman said today.

Contempt Action Against Teamster Official Sought

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee voted unanimously today in favor of citing Frank W. Brewster, a vice president of the giant teamsters union, for contempt of Congress.

Brewster refused to testify before the subcommittee last Saturday and also refused to surrender union documents that had been subpoenaed. He contended the subcommittee was acting without authority in its investigation of alleged racketeering in labor unions.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said he intended to press charges against Brewster regardless of whether the Senate sets up a special committee to take over the labor probe—as it probably will.

No-Racket Code Adopted By IUE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP)—The International Union of Electrical Workers — IUE — today adopted a broad antiracketeering code, and recommended it as a model for other AFL-CIO unions to curb corruption.

James B. Carey, IUE president, told reporters the new code is the most comprehensive union self-policing program ever accepted in organized labor. He said it is up to the unions themselves, essentially, to clean out their ranks. But he welcomed help from Congress.

Carey, at the same time, criticized the AFL-CIO's largest union, the teamsters, and its president, Dave Beck, for what Carey said was teamsters' union failure to abide by ethical practices principles of the merged AFL-CIO's constitution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Gordon Gray, now an assistant secretary of defense, was reported today to have been picked as the new director of the Office of Defense Mobilization.

U.N. Diplomats Consider Next Mideast Step

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 24 (AP)—Leading U.N. diplomats worked today on a plan to give Dag Hammarskjold definite authority to deploy U.N. Emergency Forces between Israel and Egypt. Their aim is to prevent a renewal of conflict over the Gaza Strip and approaches to the Gulf of Aqaba.

These anxious diplomats were discussing this course and a variety of others as the deadline neared for Israel to withdraw drom the Gaza Strip and Sharm el Sheikh, on the Gulf of Aqaba, in response to five U.N. General Assembly requests.

Assembly Meets Monday

They were preparing for sessions of the Assembly set to begin Monday on the tense situation.

Israel has informed the U.N. secretary general she will pull her troops out of those critical points on condition that sufficient guarantees are given that they no longer will be a danger to her in any form.

Egypt has said nothing publicly here but there are rumblings of possible Egyptian action if Israel does not withdraw from Egyptian territory.

Israeli Premier Adamant

Hammarskjold has been trying to work out an arrangement for Israel's withdrawal but apparently has failed. Informed sources said he was greatly disturbed by the strong line taken yesterday by Israel's Premier David Ben-Gurion, who said in the Israeli Parliament that Israel would not withdraw without guarantees.

Oil, Gasoline Price Hikes To Be Probed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Senate Commerce Committee decided today to investigate recent increases in crude oil and gasoline prices.

Chairman Magnuson (D-Wash) said the committee also agreed at its organization session to continue a subcommittee which looked into automobile marketing practices last year.

British Doctor Ordered Tried On Murder Charge

EASTBOURNE, England, Jan. 24 (AP)—Dr. John Bodkin Adams, prosperous practitioner for 34 years in this well-to-do resort, was ordered today to stand trial on charges of murdering a rich patient with drugs.

He was taken to London's Brixton Prison, in a police car tonight. His case is expected to go trial in Old Bailey, the famous criminal court in London, in mid-February.

His huge hands trembling as he gripped the rail of the prisoner's dock, the 58-year-old physician stood up to face the five magistrates who had just decided after an 11-day hearing that he should be committed to trial before court and jury.

"Do you have anything to say?" asked Chief Magistrate David Honeysett, brass-voiced innkeeper.

"I'm not guilty," replied Adams, his voice breaking.

His face flushed, he murmured a polite "Good evening" as he descended the 13 steps from the courtroom.

"Goodby, doctor, goodby," shouted a group of women as he entered the police car. He waved to them.

Scotland Yard's ace, Supt. Herbert Duke Hannam, whose sleuthing resulted in the doctor's arrest Dec. 19, looked on, his face a mask. The detective charged that Dr. Adams, out of greed, enslaved wealthy Mrs. Edith Morrell, 81-year-old widow, with drugs and murdered her in 1950 with overdorses. She had willed the doctor an oaken chest filled with antique silver and her son handed over to the physician her Rolls-Royce automobile.

House Group OKs Mideast Plan, 24 To 2

Resolution Sent To Floor Without Any Major Change.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee tonight approved without major change President Eisenhower's program to cope with Communist inroads in the Middle East.

The committee action, by a 24-2 vote and one "present," sent the Eisenhower Middle East resolution to the House floor for debate slated to start Tuesday.

In so doing, the committee okayed the presidential request for authority to channel more foreign aid funds to the Mideast and to use armed forces there if necessary to halt any Communist aggression.

Chairman Gordon (D-Ill) expressed confidence the measure will pass the House by a wide margin. He did not disclose who of the 32-man committee voted against the resolution.

The action came despite some hot Democratic criticism of the way the Eisenhower administration had handled the Middle East crises.

Truman Hits Administration

Former President Harry S. Truman said today the administration's policy is "so indefinite and incomplete" that Congress should "help to fill the void" in passing the new Middle East program.

In a statement to the House committee, Truman said he would give Eisenhower the military-economic aid authority he wants, although he said the administration "has revealed it actually has n definite plan of action in the Middle East."

On the Senate side, Democratic legislators opened vehement attacks on Secretary of State Dulles. One of them, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark) said Dulles' actions had proved "disastrous" to this country's allies. Fulbright demanded Dulles furnish Congress with a "white paper" giving detailed explanations of this actions concerning the Middle East.

Some Strings On Aid

The principal change the House committee made in the resolution would place some strings on the disputed section providing for 200 million dollars in economic aid. But this change was okayed by Secretary Dulles himself to meet some congressional objections.

The House group also provided that the resolution may be terminated by a majority vote of the two Houses of Congress.

A State Department spokesman said that as far as the committee changes are concerned, "the executive branch doesn't object to any of them."

The committee action represented a big, initial victory for the Eisenhower resolution on its road through Congress. Both Senate and House have yet to act on it.

Youth Quizzed In Girls' Deaths

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (AP)—A Tennesseean with an Elvis Presley-type haircut told police today he went night spot gadding with two girls the night of Dec. 28 but denied they were the Grimes sisters.

Sheriff Joseph Lohman said four other persons have contended that the then-missing Grimes girls were the companions of the man, Bennie Bedwill, 21-year-old drill press operator and part-time dishwasher.

Bedwell, who comes from Paris, Tenn., said one of his girl companions that night was named Carol, but that he didn't know the name of the other. He said the girls left him in the lobby of a W. Madison St. movie the afternoon of Saturday, Dec. 29 and that he hasn't seen them since.

The nude bodies of the Grimes girls, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, were found Tuesday near a ditch southwest of Chicago. They disappeared Dec. 28 after attending an Elvis Presley movie near their South Side home. They had seen the same picture several times before.

An autopsy yesterday did not determine the cause of death. However, examining physicians said they had ruled out sexual assault, strangulation, carbon monoxide poisoning or external violence as a cause of death.

'High Pressure' Charged At Auto License Hearing

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 24 (AP)—Charges of "high pressure salesmanship" were leveled at the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co today at a House hearing on a bill to require reflectorized license tags in Maryland.

Henry Barnes, traffic director for Baltimore City, told the House Judiciary Committee he was "utterly opposed to any bill which would require purchases from only one company" as the auto tag bill reportedly would do for the Minnesota concern.

"Frankly, I resent high-pressure salesmanship," Barnes said. "I resent having to get out of bed at 11 at night to receive a special delivery letter advertising this product."

Barnes had written the committee Jan. 17 endorsing the reflectorized license plate bill, one in a series of measures aimed at promoting traffic safety. But he suggested it be changed to require the plates be made of reflectorized material now used in signs.

Today he told Chairman Simpkins (D-Somerset) he thought the bill should be held in committee until it can be studied further.

"We too have been subjected to considerable pressure on this bill until we too have become suspicious," Barnes said. He said he doubted it would do as much for safety as purported.

Simpkins called on Julius S. Bosse of Pikesville, legislative agent for the Minnesota firm, to reply to the charges.

Bosse did not deny that his firm may have sent the unsigned letter but said it was not true his company, was the only one which could produce plates under the bill's specifications. He said at least two other firms could bid on providing material for the plates if the measure were passed. He named them as Grote Manufacturing Co. in Kentucky and the makers of Plexiglas.

"We've been accused of a lot of things here and I'm very, very sorry anybody has taken his eye off the ball (the need for such license plates)," Bosse said. "This Legislature should be concerned only with whether we are or are not going to have reflectorized plates."

He also denied that his firm had anything to do with preparing the bill, which requires that plates be visible from a distance of 1500 feet.

The hearing had begun with the showing of a movie by the Minnesota firm of how the reflectorized plates operate and quoting endorsements from officials of states where they are in use.

The movie pointed out that two-thirds of the nation's fatal accidents occur after dark and contended that the plates, "200 times as brilliant as white plates, returning 200 times as much light" would cut down rearend collisions.

Backers of the bill included Paul E. Burke, director of the Maryland traffic safety commission, representatives of state law enforcement and firemen groups, and the American Legion and Knights of Pythias.

Death Claims Man Weighing 600 Pounds

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 24 (AP)—An oversize coffin and an extra wide grave were ordered today to accommodate 45-year-old Bill (Jumbo) Kennedy, who weighed 600 pounds when he died last night.

In the early 1930s when he weighed 375, he played tackle for the University of San Francisco football team. In 1936 he took up wrestling when he weighed 400 pounds and stayed with it until he passed 475.

"But he'd never stop eating," said wrestling promoter Joe Malcewicz. "Maybe he'd eat a couple pies at a time, half a dozen potatoes, steaks—whatever he could get his hands on. Then he'd go home and eat some more. His mother used to padlock the ice box but he'd break the padlock open."

Three Wanted For Baltimore Holdup Seized

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 24 (AP) — Two former convicts and a young blonde wanted for a $12,900 bank robbery in Baltimore, Md., were arrested at an apartment here early today.

Later, at a well-guarded hearing, they refused to sign papers which would sent them back to Maryland.

Nabbed by FBI agents and police in a raid were Louis R. Arquilla, 26, a Massachusetts parolee who has been accused in numerous robberies; Martin Francis Feeney, 21, described by the FBI as a notorious bank robber and escape artist, and Dorothy Frances Barchard, 19, whose husband is in Alcatraz Penitentiary for armed robbery. All are from Boston.

Cal Howard, special FBI agent in charge, said the men had been considered two of the most dangerous criminals in the nation.

The hearing was held in a small consultation room in the jail. A dozen armed jailers stood by as the prisoners were brought separately before U. S. Commissioner C. O. Lundquist.

The three waived preliminary hearing but declined to sign waivers of removal. Lundquist said a removal hearing will be held shortly before a federal judge. He set bail at $25,000 each for Feeney and Arquilla and $20,000 for Mrs. Barchard.

Lundquist said the woman told him she loves Arquilla and plans to marry him after she is divorced from her present husband, Richard B. Barchard.

Feeney, Arquilla and Mrs. Barchard are charged with the holdup of the Fidelity Baltimore National Bank and Trust Co., Freedom branch, last Nov. 26.

Oil Lift Swings Into High Gear

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The oil lift from the Americas to Europe is delivering 1,187,000 barrels a day, nearly double the normal amount, the Socony Mobil Oil Co., Inc., said today.

President Albert L. Nickerson reported that American oil firms have achieved "probably the largest and most rapid shift in the distribution of any commodity ever achieved in peacetime."

The company made available a report by Nickerson to the managements of all the Mobil companies here and abroad. It said 75 per cent of Europe's normal needs are being met during this January-March quarter.

Nickerson said that "within minutes after the Suez Canal was closed, radio messages went out to tankers at sea, new routing schedules were initiated, and the huge job of shifting the source of a large part of Europe's oil from the Middle East to the Americas got under way."

Burnt Matches Trap Negro In Murder Case

SNOW HILL, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)—State's Atty. Daniel E. Prettyman said today that Richard Sneed has admitted murdering and robbing a 56-year-old Worcester County salesman.

Prettyman said Sneed, 29, Negro, of near Bishopville, was trapped by his trademark—burnt matches.

The state's attorney said burnt matches—the kind that come in a penny box—were scattered around the stolen truck of the dead man, William W. Floyd, who also lived near Bishopville.

When Sneed was convicted of stealing a supply of soybeans several years ago, the same habit of scattering burnt matches helped trip him up.

Floyd was found dead in his yard last Monday, his head beaten in and his smashed rifle beside him. His pockets were turned inside out. His employer said he probably had from $600 to $1,000 on him at the time. The coroner said he had been dead about a week.

Prettyman said Sneed had gone to Floyd's home last Jan. 11 to sell him some feedbags. Floyd refused to buy them, he said, and a fight started.

Prettyman said this happened: Sneed used Floyd's gun to hit the salesman on the head, breaking the rifle. Then Sneed robbed him.

Sneed returned five days later—on Jan. 16—and took Floyd's pickup truck. It was found about seven miles away, near where the stolen soybeans were hidden on Sneed's previous conviction.

Around the truck were scattered the burnt matches. Officials remembered Sneed's trademark and sent a pickup out on him.

Sneed was arrested by Delaware state police last Tuesday at a filling station near Frankford, Del. He returned voluntarily to Berlin for questioning.

The prisoner was transferred today for confinement. Prettyman said he was being charged with murder and robbery.

Coal Mine Accident Deaths Show Rise

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Bureau of Mines today reported 444 men were killed in coal mine accidents during 1956, or 27 more than in 1955.

However, the bureau said the fatality rate per million tons of coal produced was the same in both years, at 0.84.

The fatality rate per million man hours work was 1.08 in 1956, compared with 1.04 in 1955.

It was estimated that coal production during 1956 was 528,600,000 tons, an increase of 32,400,000 tons over 1955.

There was an increase of 30 million tons of bituminous production and 2,400,000 tons of anthracite.

Dean Of U. of Md. Home Economics College Succumbs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Miss Marie Mount, dean of the College of Home Economics at the University of Maryland since 1925, died yesterday in Garfield Hospital after an illness of several months.

The name of Dean Mount, a native of Crawfordsville, Ind., was synonomous with the growth of home economics at Maryland. She joined the university staff in 1919 as head of the Department of Home and Institution Management, shortly after Maryland became co-educational.

She attended Vassar College, received her bachelor of arts degree from Indiana University, attended the University of Chicago, and received her master's degree from Teachers College, Columbia University. She was a member of numerous educational and professional organizations.

Architectural Firm Gets B. Of S. Contract

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Voorhees, Walker, Smith and Smith, a New York architectural firm, today was awarded a contract to provide preliminary architectural and engineering studies for the Bureau of Standards new headquarters near Gaithersburg, Md.

A General Services Administration (GSA) spokesman said an $80,000 fee would be paid for the preliminary studies, which are to be completed by March 15.

The GSA announcement said this would enable the agency to recommend a limit of cost for the project, which has previously been referred to as a 40-million-dollar program.

Morgantown Area Burglaries Solved

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 24 (AP)—City police said today a 22-year-old plant worker had admitted committing four burglaries in the Morgantown area.

Acting Police Chief John Lewis identified the suspect as Edgar A. Richmond, who was arrested near a Sabraton market which was robbed of $1,062 cash last Dec. 26.

Lewis said the man had admitted the market robbery and also admitted the burglary of three filling stations earlier last fall.

Wrong-Way Seaman

COPENHAGEN (AP)—A Spanish seaman stowed away aboard the Danish Oluf Sven in Montevideo believing it was sailing for the United States. At sea he found it was bound for nearly a year with the British antaractic expedition. A report here says he has agreed to work away his wrong-way passage.

Aluminum was discovered as a separate metal in 1824.

GOP Registers Upset Victory In Baltimore Co.

TOWSON, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)—Less than 30 per cent of the voters in Baltimore County yesterday voted into office the first Republican county government in 50 years.

The result was considered a definite upset, especially in view of the light turnout. Most observers predicted a Democratic walkaway if the turnout was small.

Even so, the Democrats still have a fairly secure hold on the new government's functions.

The Republicans emerged with a 4-3 lead in the new seven-man council which takes office next Monday, replacing its present system of a board of county commissioners.

But the executive officer of the council will be Michael J. Birmingham, outgoing president of the commissioners and Democratic strongman in the county. He can veto council decisions, and the council has to have five votes to override his veto.

Birmingham will serve in the executive post until November, 1958, when a new council and new executive officer will be elected.

The council system of government goes into effect under the new charter form of government adtoped by the county.

The county is divided into seven districts, with one councilman to each district. However, in yesterday's balloting, all voters selected seven names from all the 30 candidates throughout the county. In other words, they voted for councilmen from all seven districts.

On the basis of nearly complete unofficial returns—153 of 155 polling places reported—the winners were:

First district, John K. Davis, Republican; second, W. C. Coleman, Republican; third, Gordon G. Power, Republican; fourth, J. C. Darrell, Democrat; fifth, John Lassahn, Republican; sixth, Joseph L. Schield, Democrat, and seventh, James M. Barry, Democrat.

Big Whisky Theft

LAUREL, Md., Jan. 24 (AP)—A liquor store was broken into last night by burglars who carried off 10 cases of whisky, $70 and a portable radio.

Earl Long, liquor store owner, said a door was battered down despite iron bars protecting it.

Guard To Get Rocket Storage Building

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 24 (AP)—A rocket storage building will be built at Municipal Airport for use of the Air National Guard's 167th Fighter-Interceptor Squadron.

Lt. Col. Joseph Crane, commanding officer, said the building of reinforced concrete would cost $50,000 to $100,000, depending upon a final decision on exact size. He said a contract would be let soon.

.. three to four million dollar expansion program, financed by the federal government, is under way at the airport. It includes lengthening of the east-west runway so jet planes may use the field and construction of Air National Guard quarters.

The 167th moved here last year from Charleston.

Dalai Lama Has Spending Spree

CALCUTTA, India, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Dalai Lama of Tibet went on a spending-movie-horse race tour here en route to his Red-ruled Himalayan homeland this week.

The Panchen Lama, a lesser spiritual leader of Tibet, helped him spend the money on their brief stay here.

An aide of the Dalai Lama withdrew nearly 38,000 pounds — $106,400 — from the Calcutta branch of the Communist-run Bank of China for "incidental expenses."

This included $2,800 for two gold wrist watches; bets placed by members of their entourage of up to $168 each on several horses in the same race at the race track; and purchases from a parade of hucksters who barged into the Grand Hotel where the Indian government lodged the two lamas.

The movie the Dalai Lama saw was "The Lieutenant Wore Skirts," a Hollywood opus starring Sheree North and Tom Ewell. Those who watched him said the young Lama was at times helpless with laughter.

Soroptimists To Have Installation June 7

The Soroptimist Club of Cumberland formulated plans for installation of officers and had a panel discussion of the Jean Bennett award at the meeting held Wednesday evening at the Central YMCA. Miss Olice Hurlburt presided.

Installation of officers will be held jointly with the Keyser and Tri-Towns Soroptimists Clubs on June 7 at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

Mrs. Alice DeHaven was appointed Publicity chairman replacing Mrs. Mildred Young, who resigned. Mrs. Clara Dougherty, owner and manager of the Dougherty Mimeographic Service, was received as a new member. A report was made of a donation of a $50 donation for the "loan closet" equipment which will be distributed by the American Cancer Society.

An invitation was received from the Soroptimist International Club of Baltimore, to hear Mme. Meherangiz Munsiss at a dinner meeting February 25 at the Hotel Stafford, beginning at 6:30. Mme. Minsiss, wife of the second secretary of the Indian Embassy in Washington, is a lecturer, world traveler, mother and diplomat. Any member wishing to attend is asked to make reservations with Mrs. Hurlburt.

In the panel discussion on the Jean Bennett award, it was brought out that the award is given every second year by the South Atlantic Region of the Soroptimists. It is given to women for doing most for their club, and is based on attendance, membership, service to the community and international relations. Credit also is given for visiting other Soroptimist clubs. Members of the panel were Miss Jeanette Bonig, Mrs. Helen Johnson, Mrs. Ella Everstine, Mrs. Blanche Ridgeway and Mrs. Faye Stillwagon. In community service, it was decided to continue work for the Red Cross and March of Dimes, and plans were formulated to visit Sylvan Retreat to read to, entertain and be of service to the patients.

Announcement was made of the board of directors meeting to be held at the Y, February 6 at 7:30; and the regular meeting at noon February 12 at Sheehe's Restaurant. Approximately 14 members attended.

Spring Gap Club Elects

Chairmen and officers of the Spring Gap Homemakers Club were elected at the annual covered dish luncheon.

Mrs. John W. Wheeler was elected president; Mrs. Cyrus Lewis, vice president; Mrs. Walter Taschenberger, secretary; Mrs. Lynn Bishop, treasurer.

The chairmen are Mrs. Pearl Twigg, Clothing; Mrs. Joseph Steger, Food and Nutrition; Mrs. John W. Davis, Health, Safety, Civil Defense and parliamentarian; Mrs. Gilbert Miller, Home and Yard Beautification; Mrs. William Taschenberger, Art; Mrs. Walter Taschenberger, Fair, Exhibits, Publicity; Mrs. Pearl Twigg, International Relations; Mrs. William McKenzie, Reading, Recreation and Nature; Mrs. Lynn Bishop, 4-H Representative; Mrs. Russell Shipe, Home Management; Mrs. Ralph Boyd, Radio; Miss Alma Taschenberger, Rural Women's Short Course; Mrs. Foster Smith, Home Furnishings; Mrs. James Jones, Family Life; Mrs. Cyrus Lewis, Music; Mrs. Norman Twigg, Citizenship; Mrs. Steger, Blue Cross.

Mrs. Wheeler presided at the meeting, which opened with the singing of "Lead On O King Eternal." Roll call was answered with how insurance has helped, with everyone agreeing it had. Routine reports were given. A letter was read from the Maryland Traffic Safety commission and the club favored the revised motor laws. Concluding the meeting the group sang, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginny."

Next month each member is to bring a Valentine. Miss Mary Wise will attend and talk on "Simplifying Work."

Hostesses were Mrs. William McKenzie, Miss Taschenberger and Mrs. Walter Taschenberger. Fourteen members and three visitors, Mrs. Emma Fleegle, Mrs. Mary Parks and Mrs. George McGregor attended.

State Group Recognizes Three Local Beauticians

Three members of the Allegany County Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association were installed in the Maryland State Hairdressers Association held Sunday at the quarterly meeting at Hotel Stafford, Baltimore.

Mrs. Leona Bayline conducted the business session and Mrs. Virginia Sunderlin Nave, Mrs. Angelo DeToto and Spencer Kelly gave reports. Mrs. Inez McGeoch, parliamentarian, conducted installation.

Installed for one year were Mrs. Bayline, Baltimore, president; Mrs. Edna Johnson, Silver Spring, executive vice president; Mrs. Nave, RD 3, Bedford, recording secretary; Mrs. DeToto, Baltimore, corresponding secretary; Mr. Kelly, Baltimore, treasurer; Miss Edith Crabtree, Cumberland, historian; Mrs. Dorcas Brown, Silver Spring, sergeant at arms.

Committee chairmen appointed are Ray Shipley, Baltimore, Legislative; Mrs. Brown, Educational; Mrs. Johnson, Membership; Miss Virginia Baynard, Easton, Finance; Don Gleason, Silver Spring, Public Relations; Mr. Kelly, Regional; and John Taylor, Keyser, W. Va., Styles Body director.

Mrs. Johnson, National Beauty Salon Week chairman, announced the week will be observed between February 10 to 17 throughout the nation.

The next state meeting will be held March 24 in Havre de Grace.

Attending from this area were Mrs. Catherine Welton, Mrs. Nave, Ralph Smith and John Taylor.

A swab, such as is used in the nursery, can be very helpful to clean the almost inaccessible parts of an automatic can opener or the clogged gas holes on the range.

Nicaragua is the largest of the Central or Middle America states.

Omicron Chapter Plans Party, Show

A general discussion on ways and means and tentative plans for some type of show in conjunction with the card party in the early spring were made at the meeting of the Omicron Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, held earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Betty Taylor, Piedmont Avenue.

Mrs. Charlotte Northcraft presided and routine reports were given. Mrs. Martha VanHorn reported that the City Council of BSP dinner is being held January 29 at 7 p. m. in the Fort Cumberland Hotel. Mrs. VanHorn and Mrs. Northcraft were appointed to work on the Ritual of Jewels Dance committee. The ceremony and dance will be held May 3 at Clary Club.

Every day cards and writing paper are for sale, Mrs. Betty Taylor, Ways and Means chairman announced. The group also discussed having a kitchen ware party, and it was decided to postpone it until after the card party.

A curtural program was conducted by Mrs. Alpha Barb. Her topic was "Giving and Receiving Friendship." Concluding the meeting refreshments were served. The next meeting will be February 5 at the home of Mrs. Helen Arthur, 616 Brookfield Avenue.

Others present were Mrs. Arthur, Miss Ruth Barry, Miss Dolores Chase, Miss Patricia Goldeen, Mrs. LaVerne Hankin, Mrs. Mary Harrison, Miss Helen Mae Kreiling, Miss LeAnnah Matthews, Miss Shirley Sandsbury, Mrs. Estalene Shanholtzer, Miss Margaret Smith, Miss Patricia Emerick and Mrs. Eva Sliviak.

Heads Shrine Club

The Ladies Shrine Club elected Mrs. John R. Earsom president at the meeting Tuesday evening at the temple. Other officers are Mrs. Morton Evans, vice president; Miss Margaret Flurshutz, secretary, and Mrs. Leilah Thom, treasurer.

On behalf of the club Mrs. James Orr presented a gift to Mrs. Homer Carlton, who presented the gavel to Mrs. Earsom. The executive committee includes Mrs. Carlton, Mrs. Jessie Wiebel and Mrs. Gladys Shafferman.

Cards concluded the evening, with prizes won by Mrs. Lyndon Gump, Mrs. Dorothy Tase in bridge; Mrs. Bertha Beall, Mrs. Loren Elliott, 500; Mrs. Edith Shillingburg, Mrs. Alice Beightol, dominoes; Mrs. Arthur Apsey, Mrs. James Duff, canasta, and Mrs. Elda Schell, the special award.

Chairman Sponsors Polio Dance

Approximately $15 was raised at the "March of Dimes Dance" held Tuesday evening at Clarysville Firemen's Hall under the sponsorship of Mrs. Margaret Lewis, Eckhart and Clarysville March of Dimes chairman. The entire proceeds will be given to the polio drive, Mrs. Lewis said last night.

A floor show featured the entertainment. It included a piano solo by Linda Brode, "Shadows on the Roses"; John H. Watkinson sang, "Carolina in the Morning"; David Fatkin did a tap dance, accompanied by Linda Brode at the piano, and DeSales Barry played a clarinet solo, "Clarinet Polka."

Dancing was to music by the Coronet Orchestra.

The Order of Rainbow for Girls will hold public installation tomorrow evening at 8 at the temple. The regular meeting will begin at 7. All Rainbow girls are to wear formals.

The Empire State Building was completed on May 1, 1931 on the site of the original Waldorf-Astoria hotel. It has 75 elevators and can house 25,000 tenants.

Md. GOP Women To Meet

Mrs. James Orr, president of the Republican Women's Club of Cumberland, will speak on "What the Republican Women Can Do to Further the Republican Party in Cumberland," at the meeting of the board of directors of the Federation of Republican Women of Maryland.

The meeting is being held January 29 at 11 a. m. at the Stafford Hotel, Baltimore. The Executive committee will meet at 10. Mrs. Vaughn Richardson, Salisbury, will preside at both. Luncheon will be served at 1.

At the meeting of the Cumberland club February 14 at Central YMCA, Mrs. Orr will report on the state meeting, and following the business session a benefit card party is to be held. Mrs. Ray Messmer and Mrs. Earl Grim are chairmen of arrangements.

Fellowship Elects

Mrs. Helen Staples was elected president of the Wesleyan Fellowship of Emmanuel Methodist Church at the meeting held at the church. Clarence Thompson was named vice president; Mrs. Heler Combs, secretary and Mrs. Catherine Crawford, treasurer.

Following the meeting a surprise shower was held for Mrs. Mary Jane Conway. The next meeting will be February 14 at 7:30 at the church.

Richard F. Cody, 403 Washington Street, is visiting his brother, James L. Cody, Laurel, Miss.

Elks To Hold March Of Dimes Dance

The annual March of Dimes dance of the Elks Club will be held Saturday evening at the club with Peck Mills Orchestra playing and entertainment featuring Billy Boyer, accordionist. Dancing will begin at 9:30.

An open house will be observed in conjunction with the dance. Clifton Hafer and the Social Sessions committee are in charge of reservations and arrangements.

Adelphia Bible Class of First Christian Church will meet at 7:30 tonight at the home of Mrs. Alice May, Braddock Farms, La-Vale.

Mrs. Ryan Heads Group

A donation of $300 was made to the truck fund, and officers were selected by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Ellerslie Fire Company.

Mrs. Hazel Ryan was elected president; Mrs. Ilive Shroyer, Mrs. Elsie Null, vice presidents; Mrs. Phyllis Cook, financial treasurer; Mrs. Flo Griffey, chaplain and Mrs. Myrtle Zimmerman, auditor.

Bedford Road Firemen and Auxiliary will hold a dance tomorrow evening at the fire hall from 9 until 12.

Hungary Fights On, Unconquered, Three Months After Start Of Revolt

Editor's Note—The Hungarian revolution broke out three months ago Wednesday. Endre Marton of The Associated Press is the only non-Communist reporter who saw it start and then followed it hour by hour through the ensuing 12 weeks. Now, facing the possibility of arrest, he has left Hungary. At the AP bureau in Vienna he is putting into focus the things the revolution has meant for his native land, and to think about its future.

By ENDRE MARTON

VIENNA, Jan. 24 (AP)—The Hungarian revolution is still going on, even though the guns are silent except for an occasional burst. Hungary fights on, unconquered.

The last three months have seen the spiritual rebirth of a people long debased and humiliated by the terror of totalitarian dictatorship. They will continue resisting.

In the two weeks or so after Oct. 23 a couple of thousand desperate Hungarian freedom fighters destroyed some 360 Russian tanks and killed a few thousand Russian soldiers.

They achieved something more. They shook to its foundation the efficient terror system international communism uses in ruling 800 million persons. The Hungarian freedom fighters disillusioned thousands of Western Communists. They opened the eyes of many people in Asia's "uncommitted countries" who had been beguiled by communism's soft talk.

The Hungarian armed revolution was crushed in two weeks by nearly 5,000 Russian tanks and more than 200,000 Russian soldiers. It was crushed with the modern armor of a great power. But neither terror nor tanks have been able to conquer this revolution.

It keeps on, with different and less spectacular methods, even though hope has vanished for active help from the outside. It is continued by a desperate and valiant people who were humiliated for almost 13 years by German Nazis and Russian Communists, and the Hungarian stooges of both.

The revolution had three phases between Oct. 23 and, roughly, the end of 1956.

The first was that period of the victorious, jubilant revolution that started with peaceful demonstrations and then roared through the streets of Budapest to tear down Stalin's statue. It reached its peak when Imre Nagy set up his coalition government, and when Hungary's 800,000-member Communist party and its 60,000 member secret police force virtually disintegrated.

The second phase brought Russian revenge. It started at dawn Nov. 4, when the Soviet army launched a lethal attack on Budapest. It ended after six days and nights of war in the capital's streets, when all armed resistance had been broken.

Then came a period of passive resistance. This started immediately after Nov. 10 and was broken only around the end of the year. In a subtle and modified form, this continues, especially among the intellectuals.

Now the revolution is in its fourth phase and all signs indicate this will be a long one.

This fourth phase is difficult to describe, especially for people who have never lived under totalitarian occupation.

It is relatively easy to report riots, street fightings, strikes and workers' demonstrations.

Now that these dramatic things have largely ended, there remain the 10 million Magyars, united as never before in their thousand years of history, in one massive hatred against the Russian and communism.

It is a peril that international communism must reckon with.

The hard fact is that resistance, both active and passive, is continuing in Hungary despite all efforts of the Russian-imposed regime of Premier Janos Kadar. The Kadar tactics range from friendly persuasion to naked terror.

A high-ranking official admitted recently to this correspondent that there are still firearms "in considerable quantity" in the hands of the population. Some of them are being used by diehard rebels.

The open strikes of factory workers and miners, dramatizing passive resistance against Kadar, have largely ended. But a subtler slowdown of factory hands and coal miners continues. Tens of thousands of workers do no more work than they have to. The economy is virtually bankrupt.

On one front the passive resistance is almost unbroken. The three groups that prepared the way for the October revolution continue to snub the government's overtures and refuse to cooperate. They are the writers, journalists and students. And this despite the fact that secret police have arrested leaders of all these groups and ordered their organizations dissolved.

The situation is far less clear on the agricultural front. Peasants in Hungary have no organizations, live scattered in small communities, and so can't get together in time of an open revolt. But this dispersal gives them an advantage in resisting cold terror.

What is the "secret" that led this nation to find its real self again? What inspired revolt in a nation whose backbone was believed to have been broken long ago in subservience to German and Russian occupiers? What gives them strength to fight on, when even the greatest optimists and the most naive realize that the Hungarians must wage their battle single-handed and can count on nothing but sympathy from the West?

The Hungarian people rebelled because they could no longer stand terror, communism, humiliation and exploitation. The overwhelming majority appeared convinced that once they took up arms the West would come to their aid.

This belief stemmed from Hungarian language broadcasts by Western radio stations. This correspondent personally believes the Voice of America, the British Broadcasting Corp. and Radio Free Europe did not intend to "incite" Hungarians to revolt.

But the hard fact is that the man in the street in Budapest listened to these radio stations as if they were oracles. He simply could not believe, during those days of October-November fighting, that active Western military help would not follow the broadcast words.

It is just as hard to explain the fantastic fact that Hungarian resistance continues, though everybody knows that Kadar has instructions from the Kremlin to crush all remnants of this so-called "counter-revolution" with all the tricks of police terror that the Communist arsenal affords.

W.Va. Road Program Outlined By SRC

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 24 (AP)—The State Road Commission outlined for Gov. Underwood and the Legislature yesterday a $63,601,120 program for the 1957 calendar year, $39,200,920 of it in the federal aid category.

Commissioner Burl A. Sawyers said the total would compare with $54,000,000 in 1956. The 1957 program will include $54,201,120 for primary roads, against $38,500,000 in 1956; and $9,400,000 for secondary, down from last year's $15,500,000.

Of the federal money, $18,419,937 has been programmed largely from the new interstate program in which the U.S. government will provide $9 to each $1 provided by the State. The other $8,418,550 will be in regular federal aid, matched on a 50-50 basis.

The reduction in the 1957 secondary road program, Sawyers explained, will result in added demands made on the primary road fund in matching money for the federal interstate highway projects on West Virginia portions of U.S. 11, U. S. 40 and U.S. 60.

Beer Lesser "Evil"

OTTAWA, Jan. 24 (AP) — Frank Carmichael, member of the Northwest Territories Council, thinks Northern Indians and Eskimos should be allowed to buy beer to save them from their home brew.

He summed up his opposition to the law barring beer sales to Indians this way: "They make home brew out of anything that will ferment — corn meal, sugar, raisins, prunes. Beans are in favor now because they're cheap, but it's horrible stuff."

How to make

with the most versatile mix of them all!

Make 20 hot dogs for a crowd. (Or use half of dough to make a tea ring or barbecue buns.)

Follow Ann Pillsbury's easy directions for Basic or Onion Dough. (You'll find those directions in every package of Pillsbury Hot Roll Mix.) Mix and let rise.

Roll out risen dough on floured board to 12" x 15" rectangle. Divide 12" side in half. Cut crosswise to make 20 strips, 6" x 1½".

Stretching dough slightly, wind each strip 3 times around frankfurter, leaving tips of frank exposed. Place on greased baking sheet with ends of dough underneath. Brush with melted butter. Bake at 400° F. 15 to 18 minutes. Serve piping hot.

(Precooked link sausages may be substituted for franks, if you prefer.)

Make this exciting new dish soon with Pillsbury Hot Roll Mix, the most versatile mix of them all. It's the only mix with 25 recipe ideas in every package.

Baltimore Striptease Ban Suggestions Assailed

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24 (AP)—Jerry Green of Baltimore says Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron is just barking up the wrong knee.

The trouble with the commissioner, Green told a newsman, is that he doesn't understand art—nor the problems of the working girl.

All this is by way of reply to Hepbron's proposal to outlaw the striptease. Green happens to be branch manager of the American Guild of Variety Artists, with about 400 members in the branch.

Green said the guild's girls are law-abiding citizens who wouldn't think of giving an indecent performance.

"The guild won't sanction anything that's not within the law," he added. "We're certainly not looking for any of this kind of show people in our union."

Green also said his girls, which comprise 80 to 90 per cent of the guild membership, are not strip teasers. "They're exotics," he said, explaining that a star exotic is little different from a prima ballerina.

The guild would take immediate disciplinary action of its own, Green said, if a member was found dancing in an immodest fashion. They're just not that kind of girls, he said primly.

Thomas Jefferson, the third President of the United States, smuggled the first rice seed from Italy to South Carolina and thus initiated the south's rice growing industry.

POLICE WIVES PICKET CITY HALL—Wives of 40 St. Louis policemen picket City Hall in a demonstration yesterday demanding prompt action on a Police Board request for a 10 per cent pay increase for policemen. The women, members of the Police Wives' Association, marched back and forth bearing placards while their leaders conferred with city officials in City Hall, shown in background. (AP Photofax)

'National Polio Mother Of Year' Symbol Of Hope To Entire Nation, Citation Says

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—The kids and their father beamed with pride yesterday at the woman of the household.

She is pert and pretty Mrs. Rosemary Phillips of Los Gatos, Calif., honored nationally for her plucky fight to restore herself and her family from the blows of infantile paralysis.

Named "National Polio Mother of the Year," vivacious red-haired Mrs. Phillips, 33, was praised at a luncheon — in speeches and on inscribed certificates — for her "courage, inspiration and faith."

"A symbol of hope to the entire nation," said the citation from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Her husband, David, 34, and their three good-looking youngsters, all three victors over paralyzing polio, sat through the formalities at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, grinning and pleased.

"It was fine," brown-haired little Lani Sue, 7, told a reporter afterward.

"It was pretty nice," said 9-year-old Tommy, a freckled blond.

"The doctors told mother she'd never get out of the iron lung," said red-haired Eugene, 14. "But she said to heck with them, go hop a freight, and she went right ahead and did it anyway."

Said the husband, a United Air Lines pilot: "All I want to say about Rosemary and what she has done is that I'm very proud of that girl."

Mrs. Phillips was chosen from among 56 state and city polio mothers of the year as the outstanding example of will power and fortitude against the tragedy of a whole family struck by the disease.

"It took that thing which seems to be lacking so much these days —" courage — for her to keep going, to rehabilitate their whole family," said Basil O'Connor, president of the foundation.

It happened back in 1951, when Mrs. Phillips was completely paralyzed, arms and legs, and put in an iron lung. The three children then became victims, all paralyzed to varying extents.

Their recovery has been a five-year ordeal, and they all still work at their daily exercises, as a sort of a family ritual, but to see them get around now—the bloom on their cheeks and bounce in their limbs — you'd hardly know it.

Mrs. Phillips' arms still are partially paralyzed, but she manages to feed herself with a special device her husband made for her. She even gives piano lessons and she walks without a cane or hint of a limp.

She still uses a wheelchair in the day-long job of running her household, doing the tasks of any good wife and mother, even growing a garden.

"Our family has always been very close," she said. "But this experience has brought us even closer."

You find, she said, that "the regular and ordinary way of doing things can be changed, and life can still be as good as ever."

Teacher Mistaken

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 24 (AP)—A class of 37 normal school students complained they flunked a math test because they never got to finish it. Class was dismissed 20 minutes too soon. Officials investigated and ordered new tests. The teacher heard a telephone ring and thought it was the class bell.

Cocktails originated in New Orleans.

Baltimoreans Urged To Buy Transit System

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24 (AP)—Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro yesterday said local people should buy the Baltimore transit system and warned that if they do not soon he will go to the Legislature for help.

"If this is not done," the mayor said, "then I can see no other solution than the creation of a transit authority or some other form of public ownership."

Inadequate transit service provided by out-of-town profit takers, he said, has led downtown Baltimore to the brink of deterioration.

Interested business and civic groups were asked by D'Alesandro for their reaction to his proposal that downtown merchants, business interest and large industries "join forces and acquire local operating control" of the Baltimore Transit Co.

The firm is owned by National City Lines, which operates transit systems in Philadelphia, Kansas City and a number of other cities.

"It is unthinkable that we continue along the road we are now traveling," the mayor said.

"But we must not deceive ourselves. Public ownership and operation of mass transit facilities, whether by an authority or in some other form, almost certainly will result in an additional burden on the taxpayers."

"We intend to employ every means possible to restore the heart of our city" he said in a statement. "But that heart never again will beat strongly, and it never again will be the center of our business and cultural life if the problem of mass transportation is not solved."

The people in general, D'Alesandro said, have come to dread visits downtown and office and industrial workers and students are particularly vexed.

Outside Receipts Of Five Arab Countries Estimated At Over Billion In 1956

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24 (AP) — Rep. Wayne Hays (D-Ohio) said today the state department estimates that five Arab countries in the Middle East received more than 1¼ billion dollars from outside sources in 1956. Much of it was oil income.

Israel's outside receipts were listed at 450 million dollars for the year.

Hays is a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee which is considering President Eisenhower's resolution for up to 200 million dollars in economic aid to the Middle East and standby authority to use U. S. troops to counter any Communist aggression.

Hays said he asked a committee staff consultant to gather the figures on earnings in the strategic area. The consultant's reply given Hays this afternoon, listed "external earnings for 1956" according to these "estimates supplied by the Department of State:"

Saudi Arabia — 360 million dollars, 90 per cent from oil, averaging $180 per person in Saudi Arabia.

Egypt—420 million dollars, equal o $160 person.

Syria — 170 million dollars, 347.22 per capita.

Jordan — 70 million dollars about 40 per cent foreign subsidy, $11.33 per capita.

Five Arab country total: $1,260,000,000.

Israel — 450 million dollars, $264.70 per capita.

Israel's estimated external receipts included 40 million dollars from bonds, 70 millions from private donations, 54 millions in U.S. aid, 86 millions from exports and 200 millions from all other sources including German reparations.

Rep. Celler (D-NY) has said the Arab countries get $83,800,000 a month, or more than a billion dollars a year from the petroleum industries in the form of royalties, taxes or other payments.

Churchill's Sons-In-Law Keep Family In Politics

By EDIN SHANKE

LONDON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill has retired from active politics but the family still is going strong. And the family of Britain's new prime minister, Harold Macmillan, is making political headway too.

Two of Churchill's sons-in-law and disciples—Duncan Sandys and Christopher Soames — hold key posts in the new Conservative administration. Macmillan appointed his son-in-law, Julian Amery, to the government and so drew fire from the opposition Labor party organ Daily Herald. The Herald called the appointment "astounding."

All three sons-in-law were named to responsible — and challenging — posts.

Macmillan chose the 49-year-old Sandys as defense minister. It is a key job in the new administration's developing policy, which is aimed at cutting defense spending and recasting Britain's defense setup in line with the age of atomic weapons. He is going to Washington Jan. 28 to talk with U.S. officials about just this problem.

Cutting defense costs has confounded a parade of defense ministers in the last two or three years. But Sandys, bringing a reputation for toughness, stubborness and methodical thoroughness to the job, is likely to find stout allies in two other "in-law" appointees to the service departments.

Soames, 36, is parliamentary and financial secretary at the Admiralty. Amery, 37, stepped into his first ministerial appointment as parliamentary and financial secretary to the War Office. Both men, though only junior ministers, will help to shape defense policy and put the coming defense cuts into effect.

For some years after his marriage to Churchill's eldest daughter Diana, Sandys ran the danger of becoming regarded merely as "Mr. Churchill's son-in-law."

As late as 1948, Sandys still was comparatively unknown to the British public — but he was working hard behind the scenes pushing the then novel idea of a "united Europe" movement. It eventually blossomed into the European Assembly and Council of Europe at Strasbourg.

When Churchill made his post war comeback as prime minister in 1951, he appointed Sandys minister of supply. Sandys' political star has been rising ever since.

The bulky, well-dressed figure of Soames came on the political scene later than Sandys. Soames married Mary Churchill in 1947 and entered Parliament on his first try three years later. During the years that Churchill was prime minister from 1952 to 1955, Soames was almost constantly at his side as his parliamentary private secretary. Now, with Churchill retired from political life, the Soames family lives on Churchill's country estate, Chartwell, near Westerham, Kent.

The Daily Herald quickly criticized the Prime Minister for appointing son-in-law Amery to the War Office. Amery "has done nothing to prove his ability or work his passage into high office," the newspaper said.

Amery, Eton and Oxford educated, is a tough, outspoken figure on the extreme right of the Conservative party. His late father, Leopold, ranked among the leading imperialists of the Conservative party.

Amery married Catherine MacMillan in 1950, the same year he entered Parliament. He soon became a leader of the so-called "Suez group," rank-and-file Conservatives who opposed British withdrawal from the Suez Canal defense zone. He opposed just as strenuously the Eden government's decision to halt armed intervention in Egypt at the height of the Suez crisis last November.

Another member of the Macmillan family — 35-year-old son Maurice — also has launched on a political career. He was elected to Parliament in 1955.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Gasoline — one cent more per gallon!

The big question now is: "Why?"

Shortly after the recent gasoline increases were announced, I began receiving information designed to show that the price boosts were unjustified.

Each mail brought additional comments about the matter so, in an effort to clear the air for consumers and suppliers alike, I suggested that the Senate Banking and Currency Committee study the matter to see whether the increases are in order.

Resolution To Be Submitted

My proposal will be incorporated into a formal resolution and submitted to the Senate as soon as possible.

As a member of the Banking and Currency Committee, I have seen that such probes can be quite effective.

I remember vividly, for instance, how the high coffee prices of 1954 dropped after they were studied by a subcommittee, of which I was chairman.

In the light of the numerous warnings we have received recently concerning the possibility of inflation, it seems especially important for the Banking and Currency Committee to utilize its full power to investigate prices and costs in the months ahead.

Annuity Increases Proposed

In addition to requesting a study of gasoline prices, I have just introduced or co-sponsored measures which would:

Provide for the appointment of an additional District Judge for Maryland.

Grant the consent of Congress to the Potomac Electric Power Company for the construction of a dam on the Potomac River;

Set up a scientific study and research program for the purpose of developing more industrial uses for agricultural products;

Extend the life of the District of Columbia Auditorium Commission;

Increase annuities payable to certain annuitants from the Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund, and

Firemen Answer Alarm

Firemen from Central Station yesterday answered an alarm at 42 North Centre Street. Firemen said a police officer noticed smoke coming from a flue and turned in the alarm. No damage was reported.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. De Witt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON — The Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin was given a great deal of encouragement to expand its compact to include regulatory authority and control in the President's State of the Union Message. The President said that "each of our great valleys should be considered as a whole." And that "the whole matter .... demands the closest kind of cooperation and partnership between municipalities, States and the Federal Government." He further said that "until such partnership is established on a proper and logical basis of sharing authority, responsibility and costs, our country will never have both the fully productive use of water that it so obviously needs and protection against disastrous flood."

For my Congressional district the President included in the Budget funds for: (1) an Army Engineer Corps Potomac River Comprehensive study — $105,000; (2) the federal share of the expenses of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin; (3) the various watershed and flood control projects underway and planned for our area, including $2,500,000 for the Cumberland-Ridgeley project; and (4) water pollution control.

The President also requested funds for: (1) the acquisition of stream valley park lands in near-by Maryland; (2) "Mission 66"—the National Parks' program for road and park facility improvements; (3) completion of the Washington Regional Mass Transportation Survey in 1958.

Funds were also requested for completion of the Atomic Energy Commission buildings at Germantown and for the new Bureau of Standards to be built near Gaithersburg. Also included in the Budget are funds for school construction in federally impacted areas.

I shall again be serving as a member of the House Judiciary and the District committees. I have been assigned to a special Judiciary subcommittee on Administrative Procedure.

VA Mailing Annual Income Questionnaires

Annual income questionnaires have been mailed to more than 1,200,000 veterans and widows and children of deceased veterans who are receiving pensions, the Veterans Administration noted this week.

These questionnaires are to be filled out and mailed immediately to the VA office shown on the form. Unless completed and returned within 30 days, pension payments will be stopped, VA noted.

Each year, the VA is required by law to mail questionnaires because disability and death pensions are subject to annual income limitations. Current questionnaires request data on 1956 income and anticipated income for 1957.

The forms have been mailed to 660,000 veterans and 570,000 widows and children of deceased veterans.

VA pointed out that the pension rate for a veteran who is permanently and totally disabled is $66.15 a month. After 10 years or age 65, the pension is increased to $78.75. A veteran receiving a pension, and who is helpless or blind and needs regular attendance of another person, is allowed a top rate of $135.45 a month.

Income limitation is fixed by law at $1,400 without dependents or $2,700 with dependents.

A widow of a World War I, World War II or post-Korea veteran, without dependents, may receive $50.40 a month. If she has one child, she would receive $63 and an extra $7.56 for each additional child. If there is no widow, the first child receives $27.30; two children receive $40.95; three children, $54.60; and $7.56 for each additional child.

Depositions Taken In Damage Cases

Pre-trial depositions are being taken at the Court House from witnesses in the flash fire at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant last summer.

Suits for damages totalling almost $500,000 have been filed in Circuit Court as a result of the accident. Three men were fatally burned and seven others were badly burned in the mishap.

Several of the injured men were at the Court House yesterday to give depositions. Robert Thomas, court stenographer, is taking the testimony. Edward G. Ryan and Thomas B. Finan are attorneys in some of the cases of the plaintiffs while William H. Geppert is counsel for one of the contracting firms which is involved in the legal action.

Also representing various clients in the suits were Earl E. Manges, William L. Wilson Jr., W. Earle Cobey, C. William Gilchrist, William A. Gunter and William C. Walsh.

Man Goes To Jail In Motor Case

A 41-year-old Cumberland man was given 80 days in Allegany County Jail in default of $152.95 in fines on three state motor vehicle charges Tuesday.

Robert L. Kemp, of 890 Sperry Terrace, was arrested Saturday by Trooper R. D. Wolford of the Maryland State Police who said Kemp forced the trooper's cruiser off the highway while traveling on Route 36 near Corriganville.

Kemp pleaded guilty to two of the charges and was found guilty of the third by Magistrate Donald W. Mason at the hearing in Trial Magistrates Court.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (INS) — Texas, California and Oklahoma King Saud, en route to the U.S. (umped) with the assistance of an to visit President Eisenhower, advisory council. He has a deal isn't named King Saud at all. He with the Arabian American Oil is actually King Sa'ud Ibin 'Abd Company that would make a Al-Aziz Al Sa'ud. Not one of his fight manager faint. It's a 50-50 four wives or 40 sons calls him deal on the profits end. Last Al, careful research indicates. year his bit came to around a

He is 55, the eldest living son quarter of a billion. That's about of the late King Sa'ud Ibn Abid $5,000,000 a week, take home. Al-Aziz Al Faisal, and though Sa'ud has two hats, as the one of the last absolute monarchs military people would say. Under left on earth isn't as absolute as the law known as the Shari'a, the old man. He rules his oil- based on the Koran, he is the soaked sun-seared land (big as head of all branches of government affecting his seven or eight million subjects. He hears all petitions, for the Koran says the mangiest nomad is the spiritual equal of the king. The nomad just has a bad agent, that's all.

Before taking off for the U.S., Sa'ud personally reviewed the cases of every person in prison in Saudi Arabia. He pardoned many, and Saudi authorities swear that there were only 40 persons canned in the entire land when he left. None were political prisoners.

The penalties for misdemeanors and felonies which in this country may result in a slap on the wrist are so severe in Saudi Arabia that — well — the wrist may not be left. Thievery is practically unknown. There is no juvenile delinquency.

King Sa'ud's other hat, if that's a proper term for a man who probably never wore one in his life, is that of custodian of the Moslem Places — Mecca and Medina. The pilgrims among the world's 335,000 Moslems once were the chief income of the government of the present king's father, but that was before oil. Sa'ud is not a religious leader in the sense of the Aga Khan, but is expected by all Moslems to live the exemplary life.

Sa'ud travels through the country much more than his father did. He is pictured as a man who wants to leave something substantial behind him in the way of buildings, roads, schools, hospitals, public buildings and palaces. He has built hospitals before there were doctors and nurses to man them, government buildings before there were clerks to make them tick. Finding and training such a middle class is a colossal task which may need more time than the Prophet has allotted Sa'ud Ibin 'Abd Al-Aziz Al Sa'ud. But when that day arrives, he must figure, the stages will be ready.

He owns, among such things as a private railroad and an array of air-conditioned Cadillacs, an airline equipped with Convairs. It has proved of great benefit to the almost roadless country. But the schedules can be uncertain. Some time back, a plane loaded with travelers and stuffed with their baggage was about to take off when the tower ordered it back to the ramp. One of the king's kid brothers drove up with an air-conditioned party, ordered everybody off, had the baggage removed, and took off for a gazelle hunt.

Sa'ud is a mild one compared to the old man. The founder of the dynasty, who stood 6-4 in his prime and must have been tough as nails, got his start in the dynasty business by successfully storming the fortress and garrison at Riyadh the day Sa'ud was born. He personally slew the Riyadh governor and kept advancing through grade until he gutted the No. 2 strongman, El Raschid. That made him chairman of the board, one of the great success stories of our time.

Social Security Law Will Affect Landowners

The new social security law will affect many landowners in this area whose farm income includes cash or crop-shares received from a tenant, according to James E. Robertson, manager of the Cumberland Social Security office.

Mr. Robertson stated that under the old law, income from farm land—even if on a share-farming arrangement—was considered as rentals from real estate to the farm owner and did not count toward his Social Security. The landowner who had only this kind of income from his farm was regarded simply as a landowner, not a self-employed farmer.

Mr. Robertson said that while in some instances income of this type will still be excluded from Social Security coverage, in those cases where the landowner takes an important part in the management decisions or in the actual production, the cash or income from the crop-shares he receives is regarded as farm income which will be credited to his Social Security account.

Further information as to the extent a landowner must participate in the farm operations to be considered self-employed for Social Security purposes is available at the Social Security office.

Darkness Ends Students' Strike

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 24 (AP) — Teachers at the South Milwaukee Vocational School ended a sitdown strike by seven teenagers this week by leaving them in the dark.

The boys were held after school for one-half hour because they had been loafing in the school's woodworking shop.

The youths went to a storage room, where some of them usually eat lunch, closed the door behind them and wedged the door shut. They resisted the pleas of five instructors, Principal Joseph Longo and two police officers.

The boys finally walked out after someone flicked a switch, transforming their sanctuary into a self-made dungeon.

Purchases Property

The Big Ridge Gun Club Inc., has purchased property in the Green Ridge Valley of Allegany County, according to a deed filed for record in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court.

This property, Tract No. 2 in Section D of Green Ridge Valley in Election District No. 1, was purchased by the club from J. Preston Martin and Edna E. Martin of Washington County.

Babson Recommends Turnpike Bonds As Profitable Investment

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 24 — It is the first time for several years that I have felt free to recommend any specific stock or bond in this weekly column. I, however, now want to explain the mention of non-taxable bonds which I made in my recent Forecast for 1957.

History Of Bonds

There is a big difference between stocks and bonds. Stocks own the equity in a corporation. Profits go to the stockholders after payment of interest on the bonds and other indebtedness. This may be much or none, and it fluctuates up and down. Some people make lots of money by buying stocks at the right time; while other people lose everything by buying them at the wrong time.

Bonds — on the contrary — are the same as a mortgage on your house. The interest on bonds is a prior claim. Usually their price does not fluctuate as widely as the price of common stocks and the interest is most always paid. Hence, they are much safer to buy than are stocks. In addition to U.S. Government Bonds, there are three other important types of bonds: (1) "Full Faith" State and Municipal Bonds, which are the safest investment you can buy and whose interest is non-taxable. (2) Corporation Bonds, which — of the same company — are safer than the stock of that company, but their interest is taxable. (3) Revenue Bonds which are issued by your state, city, or town, but your interest payment depends upon the earnings of a state turnpike, or upon your local gas, water, or sewerage system. This interest, however, is not taxable.

Today's Prices For Bonds

All bonds are cheaper than they have been for over 20 years. Buy almost any today and you should have an excellent investment. But by proper selection, with the help of an investment counselor, you should be sure to make money particularly by purchasing selected non-taxable bonds. Buying good non-taxable bonds is just like discovering gold in your own back yard. No reader of this column remembers my ever saying this since the panic of 1929-1932.

All of the following non-taxable Revenue Bonds were selling at par ($1,000) a few months ago. Today they can be bought as follows:

Security	Rate	Maturity	Price
Florida Turnpike Authority Revenue	3¼%	4/1/95	88.50
Illinois Toll Highway Revenue	3¾%	1/1/95	87.00
Indiana Toll Road Commission Revenue	3½%	1/1/94	87.50
Greater New Orleans Expressway Revenue	4%	11/1/94	92.00
Maine Turnpike Revenue	4%	1/1/89	95.50
Mackinac Bridge Authority Revenue	4%	1/1/94	94.50
Ohio Turnpike Revenue	3¼%	6/1/92	88.50
Chesapeake Bay Ferry District Rev.	4¼%	4/1/86	95.00
Massachusetts Turnpike Revenue	3.30%	5/1/94	87.00

Non-Taxable Benefits

But here is something else to remember. The income you get from any stock, corporation bond, or even U.S. Government Bond, is taxable. Practically everyone must pay a Federal Tax of at least 20-25 per cent of all dividends and interest received except from State, City and Town Bonds, and special non-taxable authority issues which include these Turnpike Revenue Bonds.

Here is what this means to you. Whatever your income, you can save 20-25 per cent. If, however, you are in a higher income tax bracket (say 50 per cent), 4 per cent on any of the above bonds could net you the same as 8 per cent on taxable stocks. If your income is $50,000, then the interest on these 4 per cent tax-free bonds equals 16 per cent in taxable income; while those having incomes of $80,000 get an equivalent yield of 25 per cent on their money after all taxes. Seems too good to be true; but it is true!

The Fly In The Ointment

Why doesn't everyone with large incomes buy these bonds now? It may be that they are waiting for lower prices due to the fear that many more new Turnpike Bonds are coming on the market. Or it may be due to fear of the competition which these present turnpikes may have from the new U.S. Government highways. Surely I do not fear such competition.

If you believe that automobile riding is going to be less and that the automobile business is "going to pot," then don't buy these tax-free Turnpike Bonds. If you believe World War III is soon coming, when gas again will be rationed, you are justified in being cautious. But I believe such fears are now foolish. Hence, I say: "Buy seasoned Non-Taxable Turnpikes — and buy them today."

More Korea Vets Enrolled As Trainees

A tabulation of enrollments of veterans under the Korean GI Bill of Rights indicates signs of surpassing the record set a year ago, according to W. L. Limburg, regional manager of the Veterans Administration in Baltimore.

With complete fall enrollment figures still not compiled, the total in training had passed 7,200 as compared to 6,200 veteran-trainees reported a year ago.

The national picture, Mr. Limburg noted, shows 688,000 veterans enrolled this year, as compared to 615,000 a year ago. This is an 11 per cent increase.

The proportion of Korea veteran-trainees in college is somewhat higher this year than last. Nearly 409,000 or 60 per cent of the total number of GI trainees were attending colleges and universities. A year ago, 55 per cent were going to schools of higher learning.

In the Baltimore area, of which Cumberland is a part, 4,040 of the 7,200 trainees are attending schools of college level or above. In addition to college, 1,050 are training on-the-job, with 110 taking on-the-farm training and 2,000 in schools below college level.

The Korean GI Bill has been in operation four years and the education program comes to an end in 1965.

A permanent wave can be disappointing if it's counted on as a quick cure-all.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Schedule Temporary Measures Along With The Permanent

As wonderful as it is to give you the curly locks you weren't born with, a permanent wave can't do everything. It can't restore natural oils to dried out hair—it may make it worse. It can't cure brittleness. It can't produce a new coiffure that's sure to set perfectly from the start.

The chances of a permanent's transforming you as you hope it will depend on several things, and one of the most important is putting your hair in condition so it can do its best. If your hair is dry and brittle, schedule the permanent several weeks in advance and have the beauty shop give you two or more weekly oil shampoos to get ready for it. Or do the job yourself this way:

Warm olive oil and pat it onto the scalp. Then, either wrap your head in cheesecloth and leave it on overnight, or turban your head in a succession of steaming hot towels. Finish the treatment with a sudsy shampoo.

If the permanent is to prepare you for leaving on a trip or for looking your best on a special occasion, there's more reason than ever for anticipation. The time for the permanent should be set far enough ahead to allow for reconditioning, and it should also be given a week or two before the deadline. A permanent just before leaving or making an eventful appearance can't assure a perfect coiffure. There should be time for at least one follow-up shampoo and set.

The hair style that will be adopted after the permanent is likely to be somewhat different from the one worn before it, or you may want to try an entirely different style. It should be planned and the hair should be set for it if possible during the weeks of reconditioning. And a follow-up shampoo a week after the permanent will do wonders to help the hair settle more easily and lastingly in the new way it should go.

Tomorrow—Make old clothes look new.

Principal Takes Spill For March Of Dimes

Allegany High School students grin as their principal, Dr. W. Ardell Haines, takes a spill during a faculty-Hi-Y basketball game yesterday for the benefit of the March of Dimes. Dr. Haines, however, took a couple of the opposition with him when he went down in a tangle of elbows and sneakers. The Hi-Y boys won, but the big winner was the March of Dimes.

Heart Association Offers Two New Educational Aids

The Allegany-Garrett Heart Association has presented to the Board of Education for its film library, a film strip entitled "Your Blood System and Function of the Heart."

The film, a 35mm strip in full color, shows 30 frames with diagrams and captions, designed for health and biology classes, grades 5 to 9. The film is available to county teachers who wish to use it. The diagrams and captions explain the composition of the blood and demonstrate how the heart works to pump through the body.

In addition to this health education aid, the Heart Association has available at the Heart office in the Clark Keating Building a supply of a new teaching aid, "The Heart Puzzle," designed for upper elementary grades and junior high classes.

The teaching aid, provided through the American Heart Association as part of the public education program to help prolong life by understanding the heart and heart disease, is designed to stimulate students' interest in the subject.

The puzzle helps students map the flow of blood through the heart with the aid of red arrows for freshly oxygenated blood and blue arrows for venous blood.

The pumping action of the heart is made clear in a simple drawing which divides the heart into its chambers. It also shows the valves, great veins, the aorta and the pulmonary artery.

Drawings illustrate the size of animals' hearts, from a mouse to a giraffe.

Teachers who have seen the puzzle and the strip film say they are among the best teaching aids of their kind yet developed on the subject of heart, and should do much to help the younger generation understand the importance of knowledge about the heart function and heart disease.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, local heart executive, has a supply of these teaching aids available to teachers in public and parochial schools who want them.

Common cabbage is said to be the most productive of all green vegetables.

Four Ducks Pick Chilly Day For Swim In Creek

Four white ducks attracted attention yesterday afternoon as they swam in the chilly waters of Wills Creek under the Western Maryland Railway bridge near Baltimore Street.

Possibly they were getting in some early Spring training for next summer's swimming although they picked a chilly day to do so. And you could hardly say they were basking in the sun.

The current was rather swift in the creek but the ducks managed to find a calm section of the water in which to cavort.

GOP Committee To Act Soon On Appointments

The Republican Committee of Allegany County will meet next week to take action on appointive positions, according to James S. Getty, chairman.

The committee is accepting applications from persons wanting appointive positions that become vacant in May.

The committee's recommendations must be submitted to the State Senate by at least February 26.

When the list, or "Green Bag," as it is termed, reaches the Senate, the senator from this county has the privilege to alter the appointments as he sees fit.

Mr. Getty said the group has received more applications than there are jobs available.

There have been at least five persons seeking the position on the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners (the liquor board), he added.

The six-year term of Walter C. Capper will expire in May. Because of the setup, the appointee must be a Republican as the board is comprised of two members from the party getting the most votes in the most recent gubernatorial election, and one from the party running second.

The holdover members of the liquor board are Stanley Hamilton, a Republican, and Howard Vandegrift, a Democrat.

Up for re-appointment are all of the county's trial magistrates, the Juvenile Court magistrate, and the three members of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

Railroad Pay

unions of carmen, clerks, roadmen, yardmen, dining car stewards and machinists.

Railroad officials opposing the bill were Joseph J. Luddy, assistant comptroller of the B. & O., and Russell K. Markley, chief paymaster of the Pennsylvania Railroad also going on record as opposing the bill were representatives of the Canton, the Maryland and Pennsylvania, and the Western Maryland railroads.

Luddy said the B. & O. estimates the changeover to a weekly pay schedule for its 14,000 Maryland employes would cost $250,000. Markley estimated the new system would mean an annual increase of $44,600 in accounting expenses for Pennsylvania, which employs 4,000 in Maryland.

Culbertson said the railroads shifted from a monthly to a semi-monthly pay schedule about 40 years ago and it is time they got out of the "horse-and-buggy days."

He said 90 per cent of all industries pay their employes every week, but railroad workers often have to go 17 days without a pay.

The committee declined to report either favorable or unfavorably on the bill until it receives additional information on pay scales in Maryland from the railroad companies.

Probers Now Are Throwing Stones At Dave Beck's Big Glass House

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — "We put the teamsters right here so we could keep an eye on Congress," quoth roly-poly, baldheaded Dave Beck, czar of the Teamsters Union, explaining why he had located his national headquarters so that any Senator looking out a rear Capitol window could not escape the modernistic glass-and-aluminum palace dedicated to the biggest union in America.

Beck's remark was made two years ago. He would not make it today. For today Congress has reversed things and is keeping an eye on the teamsters.

One by one a long file of teamster chiefs sat before the Senate Investigating Committee, blithely pleaded the Fifth Amendment. With monotonous regularity they refused to answer questions.

Dave Beck didn't plead the Fifth Amendment. From his home in Seattle he pleaded sickness.

Sitting in his swank office at the foot of the Capitol a few weeks before, he could push a button and have the curtain automatically drawn over his huge glass window. Or he could push another button and diffuse the sun's ray in the window glass through which he viewed Congress.

Another button turned on his special hi-fi set. The push of another button turned on his specially installed TV set.

A battery of phones was spread out on the huge, bare desk. He could bark into a box and summon union chiefs from any place in his glass palace. Upstairs was a cafeteria where teamster chiefs could eat free. Nearby was a gold-leaf decorated projection room seating 500, where the teamster boss could show his private movies. The leather upholstery in his building made the Union League Club look parsimonious.

"We're going to keep an eye on Congress," the teamster boss had said. But now Congress is keeping an eye on him.

No Tears For Beck

Not many people in the labor movement feel sorry for Dave Beck or the teamsters. Dave has thumbed his nose at too many other labor leaders, crossed swords too frequently with George Meany, raided too many other unions, even loaned money to firms engaged in locking out other unions.

Furthermore, there's a lot in the record of both Beck and his No. 2 teamster boss, Jim Hoffa, that ought to be investigated for the good of union honesty.

However, let's take a look at the man who's doing the investigating—Sen. John McClellan of Arkansas.

Senator McClellan was entrusted with the probe of the gas-oil lobby after a lobbyist for Howard Keck and Superior Oil attempted to bribe Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota to the tune of $2,500.

Senator McClellan was given the investigating job after Sen. Tom Hennings of Missouri and Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee had tried to do a forthright job but were euchred out of the committee chairmanship by Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, bosom pal of the gas lobby. Johnson knew McClellan would be a safe investigator.

He was. At the close of his alleged investigation he blithely announced:

"We have done everything possible to secure the cooperation of the press, the public, and the Executive Branch of the Government. The facts the committee obtained in response to these efforts were negligible."

Senator McClellan issued this statement despite the fact that I personally went to his office and urged his staff to probe the $5,000 check paid by the same Howard Keck of Superior Oil to the Eisenhower Dinner Committee at the very same time the gas bill was under debate. I had a photostat of the check.

Senator Case rebuffed the $2,500 from Superior Oil. The Eisenhower Committee accepted twice that amount from the same Superior Oil. Yet Senator McClellan refused to investigate. On top of that he had the nerve to announce that the press had not cooperate.

Senator McClellan is quite right about investigating the teamsters. But he has been woefully negligent in not fully investigating the gas lobby, the big utilities, and Vice President Nixon's friend, Murray Chotiner. McClellan's law firm in Arkansas represents both oil companies and utilities. If he doesn't want to investigate their lobbying he should step aside and let someone else conduct the hearings.

"Shooting" In Israel

The one-hour TV program on this writer's "Report On The Holy Land" being aired by NBC this Sunday illustrates the miracle of modern reporting and some of its problems. Prime Minister Ben-Gurion was interviewed before the Sinai attack, and then by transatlantic telephone afterward.

During the first interview, Ben-Gurion was at his farm co-op, Ste Bokar, in the Negev Desert, where he wore a loose khaki shirt and shorts. The second interview, after the Sinai attack, was in Jerusalem, where he wore a formal business suit. The Prime Minister was extremely busy, but nevertheless bowed to my meticulous producer, Baruch Dienar, and changed to khaki shirt and shorts.

By the time of the second interview, the camera crew which had filmed the first interview had been drafted into the Israeli Army. They were spread out all over the Sinai Peninsula.

However, after I called Gen. Moshe Perlman, Ben-Gurion's information officer, by transatlantic phone, he agreed to let the camera crew drive back from Egypt to Jerusalem to retake the Prime Minister. The Prime Minister, however, kept them waiting—one day, two days, three days. After waiting for the Prime Miinster each night, they had to drive back to Egypt, get back into their army uniform and report for duty. Next evening they made the long trip again, until Ben-Gurion was finally reshot.

Is National Guard Strength In Danger?

A seething row between the Pentagon and the National Guard Association is beginning to erupt in public. The Defense Department's revised armed services reserves program, says Maj. Gen. Ellard A. Walsh, president of the association, is designed to "relegate the National Guard to a second-string position in national defense, if not to destroy it."

The Department's new program is slated to go into effect April 1. As announced Jan. 14, it hits hardest at the National Guard in requiring Guardsmen, as well as all other Army Reservists, to take six months' training on active duty. In the past National Guard enlistees have not been required to take the active duty training, although some have done so voluntarily.

The whole reserve program is, in effect, a way of getting around the draft. Men who are drafted under the Selective Service Act are required to serve two years on active duty. In its new system, the Army has reduced their subsequent ready reserve obligation from three years to two years. However, they will spend two years instead of one year in the stand-by reserve.

Men who enlist for three or more years active duty still have a six-year military obligation. But if they spend four years on active duty, they go into the stand-by reserve immediately on discharge.

According to Gen. Walsh, the new six months' training division will cost the National Guard 100,000 members. The Guard now has a force of about 405,000. The Guard had recommended that its enlistees be required to take only three months' active training. The Pentagon concedes that the new system was adopted over the "nonconcurring view" of its National Guard Bureau.

When the 1955 act was adopted, it was designed to build a ready reserve of 2.9 million men in all three services by 1959. Under the new Pentagon system, the overall target is 2.5 million. The Pentagon estimates the present reserve at about 1,883,000.

President Meeting His Third Major Challenge

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

Four years ago, when a solemn, inexperienced and rather nervous Dwight Eisenhower had just taken the oath of office for the first time, this reporter and his partner pointed to three "tremendous challenges" which confronted the new President. In the light of his second inauguration, it may be worth recalling those challenges, and trying to assess how the President has met them. Here were the three great problems facing the President, as they looked four years ago:

"The first thing the new President must do is to establish his political leadership of the Republican Party."

"The second thing the new President must do is to establish his ideological leadership of the Republican Party."

"Finally, the most important thing the new President must do is not merely to carry on where Truman left off, but to find bold, positive solutions for the problems that plague us," throughout the world.

It took him a long time to do it, but surely, by any reasonable standard, the President has triumphantly met the first two challenges. To see just how triumphantly the challenges have been met, it is necessary to recall the political atmosphere which prevailed for more than two years after the first Eisenhower inauguration.

The President was hardly installed in the White House before he was engaged in a series of bitter rows with the conservative wing of his own party. There was, for example, the row with the right wingers in the Senate, led by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, over the confirmation of Charles E. Bohlen as Ambassador to the Soviet Union. And there was the concurrent row with the House conservatives, led by Rep. Daniel Reed, over the President's budget tax program.

The President had his way in both cases, in the end, but only with the help of the Democrats, and these conflicts were only the first of a seemingly endless series. In those days, moreover, the President very often seemed uncertain of his power, and unwilling to use it. "I speak my piece," he used to say to friends, "and then it's up to them."

Those were the days when the President was so often frustrated by his own party that he talked seriously of forming a third party. After twenty years in the wilderness, many Republicans had formed the habit of looking on the occupant of the White House as their natural enemy, and the thought of accepting the President's political or ideological leadership hardly occurred to them.

Consider the difference now. en. McCarthy is sunk without trace, and there is no one else in the Republican Party who would think for a minute of seriously challenging President Eisenhower's leadership. The response to his budget, the highest in peacetime history, and higher by many billions in the non-defense field than any budget ever proposed by Harry S. Truman, tells the story.

If the President had submitted such a budget in the first part of his first term, the Republican Cogressional leaders would have exploded like so many rockets. Now the President's authority in his party is such that the resistance of the Republicans on Capitol Hill is confined to private mutterings—the only open opposition has come from the President's own Secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey.

As for the President's willingness to use his authority, it is only necessary to consider the "Eisenhower Doctrine." The President has started his second term by demanding of the Congress a blanket grant of authority such as Franklin D. Roosevelt, at the height of his power, would never have dared ask.

This new willingness to use his power to the full may be a good augury as regards the third of the three challenges listed in this space four years ago—the need to "find bold, positive solutions for the problems that plague us." This is the challenge which President Eisenhower in his first administration has not really met. Instead of finding "bold, positive solutions," a policy of accepting the status quo, of making do with things as they are, has been adopted again and again, all over the world.

It is now clear that things will not remain as they are for very much longer. As the President remarked in his Second Inaugural Address, no nation can now escape the "tempest of change and turmoil." The whole tone of that address suggests that the President is determined to meet the third, and unmet, challenge. It is infinitely difficult to meet. But given the enormous authority which the President now exercises, and the whole power of the United States, it should not be impossible to meet.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Alexander Hamilton

This year, the bicentennial of Alexander Hamilton's birth is being celebrated because perhaps more than any man, more than Washington or Jefferson, Hamilton was the political and financial engineer who built the peculiar form of government and the type of capitalistic society that was established here.

It was no mean task that Alexander Hamilton undertook when he wrote the principal Federalist papers because the people in the colonies feared government; or perhaps it is more correct to say that they feared the power of government against which they had rebelled. They had witnessed the peril of the expansion of power and had been forced to risk their lives in a military operation to resist oppression. When men engage in rebellions, they anticipate a large measure of personal liberties to be their gain and often what they really seek is an individualism akin to anarchy. Alexander Hamilton's task was to find an orderly procedure not only for government but for the national economy. He was our first open nationalist, it may be said.

Dean Louis M. Hacker of Columbia University has written a biography, "Alexander Hamilton, in the American Tradition," for the occasion of the bicentennial. This book might well be read by the rulers of the many new nations which are cluttering the world because from it they could learn that no nation is truly free unless it has found a way to establish a sound national economy. George Washington was indeed fortunate that his Secretary of the Treasury, Alexander Hamilton, understood the science of money and the art of building capital and appreciated the relationship of both to national existence and freedom.

Hamilton's "The Report on Manufactures" established the economic relations between the government and the individual citizen, and propounded policies which were consistently pursued until the New Deal came upon the United States and John Maynard Keynes taught us a new economy which has since become our model. Hamilton said this:

"That the annual produce of the land and labor of a country can only be increased in two ways — by some improvement in the productive powers of the useful labor which actually exists within it, or by some increase in the quantity of such labor."

Dean Hacker says of "The Report on Manufactures":

". . . It was both the longest and most complex of the public documents Hamilton drew up at this time; it was also his whole statement of his hopes for and his faith in the future of the United States.

"Hamilton wanted men of affairs — adventurers, enterprisers, the capitalist class, in short — to rally to the support of the new government . . ."

In a word, he sought to make the new nation attractive to business and he succeeded, for capital from all parts of the world, capital and labor have poured into this country in enormous quantities not as grants or gifts or aids but as investments with the expectation of a profitable return on the money. It was the attractiveness for investment that built the United States and when protectionism was established for our infant industries, it was not on some theoretical basis that tariffs are good or bad, but rather that industry was beneficial to the country and that capital was entitled to compensation if it was or is to work at all.

Dean Hacker pays Hamilton this tribute:

"This astounding young man—whether born in 1755 or 1757, he was still in his early thirties when he became the country's first Secretary of the Treasury in 1789—was not only the greatest administrator the United States has ever produced, he was undoubtedly one of its greatest statesmen. If statecraft requires the clear understanding of all those forces and factors that a nation's honor and progress demand, plus the ability to create realistically and effectively the day-to-day devices for their realization—in short, the joining of both ends and means in a workable policy—Hamilton was a statesman without equal."

This is a particularly suitable time to study the work of Alexander Hamilton because this country needs to be put back on the track of its traditions. The budget now before Congress will not do that because its expenditures can only weaken both the husbandry of the individual citizen and our national economy. Hamilton did not believe that a nation could be rich if its citizens were impoverished by excessive withdrawal of capital by means of taxation.

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We're deliriously indifferent to learn the seniority system still jells in congress.

It's based on service, priority and re-election.

This time the nestors and the solons will be Democratic. Congress will operate without ether. Meaning without ether Estes or Adlai.

Parliamentary procedure at the protocol level hinges on the superior nodding of the legislative Solomons. And you remember the contralto riot the night his thousand wives caught him out with another dame.

One governmental impediment will be erased when the White House and Congress gets humming into party friction. We guarantee there will be no duplication of effort.

They will swing into the fast lane on the treadmill and kick up sand bottom. The elder statemen will be consulted on ethics and how to avoid 'em.

Respect for gray hairs doesn't stop the Senators from spotting a toupee. They had plenty of experience with the seven wigs of Ham Lewis.

Pennsylvania Avenue was cleared for the homburg parade. Now the road blocks are up again.

WEATHER

The greatest sudden changes of temperature in this country take place in New York City. So states a New Englander. He may be right. Still, New Englanders are not in a very good position to boast of an even climate. There are some terrific switches in the weather up that way, too. It is a matter of record that on December 31, 1932, the temperature in Vermont rose from 35 to 60. That night it dropped from 60 to zero which was the temperature on the next day, January 1, 1933.

SAYS SHE

"So another of your feminine subscribers gives out with a series of nasty remarks regarding Scorpio women," writes a Baltimorean. "Just one more hysterical outburst from an envious woman. Probably one of those frustrated Virgos, always trying to get a man and getting nowhere. Or, perhaps one of the many flat-chested Pisceans who try in vain with inflated bras to look like a Scorpio. Or a nasty, overdressed Libra who has lost a man to some magnetic and magnificiently formed Scorpio. But why go on? The Scorpian gals are madly envied by all those who had the misfortune to be born under other signs. Still, instead of always criticizing us Scorpios, why don't these other females devote the time to a study of self-improvement?"

PASSING BY

Maude Lambert Ball. Erstwhile musical comedy and vaudeville star. Widow of that great song writer, Ernest R. Ball. There should be a long playing record of a medley of Ernie's songs. This would include such classic ballads as "Love Me and The World Is Mine," "Mother Machree," "A Little Bit of Heaven," "Let The Rest of the World Go By" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." Who would you suggest to do the singing for this record? How about Gordon MacRae? Or Morton Downey?

SLOPPY DRIVERS

New York has more sloppy taxicab drivers than any other city in the country. Their attire is sloppy and their cabs are even more so. A periodical brushing of the floor of the cab would help the situation but these sloppy drivers refuse to summon up the energy to even do that. They just sit and listen to the radio. Some of them just sit. The only time they show signs of life is when they extend their greasy paws for a tip. The Health Department should crack down and make them keep their cabs clean or turn in their licenses.

Not All High Blood Pressure Is Hypertension

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Not everyone with high blood pressure needs medicine. It is required only when a marked elevation persists or progresses despite salutary changes in habits. On several occasions, individuals have told me they were cured of high blood pressure. Further discussion usually revealed there was an elevated reading on only one occasion.

These persons did not have the disease known as hypertension. They might have been nervous or upset during the examination and in this respect, their raised blood pressure did not represent the true state of affairs. A diagnosis of hypertension is made only after getting several elevated readings, preferably over a period of time.

Women tolerate hypertension better than men do. Furthermore, life expectancy is not shortened when the systolic blood pressure is high, if the diastolic pressure remains below 100. In any case, hypertension does no harm so long as the heart, kidneys, or brain are not affected by the condition This explains why the physician is more concerned with the status of these organs than he is with the height of the pressure.

These factors also are taken into consideration when the question of medicine enters the picture. The man with a slight rise, who overworks, has too many responsibilities, or is upset by family disturbances, generally responds to improvements in living and working conditions.

But if there is no change in the pattern and stress, strain, or anxiety is sustained, the blood pressure may remain elevated or it becomes higher. When this stage is reached, medicine is called for.

There are many good remedies, varying from rauwolfia for mild hypertension to ansolysen for severe hypertension. These preparations have a different effect in different persons and best results are obtained via trial and error along with repeated checkups by the physician.

Combinations are advised should a single product fail. Moreover, compounds are available to counteract drowsiness or fatigue stemming from the sedative action of anti-hypertensive agents. Ritalin, for example, stimulates without affecting the pulse or the blood pressure.

There is little excuse for sustained hypertension nowadays. The majority of victims can be helped but they must be willing to cooperate. This means trying out various combinations until the ideal one is found. In addition, areas of tension in the home and office must be amended.

SPLEEN AND EMOTIONS

W. writes: Is there a medical explanation for the expression, venting the spleen?

REPLY

It may go back to the days when the spleen was regarded as the seat of the emotions. This poor organ is used as a synonym for anger, spite, or malice.

START AND FINISH

M. W. writes: is it true that the later a girl gets her menses, the older she will be when the menopause comes?

REPLY

No. The opposite is more likely to be true, because her ovaries are not overly active and they will retire early.

HE CAN DRIVE

G. R. writes: Can a person drive a car after a successful cataract operation?

REPLY

Yes, many do. Front vision usually is excellent after the operation but side vision may not be perfect.

HEART VITAMIN

C. W. writes: Do you have any information on a new vitamin that strengthens the heart? My druggist hasn't heard about it.

REPLY

Neither have I. About five years ago vitamin E was touted as such.

TONSIL INFECTION IN OLD

M. L. writes: Can an elderly person's tonsils become infected?

REPLY

Yes. The tonsils tend to shrink with age but are not immune even though tonsilitis is less likely to occur than in youngsters.

TOMORROW: Physician - patient congeniality.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Gene Sherman knows a maverick who spends most of his waking hours hating cats. "This business about cats always landing on the feet is a lot of hogwash," he crowed to Gene. "I've got a way of putting a spin on them so that nine times out of ten they land right on their head." Sherman also cites the case of an observant father who noticed that every time one of his children dropped a piece of bread on the floor, it landed butter side up. "This is in utter defiance of the laws of chance!" he exclaimed. Investigation disclosed one possible cause for the phenomenon, however. The kids were buttering their bread on both sides.

The Montrealer tells about an advertising copy writer who said to a friend, "Say, did you hear that Consols are going to facsimile their whole line for the '57 models, and won't finalize radical changes until '58?" The other replied, "Is that true? That completely obsoletes the information I have." Thereupon they quicked across the road and hungried into a restaurant.

Behind The Bamboo Curtain

What is it really like in communist China today?

To find out, a Canadian newspaper man, David Lancashire, recently got the approval of top Chinese brass to step behind the bamboo curtain. He spent six weeks there, traveled more than 5,000 miles, and took hundreds of photographs. Some of his pictures are shown here.

Lancashire found many strange contrasts. Mule carts still rattled down the streets of the major cities, but Chinese-built jets whined overhead. Not one Chinese in a thousand drive a car, but Chinese-built trucks are rolling off the assembly line. Peasants are still cultivating the land with water buffalo, but many farms are producing a surplus for the first time in 5,000 years.

Despite material advances, and Lancashire said he found many, the nation is under air-tight Communist domination. The 600 million people are stripped almost of the power of thought. No one is capable of giving an original or nonpolitical answer to the simplest question. Those who stand in the way are eliminated with firing squads and political prisons. Mao Tze-tung is worshipped.

RED MARCH. Women members of a street committee parade in Shanghai on way to a Communist meeting.

Crowd gathers to read Communist newspapers on Shanghai waterfront.

With a good percentage of working force women, factories in China supply nurseries for their children. Here are two cribsful in a Mukden plant.

Life on the farm still follows the old pattern. A water buffalo draws the plow on a farm outside Hankow.

Transportation still remains primitive, even in the large cities. This Peiping coolie, pulling the loaded cart, works the same way as he did in the past.

Three Western Maryland Employes Get Promotions

Three promotions affecting the Western Division (formerly the Elkins Division) of the Western Maryland Railway were announced yesterday by W. Arthur Grotz, president of the railroad.

Robert B. Wooters, assistant superintendent of the Eastern (formerly Hagerstown) Division at Port Covington, has been named to the newly created position of manager of mineral and timber lands for the railroad.

He will be succeeded at Port Covington by J. B. Robinson, 310 Washington Street, who has been trainmaster of the Western Division.

H. L. Williams, this city, will take Robinson's position here. He has been assistant trainmaster under Robinson.

Wooters had been division engineer of the Western Division for about a year prior to his promotion to the Port Covington job on May 16, 1956. While here, he was active in First Presbyterian Church and Boy Scout affairs.

His new position will have him establishing headquarters at Thomas effective February 1. The railroad owns thousands of acres of forest and coal land in Tucker County and for the past several years has been conducting a forest management program there.

John Adams Jr. of Oakland, who has been the forester in charge of the project during that time for the railroad, will report to Wooters, Grotz said.

Robinson has had a long career with Western Maryland, starting out in 1918 as a stenographer in the office of the superintendent of the Hagerstown Division.

From 1920 to 1922 he was secretary to the president of the railroad in Baltimore and from 1922 to 1927 was assistant general yardmaster at Bowest.

Began As Brakeman

From 1927 to 1936, he was night general yardmaster in the Ridgeley yards. On March 1, 1947 he was promoted to assistant trainmaster and on July 1, 1955, became trainmaster.

Williams has risen to trainmaster after starting out on the railroad in August 1925 as a brakeman. He was advanced to flagman in 1929, and conductor in 1935.

He was made assistant general agent at Chieftain, W. Va., in April 1950 and assistant trainmaster at Laurelbank, W. Va., in May 1950. He became assistant trainmaster here in July 1955.

All of the promotions become effective February 1, Grotz said.

Season's First Binaural Concert Set Wednesday

The first binaural stereophonic concert since last winter will be presented next Wednesday at 8:15 p. m. in SS. Peter and Paul Hall without any admission charge. Rev. Father Kilian, OFM Cap., who succeeded Father Jude at the Capuchin Monastery here, said the January 30 program will open with some organ masterpieces followed by symphony orchestra music.

Considerable interest was created last year by this new method of sound reproduction which makes the music seem most realistic. Father Kilian said today the concert will be open to music lovers regardless of creed, race or color. The program will be announced early next week.

Flue Fire Checked

Sewage Plant Use By Area Suggested

Finance Commissioner John J. Long said yesterday that the possibility of including nearby communities into Cumberland's new sewage treatment plant should be given a thorough study.

Long referred to a meeting Wednesday in Annapolis at which representatives of Westernport, Luke and Piedmont met with the Allegany County delegation about proposed legislation to enable their communities to have a waste disposal proposal.

He quoted State Sen. Charles M. See as telling the delegation that "In the next few years, the federal and state governments will require all communities to provide sewage disposal facilities."

Long said the City of Cumberland's new $2,000,000 plant in South End was engineered to handle a 65,000 population.

He added: "For health reasons, good public relations and sound, economical municipal business, the Mayor and Council, city engineer and consulting engineer (Robert T. Regester) should bring the fact to the attention of the Board of Allegany County Commissioners and local representatives of communities such as Frostburg, LaVale, Mt. Savage, Cresaptown, Bowling Green and Ridgeley.

"It would be far more economical for these communities to join in with Cumberland's waste disposal plant rather than construct a plant of their own later.

"It would also help Cumberland pay for its plant," Long said.

He continued that this is the time to survey the possibility because the Legislature is in session and there is federal legislation providing means to defray some of the expenses.

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloat or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrifty" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be remoistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONAID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONAID's great moisturizing capacity, plus COLONAID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONAID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONAID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

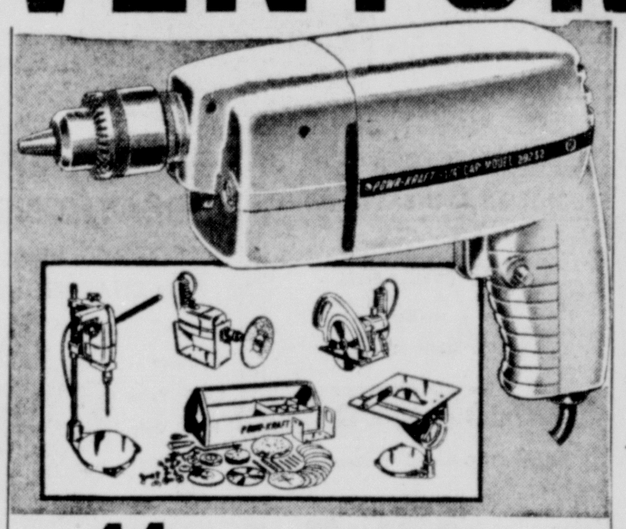

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONAID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONAID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Local 1874 Runoff Needed For Top Posts

A runoff election will be necessary to select the two top officers of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union, according to John Kreitzburg, chairman of the election committee.

Kreitzburg said that in balloting conducted the past three days by the 2,400-member union, Melvin Harris, incumbent president, and John G. "Jack" Thomas led the vote getters but neither had the required majority.

A runoff will also be necessary to select a vice president. The candidates will be Irvin A. Lewis and Thomas F. Powers. Balloting will be conducted next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday on the same schedule as in the voting this week. Ballots will be cast at the union hall and at the Amcelle plant.

Charles F. Davis was re-elected secretary-treasurer. He was unopposed.

Elected were six members of the executive board. They are Robert Blair, Lillian Burch, Joseph Barley, Floyd Grady, Walter Mahaney, and Ira McBride.

Francis "Pi" Harvey won the election for warden over two other candidates by a wide margin, Kreitzburg said.

Unopposed and automatically elected to the board of trustees were Robert Jones, James McGann, Carl Sherman, John Small and Earl Walker.

Kreitzburg said voting was heavy with 72 per cent of those eligible casting ballots. The voting for president was very close, he added, while the vice presidency balloting, although close, was not as narrow.

Bill Would Let McKeldin Run In Baltimore

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 24 (AP)—A Republican friend has tried to open a legal door for Gov. McKeldin if he wants to run for mayor of Baltimore City.

McKeldin can't run for re-election for governor when his second term expires in 1958 and he has mentioned the mayoralty as a possibility.

However, since being governor he has lived and voted in Annapolis. The city charter requires a candidate for public office to have lived and voted for 10 years in Baltimore.

Del. Culotta (R-Balto 3d) has introduced a bill that would permit a person "who by reason of election to public office . . . temporarily to reside outside the city" to meet the residence qualification.

Motorist Paroled In Bedford Court

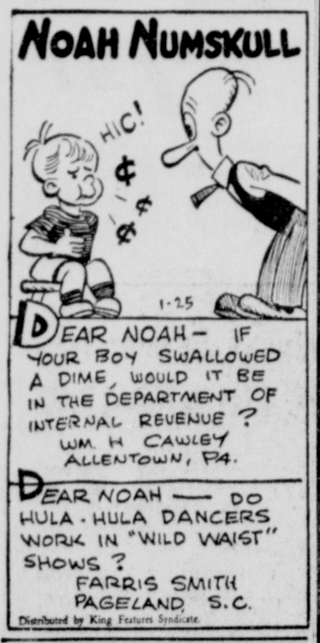

An area motorist was fined $100 and costs and placed on one-year probation in Bedford County Circuit Court on Monday.

The man, George E. Ritchey, RD 2, city, was sentenced after entering a plea of guilty to a motor vehicle charge of failing to stop at the scene of an accident.

He was apprehended early this month by Pennsylvania State Police for running down a surveyor's transit on U.S. Route 220, south of Bedford, and leaving the scene without identifying himself. Approximately $700 damage was caused in the accident.

Commission To Meet

County Teachers Institute Completes Survey Course On School Building

The third year study group of the Institute on Maryland Public Affairs was held last night at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

S. Russ Minter, local architect, was guest speaker. The study group has been making a survey on "How A School Building Comes Into Being." Visits have been made to the new Bruce School in Westernport, Parkside Elementary School in LaVale and Northest Elementary School now being built on Valley Road in Bowman's Addition section.

Comprised of school teachers, the study group meets weekly at Pennsylvania Avenue Elementary School. The 18 members represent Allegany and Fort Hill high schools, Carver, Centre Street, Parkside and Pennsylvania Avenue elementary schools. It is the first of five such groups in Cumberland and Allegany County to complete the three-year course.

Speakers covering every phase of the topic concerning school building included Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools; Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel; Mrs. Albert C. Cook and Mrs. Stanley Buckley, members of the Allegany County Board of Education; Delegate Lester B. Reed of the General Assembly; Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners; and William George, of the George Construction Company.

Members of the study group are Miss Lula M. Blonskey, Miss Mary Apple, Miss Margaret King, Miss Mae Mathews, Miss Mary Margaret Dougherty, Mrs. Edwena Arnold, Mrs. Samantha Lucas, Mrs. Minnie Lashley, Mrs. Lena Kenney, Mrs. Mary Radcliffe, Mrs. Irene Maphis, Mrs. Geraldine Mann, Miss Orpha Bonita Pritchard, Miss Gerardine Prichard, Miss Lillian Boughton, Miss Helen McFerran, Walter Crawford and Mrs. May J. Thomas.

During the first year of the program the group studied city, county and state governments, the second year studies were made of sewage disposal, Cumberland Thruway, C & O Canal Parkway, city finances, Allegany County Welfare Board, voting machines and caves of Allegany County. Miss Mildred Beck and W. Eugene Hilton of Pennsylvania Avenue School were leaders for the first two years. Mrs. May J. Thomas is the current leader.

The IMPA program in the county has 122 teachers in five groups. Miss Jane E. Grindle of Beall High School is chairman of the program. Past county chairmen who served during the development of the plan in Allegany County have been Miss Gertrude A. C. Williams, Beall High; Miss Olive P. Simpson, Allegany High; and Miss Mary E. Reed, Carver High. Miss Reed is currently a member of the state central committee on IMPA of the State Teachers Association.

Susan B. Anthony was fined $100 for voting in the 1872 United States presidential election, a half century before women won the right to vote.

Careful Addressing Keeps Mail From 'Dead' Office

Even though postal service efficiency has progressed rapidly in past years, many letters do not reach their destination because of insufficient addresses or illegible writing.

Postmasters of the district are joining postmasters of the nation in asking people sending letters or parcels to properly address them in order that they may not end up in the "dead letter" department.

This year the Post Office Department is looking forward to some 58 billion pieces of mail, more than 300 pieces for every man, woman and child in America, and more mail than the rest of the world combined.

According to postal authorities some people will confidently plunk a letter in the mail box addressed to "John Smith, City," or some such vague address, and expect it to be delivered.

Or they may write the address so carelessly that — by comparison — hen scratching looks as clear as newspaper print. Not only is the Post Office asking correspondents to write the full address legible but also to print a return address.

Those in the postal service who are legally empowered to open lost letters in the hope of finding a clue to the addressee or sender could tell many stories of heartbreak, lost friendships, want and need that certainly must have ensued from loss of some of the letters they have handled and could not deliver.

In the olden days there was no such thing as street and route addresses for most people and this is an example of how a letter might have been addressed:

"To Tom Smith
Who Lives in the Blue House
Next to the Red Barn
Near to the Hog Wallow where Tom Nesbitt's Sow, Susy,
Drownded last Year."

Sheep outnumber people three to one in 175-square-mile Andorra, tiny Pyrenees nation.

The huge beak of the aracari, a Brazilian bird, bears markings like written letters.

LIKES WAF — Anna Grace Hall, Oldtown, who enlisted in the Women of the Air Force on June 4, the day she graduated from Oldtown High School, has written to local Air Force recruiters thanking them for the opportunity given her in the service. She is stationed at Geiger Field, Spokane, Wash., after training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, followed by two months specialist training at Kesler Air Force Base, Mississippi. She is assigned to Geiger Field as an Aircraft Control and Warning Specialist, and plans to make the WAF her career.

Two Local Marines In Inaugural Parade

Two local Marines, who are stationed at Quantico, Va., took part in the Inaugural Parade Monday in Washington.

They are Pfc. Forest L. Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forest L. Morris, 406 Pennsylvania Avenue, and husband of the former Miss Norita Boone, 15 Pennsylvania Avenue; and Pfc. John A. Veach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geiman D. Veach, 506 Park Street, and husband of the former Miss Mary E. Robinette, RFD 2, city.

Aliens Must Register Before January 31

Donald T. Williams, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said aliens in Maryland have less than one more week in which to comply with the federal law requiring that aliens report their address to the Government during January of each year.

The Immigration official urged all aliens who have not yet complied to go as soon as possible to the nearest Post Office or Immigration Service office to file the report.

Parents or guardians must file the report for alien children under 14 years of age, or those incompetent, or under custodial care.

Mr. Williams said the address report is required each year from all aliens except those in diplomatic status, foreign representatives assigned to the United Nations, and Mexican national contract laborers.

He pointed out willful failure to comply carries penalties including a fine and deportation.

The official said an estimated 13,000 aliens have already complied with the address report requirement, compared to 15,000 who filed address reports last year.

Views Differ On Zhukov 18-Day Tour Of India

By EUGENE LEVIN

NEW DELHI, India, Jan 24 (AP)—India and Russia appear to have two very different views on Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov's 18-day tour of India beginning today.

The Russians seem anxious to stir up a ballyhoo similar to that which accompanied Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev on their visit to this country 13 months ago.

The Soviet Embassy has been distributing biographies and photos of Zhukov, a World War II marshal. Wednesday it invited Indian newsmen to see a 30-minute documentary movie on his life.

The Russians also leaked to Indian newsmen a rumor that Zhukov is on a mission to explain events in Hungary to Prime Minister Nehru.

The Indians are playing down any political implications. The Foreign Ministry said the tour is strictly a Defense Ministry affair. Nehru has a date to see Zhukov, but not until 24 hours after he arrives.

As far as the Indian government is concerned, Zhukov's main mission is to represent the Kremlin at the Jan. 26 Republic Day parade.

Afterward he will tour military installations.

Zhukov is not the only Communist visitor who was to get a relatively subdued welcome here today. Red China's Premier Chou En-lai is arriving from Afghanistan for an overnight stop soon after Zhukov gets in.

Some Indian circles believe Nehru does not want Chou to have too much publicity, especially with Zhukov here.

Indian officials have let it be known privately they are not happy with Chou's East Europe tour and full endorsement of Moscow's role in Hungary.

There are nearly 200 separate railroads in Cuba.

Bedford Rd. Firemen Answer 14 Calls

Members of the Bedford Road Volunteer Fire Company answered a total of 14 calls last year, including seven grass fires.

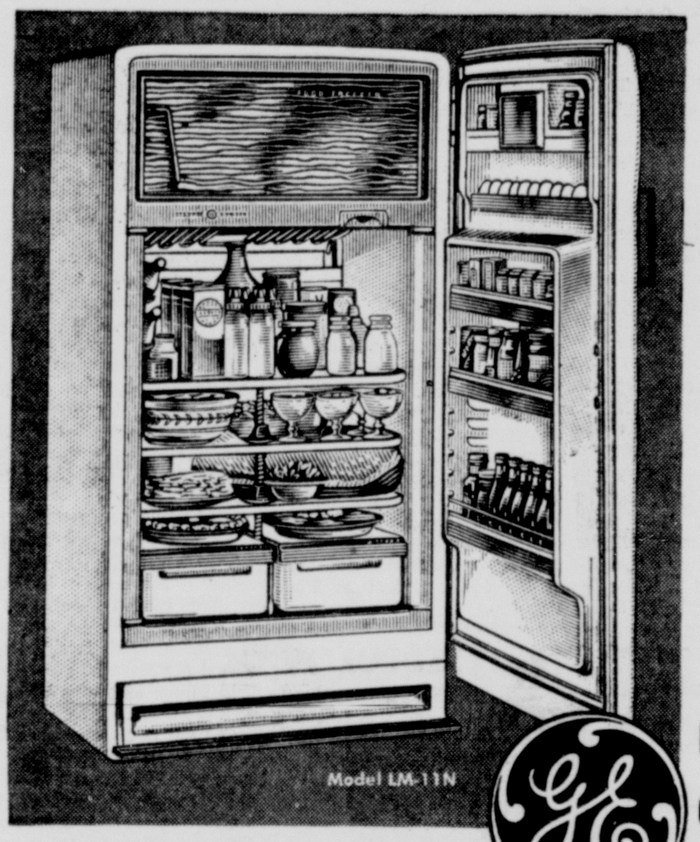

During that period one flue fire was checked by the volunteers. They also quenched fires at four rural homes and helped fight the fire which destroyed the Queen City Glass Company last year in LaVale.

The firemen also participated in a Civil Defense run.

Keyser To Host Band Festival On April 27

16 High Schools To Participate

KEYSER—A regional band festival will be held in Keyser, on April 27, with 16 bands in the region eligible to attend. This is a new development in band festivals and will be held annually hereafter in this area.

The selection of Keyser as the site was decided at a meeting held at Romney last Saturday. Among the high schools represented were Romney; Charles Town, Petersburg, Harpers Ferry, and others.

To the city of Keyser, it will mean approximately 1,000 band students visiting in the community.

Following an audition and rating during the morning, a parade of all bands will move through the business section of the city.

The purpose of the festival is to give the bands their individual ratings in the three classes, "A," "B," and "C," which are set up according to the size of the bands. These schools are also eligible to attend an area band festival which is to be held at Clarksburg early in May, where bands from the entire northeastern area will attend.

Citizens of Keyser are urged to join with the high school band in extending a welcome to the visitors and help make the festival a success.

Two More High School Seniors Entered In Somerset Co. Maple Queen Contest

Tenth Annual Competition February 13

MEYERSDALE, Pa.—A vocal solo and a chalk drawing are talents of two more Somerset County high school seniors who have entered the Maple Queen Contest. The annual preliminary event of the Somerset County Maple Festival will be held Wednesday, February 13 in the Cochran Junior High School auditorium in Johnstown.

The newcomers who will vie for the title of Pennsylvania's Queen Maple X are Miss Shirley Ann Keith of Forbes Joint High School, and Miss Linda Marie Brougher of Conemaugh Township High School.

Competition for the Maple Queen title, a state senatorial scholarship, a $100 Maple Festival educational award, and numerous other gifts, began in the county's 12 high schools in November, 1956. The contest will bring together one contestant from each high school. In addition to the Maple Queen, judges will name two maids of honor and nine maple princesses.

The queen-elect and her court will participate in coronation ceremonies in Meyersdale, April 5, which will mark the opening of a three-day program celebrating the closing of another maple season.

Miss Keith is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Keith of Hooversville. The 17-year-old senior is five feet six inches tall, is fair complexioned and has blue eyes. The 105-pound blonde is a commercial student and her school activities include membership in the knitting club, Tri-Hi-Y and chorus.

For her talent number she will sing "On Life's Highway" by Bertrand and Brown. Miss Keith will be accompanied by Marylin Shaver. Following graduation the Forbes senior hopes to attend business school and further her music.

Miss Keith is a member of the Hooversville Church of the Brethren. Her hobbies include playing the piano, knitting, crochetting and sewing.

Miss Brougher is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olin H. Brougher of Johnstown RD 4. At Conemaugh Township High School she is an academic student and participates in the National Honor Society, band, orchestra, school paper, yearbook, choir, Thespians, junior and senior plays, and Future Teachers of America Club.

Standing five feet three inches tall, Miss Brougher has light brown eyes and reddish-brown hair. The fair complexioned 112-pounder will present an original chalk drawing for her talent number. She will be accompanied by Judy Liska.

A consistent honor roll member, 17-year-old Miss Brougher enjoys playing the oboe, art and reading as hobbies. She is a member of the Tire Hill Church of the Brethren, and following graduation she plans on entering Indiana State Teachers College to further her education. She also was a member of all-county, district and state bands, and district and state orchestras.

Tri-Towns Fire Company Takes Training Course

PIEDMONT — The Tri Towns Fire Company membership is taking a course in basic fire fighting, with 100 per cent of the firemen participating, according to Fire Chief Vernon Hamilton.

Firemen hold their regular meeting each Tuesday and the course is being given each Thursday night at the fire hall. Last week, an instructor from the Mine Rescue Team at Kitzmiller gave the men a lesson and demonstration in use of various kinds of gas masks. Robert Byrus, of the Fire Extension Service of the University of Maryland also spoke to the class.

Vernon Hamilton, president reported last night that funds realized from a recent solicitation have been used to purchase fog nozzles, a new spot light for the fire truck, warning lights and a first aid kit, along with other miscellaneous equipment needed by the fire-fighting unit.

Lonaconing's Dime Campaign Gets Underway

Numerous Events Are Announced

LONACONING — J. Bradley Marshall, chairman, aims for the Lonaconing March of Dimes 1957 drive to top the $1097 collected last year.

"Marching Mothers" on Tuesday, January 29, will do as last year in helping Lonaconing's campaign attain the goal. "M Day" will be the day to bring home the reminder to get Salk shots now to insure maximum protection against next summer's polio incidence. Families must begin now to space shots in time to have all three vaccinations by next summer. The "Mothers March" will take this message to every door.

Sunday and Monday, theatre collections will be made for Lonaconing's polio drive. Mrs. Emily McIntyre and Mrs. Annie Keyes again will be responsible for this collection.

"Coffee Day" will be planned for Thursday, January 31.

A dance will be held Thursday, January 31, at the Lonaconing Republican Club. At the schools the March of Dimes cards and envelopes are distributed to the students so that they can contribute.

"Teen-Day" on January 26, will feature a "Teenagers Drive for Polio" from 11 p. m. until 1 p. m. Mrs. Virginia Steiding is sponsor.

The principal committee is Peggy Stakem, chairman, Sandy Carter, Ruth Deniker, Sandy Dillon, Anne Perry Chappel, Rosalene McKenzie, Judy Marshall, Brenda Ravenscroft, Rae Ann Eichhorn and Sally Kelly.

Poster committee is Sandy Carter, chairman, Brenda Ravenscroft, Doris Lee Click and Bob Hyde. Publicity committee is Anne Perry Chappel, Ruth Deniker, Peggy Stakem and Rosalene McKenzie.

Girls to carry out the March of Dimes drive, committee members are Peggy Stakem, Sandy Carter, Kay Kirk, Patsy Hersick, Betty Williams, Bonnie Rennie, Rosalene McKenzie, Virginia Ritchie, Judy Marshall, Brenda Ravenscroft, Sally Kelly, Rae Ann Eichhorn, Judy Moffatt, Sandra McKinley, Ruth Deniker, Barbara Mowbray, Gail Ann Broadwater, Sally Steiding, Jeanne Cutter, Barbara Spencer, Grace Runion, Sandy Jones, Bonnie Neat, Mary M. W. Va. State Road Commission Gets Boost In Revenue

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 24 (AP)—The State Road Commission found today it had five million dollars more than it earlier had figured in the form of 1957 resources.

A commission announcement explained that five million to be received Feb. 14 upon the maturity of 90-day government notes was not shown in detailed accounting statements handed the Legislature and Gov. Cecil Underwood yesterday.

Commissioner Burl A. Sawyers accordingly sent along a letter today explaining the new development and suggested it be regarded as a supplement to the report.

Yesterday's detailed presentation set forth a 1957 roads program totaling $63,601,120 in calendar 1957 for primary and secondary routes.

The commission report broke down operations for calendar 1956, and proposed expenditures for 1957 on a project basis.

Sawyers has resigned as of Jan. 31, and his successor will not be bound by the proposed program for this year and that already mapped to some extent, particularly with respect to the federal interstate and other federal aid projects, for 1958.

Today's letter from Sawyers said that the newly discovered five million represented a reserve which could be distributed as a part of the 1957 program at the discretion of the commissioner.

Midland PTA Hears Panel On Child Problems

Midland—The regular monthly meeting of the Midland Parent Teachers Association was held in the school auditorium, Monday.

Opening exercises were conducted by Mrs. Dora Lancaster, spiritual advisor, who led the group in prayer, followed by the pledge. A panel comprised of Mr. Homer Higgins, supervisor of Pupil Personnel; Mr. Frederick Sheeley, visiting teacher and Mr. John Jeffries, Juvenile Court officer, discussed, "Children With Problems." Each member explained how their departments are trying to help maladjusted children find their proper place in school, home and society.

A business session followed, at which hostesses for the February Founder's Day birthday party, were selected.

Mrs. Jean George, chairman of the Parent-Child Study Group, announced that there would be a meeting this week, at which a film on Salk vaccine would be shown. Mrs. Florence Snelson will be the leader for this meeting.

There will be a Leadership Training Workshop held at Barton School on January 30, at 9:45 a. m. Members and potential members of the Parent-Child Study Group were urged to attend.

Announcement was made of the Allegany County Council meeting, at West Side School on February 4, 1957. The required number of delegates volunteered to attend.

Tentative plans were made, to have a minstrel at the March meeting. Mrs. Alfreda Clarke is chairman and will appoint a committee to serve on this program.

Donations were made to the Midland Health Center and the March of Dimes.

Mrs. Agnes Davis' room won the attendance award. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Jessie Smith's Home Room Mothers.

House Okays Salary Bill

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 24 (AP)—A bill to increase the salaries of 30 appointive State officials passed the House today, but one official will be called upon to do some explaining before the delegates tomorrow.

The vote on the bill, which now goes to the Senate, was 87-13. Opposing were 12 Democrats and one Republican.

The Senate sent one minor bill to the governor in its brief session.

On a motion by Del. England (D-Wyoming), the House voted to sit as a committee of the whole tomorrow morning and hear Adj. Gen. Charles R. Fox on the subject of his salary. He undoubtedly also will be asked about a newspaper statement attributed to him and mentioned by England in making the motion.

The Charleston Daily Mail in a story today quoted Fox as saying, with reference to his pay from sources other than his salary as adjutant general, "I don't think it's any of their (the House's) business."

England said, "I contend that it is the business of this House to know how much Gen. Fox makes from the taxpayers of this state and the United States."

Doorkeepers Meet

FROSTBURG—The Doorkeeper Society of the First Presbyterian Church met recently at the church. After a devotional service, led by Mrs. Kay Truly, committees to serve for the coming year were named and a program of activities was outlined by the group.

W.Va. Railroads Ask PSC For Freight Rate Boost

Petition Filed To Buy Telephone Company

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 24 (AP)—West Virginia's railroads told the Public Service Commission today they need increased freight rates within the state to offset increases in wages and costs last year.

The Interstate Commerce Commission granted approximately seven per cent freight rate increases last month, and the railroads operating within West Virginia want similar increases for intrastate hauls.

Six attorneys appeared before the PSC. They explained that the largest single increase last year resulted from new wage agreements signed in November with nearly all the railroad brotherhoods.

The railroads asked for the new rates effective Monday.

The Duncan Telephone Co. of Davis will ask the PSC Monday for permission to sell its Inwood, Berkeley County, operations to the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co.

Duncan claims Inwood, 115 miles from Davis, is difficult to maintain and operate. The C&P would integrate operations with its exchanges at Martinsburg, Hedgesville and Berkeley Springs.

The proposed sale price is $225,000.

Bumper Crop Makes Corn A Worthwhile Food Buy

You can become the queen of the household when you serve meals fit for a king, especially when it doesn't take a king's ransom to pay for them, says Virginia McLuckie, Food Economist, Department of Markets, University of Maryland.

Growing conditions for sweet corn were so favorable last year that a bumper crop was harvested making it possible for processors to give us a record breaking pack of canned corn for use in these months of 1957. The canned goods shelves of your grocery stores are already reflecting the supply. Many merchants are offering bargain sales and bargain rates on quantity lots to encourage you to take advantage of stocking the pantry shelves while supplies are plentiful.

Folks who like their scalloped corn and other similar dishes have a lot of pleasureful eating ahead. Canned corn stands ready for all sorts of menu duties in soups, fritters, puddings, cold vegetable salads, and vegetable combination dishes. Corn chowder is a natural for wintery weather. Corn fritters are a novel accompaniment for a main dish or good with syrup for lunch or Sunday supper. Corn adds variety to pancakes and waffles. Corn is available in both white and yellow varieties and in both whole kernel and cream style. On the basis of nutritive value and servings available, the cream style pack is slightly more concentrated than whole kernel form. In the same size cans, cream style will make more servings than whole kernel corn.

Fresh vegetable economies will have potatoes at the top of the list. Potatoes are easy on the budget and satisfying to the palate. Potatoes bought in larger sized units cost less per pound than those bought in smaller amounts. In buying new potatoes, purchase only the amount that will be used within a week. Old potatoes keep well if stored in a dark cool place.

Potatoes come in new forms these days. Among them are potatoes in flakes and granules which make delicious, fluffy mashed potatoes the minute hot milk or water is added. Frozen french fried potatoes are ready-to-eat after heating.

Frozen potato patties, already seasoned and floured are ready for browning in melted butter. Also among the processed potato items are canned whole potatoes, canned french fried potatoes or potato strips and potato chips. Cooked potatoes also appear frequently as an item in frozen meals. It is seldom that fresh potatoes sell at prices which make the cost per serving as much as the cost per serving of dehydrated, canned, or frozen potatoes. Of course, with processed, frozen, or canned potatoes, there are added services which are of value to persons interested in saving time and work.

Other fresh vegetables included in the week's economies include rutabagas, cauliflower, and tomatoes.

Canned peaches demand special attention from food shoppers. Supplies are well above last year; but since this is a shelf item, prices may not show a drastic change. However, this is a good item to stock for winter fruit salads, desserts, and as an accompaniment with meats.

It is easy to include a serving of citrus every day when you have a choice of high quality pink and white grapefruit with low price tags. Temple oranges with lots of juice and a wonderful flavor are in good quality. This is an easy peeling orange for eating out of hand and in salads. From the west coast increasing receipts of Bosc and D'anjou pears are reaching the markets. These fresh pears are reasonably priced.

Grade A large eggs are right at the top of the list for economical meals. This is the season when supplies are good and quality is excellent. Use eggs as protein dishes for delicious eating.

Economical buys can be found at meat counters where a wide assortment is available. Recommended are chuck roasts and ham. Shop for specials and your family will eat like kings.

Corn Chowder Recipe

4 cups diced raw potatoes
4 tablespoons diced salt pork
2 cups corn
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons chopped parsley or celery leaves
2 cups boiling water
1 onion, chopped
2 cups milk
¼ teaspoon pepper

Boil the diced potatoes in the two cups of water for ten minutes. Fry the salt pork and onion until the onion is transparent. Add salt pork, onions, and corn to the potatoes. Cook until potatoes are tender. Add milk, salt and pepper. Bring mixture just to the boiling point; add the parsley or celery leaves.

Pork Shoulder Steaks Thrifty And Timely Buy

Treat your family to a meal of excellent flavor and bountiful nutrition at economical prices by serving pork shoulder steaks while pork is in seasonably good supply.

Pork shoulder steaks are closely related to pork chops—one of America's favorite meats. Similar in flavor, texture, and cookery methods to chops, pork shoulder steaks are almost always less expensive. The economy of the shoulder steaks is due to the law of supply and demand — fewer homemakers know about pork steaks and therefore choose the steaks less frequently than chops.

Like all cuts of fresh pork, the shoulder steaks are highly nutritious, for they are excellent sources of complete protein and food iron and the important B vitamins. And they are highly digestible.

The next time you shop for meat, look for the meaty pork shoulder steaks. You'll find there are three kinds: blade bone, round bone, and boneless. The blade bone and boneless shoulder steaks are cut from the Boston butt, which is a square or triangular piece of meat from the upper half of the shoulder. The round bone shoulder steaks, known as arm pork steaks, are cut from the center of the picnic shoulder.

Blade bone shoulder steaks were used in this recipe for braised steaks with lima beans, though the arm pork steaks or the boneless versions could be used equally well.

Braised Pork Shoulder Steaks With Lima Beans

1 cup dried lima beans
Salt
4 pork shoulder steaks
3 tablespoons fat
1 small onion, chopped
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar

Rinse lima beans, add 2½ cups hot water, and boil 2 minutes. Remove from heat, cover, and let stand 1 hour. Add 1 teaspoon salt and simmer 1 hour, or until beans are tender. (Add more water during cooking, if necessary.) Brown steaks in hot fat; add onion and cook until lightly browned. Remove steaks from skillet. To drippings, add beans and their liquid, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, bay leaf, brown sugar, vinegar, and 1 cup hot water. Arrange steaks on beans, cover and cook over low heat 1 to 1¼ hours or until meat is tender. 4 servings.

Another savory version of braised pork shoulder steaks is this one for glazed steaks. In this, the steaks are braised until they're fork tender, then they are brushed with spiced jelly and broiled 'til the jelly melts and gives the steaks a shiny coating.

Glazed Pork Shoulder Steaks

6 pork shoulder steaks
¼ cup flour
3 tablespoons fat
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup water
⅓ cup currant jelly
⅛ teaspoon allspice

Roll steaks in flour and brown on both sides in hot fat in a large skillet. Sprinkle with salt and pepper; add water to pan and cover skillet. Cook over low heat 1 hour or until meat is tender, adding more water if necessary. Using a fork, mash jelly and mix in allspice. Spread half the mixture over the steaks and broil 3 minutes; turn steaks, brush on remaining jelly and broil 3 minutes longer, or until jelly melts. 6 servings.

Pumpkin Pecan Sundae

¾ cup cooked, strained, pumpkin
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup maple sirup
½ cup chopped pecans
1 tablespoon melted butter
1 quart vanilla ice cream

Blend pumpkin, sugar, and seasonings in saucepan; stir in maple sirup. Cook until smooth and thickened about 8 minutes; remove from heat. Saute pecans in butter over medium heat 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Fold into sauce. Serve cold as sundae sauce over ice cream. Makes 6 servings. For a fluffier sauce add ½ cup of whipping cream, stiffly whipped.

Roasting And Broiling Procedures

Meat, without a doubt, has become the heart of American menus.

It is looked upon by many homemakers as the piece de resistance of the meal, and deservedly so.

Every homemaker, in relation to her own family needs, has learned by experience how to choose and prepare various meat cuts to suit her family's wants.

Choosing and buying meat for the family isn't the whole story.

To Roast:

1. Season with salt and pepper.
2. Place meat fat side up on a a rack in an open roasting pan.
3. Insert roast meat thermometer.
4. Do not add water. Do not cover. Do not baste.
5. Roast in a slow oven—300 degrees F. to 350 degrees F.
6. Roast to desired degree of doneness.

To Broil:

1. Set oven regulator to broil.
2. Place meat 2 or 3 inches from heat.
3. Broil until top of meat is brown.
4. Season with salt and pepper.
5. Turn meat and cook until done.
6. Season and serve at once.

The Bride Learns To Braise Meats

"Happy is the girl who learns to cook, either from her mother or from a book," is an adage the bride-to-be or the newly married girl often hears.

Brides today may know how to cook when they are married, but a review of certain types of cooking methods and procedures is invaluable to both the novice and the experienced cook.

Since the main dish of almost every meal centers around meat, a new cook needs to learn the best way to prepare each cut. This sounds like a lot to learn with so many kinds and cuts of meat available, but there are some easy basic rules to follow which make remembering easy.

Cooking Categories

Meat cuts fall into different categories according to the method of their preparation. The two basic ways to prepare meat are dry heat cooking and moist heat cooking. Roasting, broiling, panbroiling and pan-frying are dry heat methods; braising, simmering, and stewing are moist heat methods.

The meat cuts having less fat and more connective tissue should be prepared by a moist heat method. Certain cuts of beef, lamb, veal, and pork fall into this category and have the most flavor when braised (sometimes called pot-roasted).

Below is a list of meats to be braised. Clip this out for easy reference later, if you like. Paste it on a card for your recipe file, place it in the front of your favorite cookbook, or tack it to the inside of a cupboard door.

How To Braise

To braise means to cook the meat slowly in a small amount of liquid in a covered pan. Usually the meat is browned first. To brown, heat 2 or 3 tablespoons of fat in a heavy skillet and add the meat. Cook over medium heat until brown, then turn and brown the other side. Season the meat with salt and pepper. (Use 1 teaspoon salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper per pound of meat.) Add a half cup of liquid: water, bouillon or tomato juice are suitable liquids.

Cover the pan with a close-fitting lid and cook over low heat until the meat is tender. If necessary add more liquid in small amounts as the meat cooks. To determine doneness, insert a fork or the tip of a knife into the meat to check tenderness.

Seasoning Variations

You can vary the flavor of braised meats by changing the seasonings. Add one or more of these seasonings with the salt and pepper: bay leaf, basil, chili powder, garlic, onion, horse-radish, allspice, oregano, parsley, thyme, rosemary and mustard.

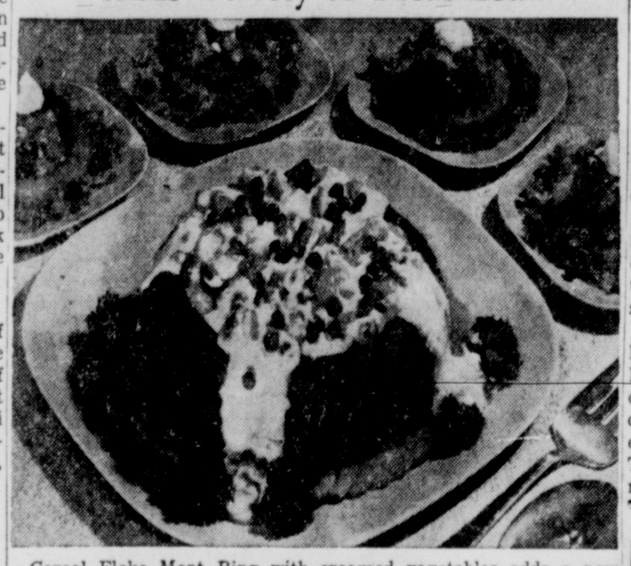

A Dixie Spread

Spread cranberry sauce on buttered bread, sprinkle generously with brown sugar and cinnamon (¼ to ½ teaspoon with ¼ cup brown sugar).

Here's another favorite. Spread cranberry sauce on 1 slice buttered bread, honey on another and sandwich together for good eating.

Cereal Flake Dinner Ring Adds Variety to Meat Loaf

Cereal Flake Meat Ring with creamed vegetables adds a new twist to the ever popular meat loaf. This dinner ring is tops in good eating. It is made with well-seasoned beef, pork, and whole wheat flakes. The slightly crushed whole wheat flakes are added to make it juicy, give it flavor, and add extra nutritive value.

Meat loaves are just one of the many ingredient uses of breakfast cereals, both hot and ready to eat. Cooky, pie crust, dessert, bread, muffin, and confection recipes have improved flavor, texture, and nutritive value with the addition of breakfast cereals.

Cereal Flake Meat Ring

1 egg, beaten
4 cups whole wheat flakes, slightly crushed after measuring 1½ pounds ground beef
½ pound ground pork
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup horseradish
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
2¼ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon Worchestershire sauce
1⅓ cups milk
4 cups creamed vegetables

Mix all ingredients except creamed vegetables together thoroughly. Pack meat mixture into a well greased 9-inch ring mold. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) 50 minutes. Loosen around edges and turn onto serving plate. Fill center with creamed vegetables. Yield: 8 servings.

Note: 4 cups of corn flakes may be substituted for the whole wheat flakes.

Simplified Meal Planning Described In New Booklet

A new and simplified daily food plan that can be used by the meal planner as a framework for constructing an adequate diet, has been developed by U.S. Department of Agriculture home economists. The plan stresses items from four broad food groups. And as a further help, foods are rated as sources of key nutrients in easily figured points instead of grams, milligrams, and International Units.

The plan is described in "Essentials of an Adequate Diet," a new Department publication designed as source material for nutritionists, Extension Workers, and others teaching in the field of food selection and menu planning.

The food plan offers homemakers a scientific means of following the repeated suggestion that eating a well-rounded, varied diet of many foods is the best way to get all the essentials of nourishment.

The authors of the plan, Louise Page and Esther F. Phipard of USDA's Agricultural Research Service, based their work on intricate and detailed measurements of food quantities and values, and on surveys of food consumption patterns and supplies. Their simplified food plan rates only calcium, protein, and vitamins A and C values.

The basic foods we need are "package deals," nutritionally speaking. In combination they supply not only the four key nutrients but also such a large share of other essentials—excepting possibly calories—that for normal diets one need not check food selections for amounts of each nutrient supplied.

The daily food plan calls for: At least 2 cups of milk or milk product (outstanding for calcium)—more for children and pregnant and nursing women.

Two or more servings of meat or protein alternate.

Four or more servings of vegetables and fruit (for vitamins A and C), including a dark-green or deep-yellow vegetable at least every other day, and a sitrus fruit or other fruit or vegetable rich in vitamin C every day.

Four or more servings of whole-grain, enriched, or restored bread or cereal (for other vitamins, minerals, added protein, and food energy).

Foods not emphasized in the daily plan—fats, oils, sugars, and unenriched refined cereal foods — usually appear in meals in combination with the specified foods, and nutritionwise, contribute chiefly calories.

Single copies of "Essentials of an Adequate Diet," ~~AIB-160~~, may be obtained free on request to the Office of Information, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

Try Beef Mexicana For Buffet Supper

Supper after outdoors sports in wintertime calls for healthy fare to match the appetites created by brisk, crisp weather. Yet, if the outdoors crowd is coming to your house, there is no need for you to remain in the kitchen to prepare a bountiful meal while others are having fun.

Informal suppers such as these frequently can be built around one big, satisfying casserole dish that is assembled in advance and stored in the refrigerator.

There is a bit of South of the Border influence in this Beef Mexicana, due to the addition of corn, ripe olives and grated process cheese. According to home economists in the Meadow Gold Test Kitchens, who adapted the recipe, the flavors will have a better chance to blend if the dish is prepared ahead of time.

Beef Mexicana
(8 Servings)

1 pound ground beef
¼ cup butter
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
1 10½-ounce can condensed tomato soup
1 cup milk
3 cups medium noodles, cooked
2 cups whole kernel corn
¼ cup chopped ripe olives
1½ cups grated process American cheese
Salt, pepper

Brown meat in butter; add onion and green pepper and cook until tender. Add remaining ingredients, reserving ½ cup cheese. Mix well. Pour mixture into a buttered 2 quart casserole. Cover tightly with foil and place in refrigerator. Just before baking, top dish with remaining ½ cup cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for about 35 minutes. Garnish with parsley and sliced ripe olives.

Bake your pet chocolate cake and frost it generously with this luscious butter cream frosting, speckled with finely chopped Clark candy bars. The candy lends a faint peanut butter flavor which harmonizes well with chocolate.

Crunchy Butter Cream Frosting
(For 2 9-inch cake layers)

Combine 2½ tablespoons cake flour and ½ cup milk. Cook over moderate heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool. Cream ½ cup butter and ½ cup granulated sugar until fluffy. Stir in flour mixture and beat well. Add 3½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla; mix well. Fold in 3 finely chopped Clark bars. Spread on cooled cake layers.

Shimmering Gelatin Salads Captivate Appetites

Carrying the bright tang of winter, these delightful salads conceal a bounty of crisp and crunchy fruits and vegetables. Ideal for a company luncheon or Sunday night supper party, all three gelatin salads are down-to-earth good eating.

The freshness and delicacy of apple-flavored gelatin in this Cottage Cheese and Pepper Salad, makes it a perfect companion for a roast pork dinner or buffet supper. Low in calories and tasty too, it has the earmarks of a substantial luncheon repast.

Try this salad for your next bridge luncheon — stuffed fresh pear halves captured in apple-flavored gelatin — it's a treat everyone will enjoy. The union of fruit flavors, cottage cheese and nutmeats is truly flavorsome.

For an especially festive occasion, fete your guests with Layered Ambrosia Salad. Colorful and full of fruity flavor it boasts double raspberry goodness in its two layers. The frothy base of raspberry-flavored gelatin and softened cream cheese is crowned with diced juicy organes molded in black raspberry-flavored gelatin. To complete the luscious company salad, serve with toasted coconut cream.

Stuffed Pear Salad

1 package apple-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup pear juice
¼ cup cottage cheese
⅛ cup chopped nuts
4 fresh pear halves

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add pear juice. Pour half of the mixture into a 1-quart mold or loaf pan and chill until slightly thickened. Then shape cheese into 4 balls and roll in chopped nuts. Place cheese balls in slightly thickened gelatin, evenly spacing them in a row. Arrange pear halves cut-side down on top of cheese balls. Pour remaining gelatin over pears. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with crisp lettuce. Serve with whipped cream dressing or a fruit juice salad dressing. Makes 4 large servings.

Layered Ambrosia Salad

1 package black raspberry-flavored gelatin
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
2 oranges, freed from membrane and diced.
1 package raspberry-flavored gelatin
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup cold water
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese, softened
Toasted Coconut Cream

Dissolve the black raspberry-flavored gelatin and ¼ teaspoon salt in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 cup cold water and chill until slightly thickened. Fold in diced oranges. Pour into a 2-quart mold and chill until almost firm.

Meanwhile dissolve the raspberry-flavored gealtin and remaining ¼ teaspoon salt in 1 cup hot water. Add 1 cup cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Place bowl in ice and water and whip gelatin until thick and fluffy. Fold in the softened cream cheese. Pour over gelatin in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold and serve with Toasted Coconut Cream. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

To make Toasted Coconut Cream, fold toasted coconut into either unsweetened whipped cream or sour cream.

Cottage Cheese & Pepper Salad

1 package apple-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cottage cheese
2 tablespoons diced green pepper
¼ cup diced celery
Dash of pepper
Dash of Tabasco sauce

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add cold water, vinegar, and salt. Pour one-third of mixture into 1-quart mold or individual molds. Chill until set. Meanwhile, fold rest of ingredients into remaining gelatin. Chill until slightly thickened. Pour over clear gelatin in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens. Makes 4 or 5 servings.

Spanish Spinach

Spinach is a delicious hot vegetable to serve with roasts and chops, and an appetizing way to serve it is to cook the spinach, then drain it and chop it finely. Brown a diced garlic clove in four tablespoons of Spanish olive oil, add the spinach and cook for 15 minutes.

Orange Muffins For Breakfast

Sundays and holidays are a time to enjoy a breakfast that is a breakfast!

Here's a menu idea:
Orange-Grapefruit Cup
Pork Sausage Links
Bacon Curls
Scrambled Eggs
Quick Orange Muffins
Coffee Milk

Cook the sausage links slowly in a small amount of water in a covered pan 8 to 10 minutes. Then remove the cover and brown the links thoroughly.

For the delicious muffins, remember to use lard for the delicate and light texture you enjoy in all your baked products.

Quick Orange Muffins

2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
½ cup sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
4 to 6 tablespoons lard
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 egg, beaten
½ cup orange juice

Grease 12 medium-sized muffin cups. Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Cut in lard until mixture has a fine even crumb. Add grated orange rind. Combine beaten egg and orange juice and add to dry ingredients, stirring only until flour is moistened. Fill muffin cups ⅔ full. Bake in a moderately hot oven (425° F.), 15 to 20 minutes. Yield: 12 medium-size muffins.

Curried Chicken With Rice Krispies

2 cups sliced onions
½ teaspoon minced garlic
1 cup diced celery
3 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon curry powder
2 cups milk
2 cups diced, cooked chicken
⅓ cup quartered blanched almonds
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
3 cups rice krispies
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Cook onions, garlic and celery in heated shortening until lightly browned. Mix flour, salt, pepper and curry powder; stir into onions, garlic and celery. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened, stirring occasionally. Stir in chicken, almonds and pimiento; simmer about 10 minutes. Mix rice krispies with melted butter; heat thoroughly. Arrange rice krispies in ring around edge of heated platter; fill center with Curried Chicken. Serve at once.

Yield: 6 servings.

Earmuffs were said to have been invented by a 15-year-old boy of Farmington, Me. He sold them door-to-door in 1873.

Cranberry Raisin Bread

(Use fresh cranberries in this recipe)

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½teaspoon baking soda
1 cup sugar
1 orange (juice and grated rind)
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
Boiling water
1 egg, well beaten
1½ cups fresh cranberries, chopped
1 cup raisins

Sift flour, salt, baking powder, soda, sugar into mixing bowl. Put orange juice and grated rind into measuring cup. Add melted shortening and enough boiling water (about 2 tablespoons) to make ¾ cup. Stir juice mixture and beaten egg into dry ingredients until just blended. Fold in chopped cranberries and raisins. Pour into greased (9" x 5" x 3") loaf pan. Bake in 350 degree oven 1 hour and 10 minutes. Remove from pan. Cool. Store overnight for easy slicing.

DEATHS AND FUNERAL NOTICES

William O. Gunnett, Frostburg, Dies

FROSTBURG — William O. Gunnett, 66 Bowery Street, died yesterday afternoon at Frostburg City Jail where he became ill.

The 47-year-old civil engineer had been in ill health for some time and was under a doctor's care. With his 80-year-old mother in Miners Hospital, the man requested quarters at the city jail late Tuesday night as he did not wish to remain alone at his residence.

Chief of Police Lloyd Truly said the man apparently was ill yesterday as he refused both breakfast and noon meals. About 2:40 p.m. the chief discovered Mr. Gunnett unconscious and called the man's family and a doctor but Mr. Gunnett was dead upon the doctor's arrival.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said Mr. Gunnett's death was due to natural causes.

Mr. Gunnett was a son of the late Olin Gunnett, former mayor of Frostburg who died last year, and Mrs. Annie Krause Gunnett who survives. He was a veteran of World War II, serving with the Army Engineers in Greenland.

He is survived also by a brother, Harry M. Gunnett of Baltimore.

The body is at the Durst Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are not complete.

MRS. GERTRUDE CARVER

JOHNSTOWN — Mrs. Gertrude Carver, 46, of here, died Tuesday in Lee Hospital.

A native of Johnstown, she was a daughter of Albert Withers of Augusta, W. Va., and the late Gertrude (McNally) Withers.

Besides her father, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Eleanor Cramer and Mrs. Grace Travotta, both of here; a son, Thomas Carver, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Grace Edwards and Mrs. Clara Wolford, both of here, and Mrs. Margaret Mock, of South Fork; three brothers, Magee Withers, Geistown; Emmett Withers, Tampa, Fla., and Roy Withers, San Francisco, Calif., and three grandchildren.

The body is at the Cammarata-Duca Funeral Home.

MRS. SARAH C. ORNDORFF

ROMNEY, W. Va. — Mrs. Sarah Catherine Orndorff, 86, died here yesterday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Carrie Corbin. She had been in ill health since December.

A lifelong resident of Romney, she was a daughter of the late James and Mary (Miller) Nealis, and the widow of Edward L. Orndorff. Mrs. Orndorff was a member of the Methodist Church.

She is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. Bertha Turley, Petersburg; Mrs. Grace Wolford and Miss Clara Orndorff, both of here; three sons, William, Romney; Guy, Westernport, Md., and Percy Orndorff, Piedmont; a brother, Cris, Pittsburgh, Pa.; a sister, Mrs. Lula Hott, Burlington, and 32 grandchildren.

The body is at the Combs Funeral Home here, where a service will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Ralph T. McCord, pastor of Romney Methodist Church. Burial will be in Indian Mound Cemetery.

JAMES B. RALSTON

KEYSER, W. Va. — James Bennett Ralston, 61, died Wednesday at Newton D. Baker VA Center Hospital, Martinsburg, where he had been a patient for several days.

He was a son of the late Hamilton T. and Mary E. (Urice) Ralston, and was a lifelong resident of Keyser.

Mr. Ralston was a retired machinist for the B&O Railroad. He was a member of Nancy Hanks Post 3518, VFW, and a veteran of World War II.

Survivors include three sons, James B. Jr., Mingo Junction, Ohio, and William C. and Robert F. Ralston, both of Cleveland, Ohio; a daughter, Mrs. Otie Davis, Keyser, and two grandchildren.

The body will be at the Rogers Funeral Home here this afternoon. Funeral services will be conducted there tomorrow at 10 a. m. by Rev. Lowell R. Rogers, of Burlington. Burial will be in Cabin Run Cemetery.

Military rites will be accorded at graveside by the VFW.

DAVID WILLIAMSON

GRAFTON, W. Va. — David Williamson, 88, of Simpson, retired coal mine operator, died yesterday at St. Mary's Hospital, Clarksburg. He had been in ill health the past three years.

He was born June 11, 1866 at Kirkcaldy, Scotland, a son of the late David and Isabella (Miller) Williamson.

Mr. Williamson was the former general manager of the Maryland Coal Company at Wendel and of Simpson Creek Colliery Company at Galloway. He was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church of Rosemont.

Twice married, Mr. Williamson's first wife was the late Sarah J. (Parks) Williamson. His second wife, Elizabeth (Gallagher) Williamson, also preceded him in death.

He is survived by three sons, Casper, Frostburg, Md.; Robert, Harrisburg, Pa., and David P. Williamson, Youngstown, Ohio; a daughter, Miss Betty Williamson, at home; a brother, John, Kirkcadly, Scotland; a grandchild and a great-grandchild. Another brother, James Williamson, Kirkcadly, died December 12, 1956.

A requiem mass will be celebrated tomorrow at 9 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church by Rev. Charles R. Carroll. Burial will be in Laurel Hill Cemetery at Moscow, Md.

The body is at the Bartlett Funeral Home here, where the Rosary will be recited today at 8:45 p. m. by Father Carroll.

CLAUDE W. FERTIG

KEYSER — Claude Wellington Fertig, 73, retired school teacher and farmer, died Wednesday at the home of a son, Wendell W. Fertig, Baltimore. He had been in failing health for some time.

Born in Iowa, Mr. Fertig was a son of the late John R. and Elizabeth (Everette) Fertig. His wife, the former Bessie Peter, died in 1936. He held membership in Mineral Baptist Church.

Survivors include another son, Homer L. Fertig, Sacramento, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Ida Staggs, Fountain, and Mrs. Ora M. Noland, Hollywood, Calif., and two grandchildren.

The body will be taken to Mineral Baptist Church Saturday at 1 p. m. for services at 2 with Rev. Warren Shields, Romney, officiating. Burial will take place in the church cemetery.

UPTON SERVICE

Services for Upton L. Rummer, 69, of 703 Lafayette Avenue, who died Tuesday night at his home, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. at the Stein Funeral Home with Rev. T. Wilbur Lawton, pastor of Southminster Presbyterian Church, officiating. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Woodrow Elliott, William Settle, Charles Johnson, T. H. Gray, Roger Eckels and John Breighner.

CONNER SERVICES

Services for Ora Ola Conner, 68, Jacksonville, Fla., who died Tuesday at the home of his brother, Vernon W. Conner, 841 Columbia Avenue, will be conducted today at 2 p. m. at the Kight Funeral Home. Rev Paul Conley, assistant pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, will officiate and interment will be in the Madley Cemetery at Madley, Pa.

PATRICK FUNERAL

WESTERNPORT — Funeral services for Florian A. Patrick, 64, formerly of here, who died Monday at his home at Kansas City, Mo., will be conducted tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the Boal Funeral Home here. Rev. LaSalle Faces Allegany, Ridgeley Tests Unbeaten WVSD

City Game At Campobello, PVC Feature At Ridgeley

Martinsburg Hosts Ft. Hill; Elk Garden Plays Mountaineer

Allegany High School will put a pair of winning streaks on the line when it collides with the Explorers of LaSalle High School in the seventy-second game of their basketball series tonight at Campobello.

Gene Shaw's Campers will be gunning for their ninth victory in a ro· and their 15th consecutive triumph on the home floor since early in the 1955-56 campaign.

A win would give the Blue and White a 2-0 record in the triangular city series, their first victory having been at the expense of Fort Hill on the latter's court, 71-50. Fort Hill whipped LaSalle on Tuesday night by the score of 66-51, and now is 1-1 in the city race. Allegany is the defending champion.

LaSalle's overall record is 6-6 while the Campobello quintet has chalked up 11 wins in 12 outings and reigns as favorite for tonight's tilt. The Campers have scored 70 or more points in 8 of their 12 games and have a point average of 70.25.

The Explorers' last win in the series came in the initial game of 1955 when they dumped the Campers at Campobello, 60-57. AHS, however, took the finale, 66-62 at SS. Peter and Paul gym. Last season LaSalle held Allegany to a 63-61 score on the Fayette street court but got clobbered on the Sedgwick street boards, 87-61.

The score in the all-time series between the schools, inaugurated in 1921 shows that AHS holds a good-sized margin in victories, 47 to 24.

George Visnovsky and Ray Grimm from the Johnstown area will officiate tonight's contest set for 8 o'clock.

Bulldogs Play Fort Hill

Jubilant over its victory of Tuesday night, Fort Hill steps out of the county tonight to engage George Whitacre's Martinsburg High School Bulldogs in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League contest in Martinsburg. Fort Hill is 0-3 in the circuit and one of the setbacks came at the hands of the Bulldogs, 49-40, in the Sentinels' opening tilt of the current campaign. Martinsburg won six of its first seven games and is tied with North Hagerstown and Frederick in the league at two wins and one loss each. Fort Hill has won three and lost eight.

Trying to shake off the effects of 52-48 setback at Lonaconing on Tuesday at the hands of Elk Garden's Stags, Valley High's Black Knights will be striving to get back in the win column when they host Southern High of Oakland in 'Coney tonight. Valley is 9-4 for the season, including a 63-58 decision over the Garrett countians who have dropped 10 in a row since winning the season opener.

Big Game At Ridgeley

What looms as the last big hurdle in West Virginia School for the Deaf's drive for its first P.V.C. championship comes tonight at Ridgeley when "Mac" Norwood's Lions, 6-0 in the league, battle the Ridgeley Blackhawks, who jolted Piedmont out of first place Tuesday by snapping the 7-game victo· string of "Huck" Miers' aggregation. Ridgeley is 5-4 in the league but is regarded as dangerous. Tom O'Connor's outfit lost the opening game of the series in Romney, 54-49, and will have to be "up" to overtake the powerhouse sparked by Gene Smith and Charley Buemi. Fort Ashby, Wardensville and Romney remain as the WVSD's only PVC opponents after tonight's contest.

Petersburg at Moorefield, Berkeley Springs at Paw Paw, Mathias at Franklin and Keyser at Romney are the other P.V.C. games on tap. Berkeley Springs is 5-0 in the league.

Bruce At Piedmont

The annual "Battle of the Tri-Towns" is set for tonight when Bruce High's Bulldogs play the Piedmont High Lions at the latter place. Piedmont is 8-3 for the season while Leonard Ritchie's aggregation has bagged four out of 11 games.

Ebbie Finzel's Beall High Mountaineers play Fort Ashby High School once this season and this engagement is set for tonight at Frostburg. Beall will be shooting for win No. 10 in 12 outings. Fort Ashby comes to the Mountain City with a 6-8 log.

Mounties Test Elks

Herman "Buddy" Meyer, the area's high point scorer with 314 points to his credit in 10 games, leads Ed Supak's Mountaineer High cagers from Thomas into the lair of the high-flying Elk Garden quint tonight. Elk Garden, one of the best "comeback" teams of the season, has reeled off eight wins in a row and will be going for win No. 10. Coach Paul Kalbaugh's quint has lost four, including the first three games of the campaign. Mountaineer High owns an 8-2 record.

Hyndman High School's Hornets (10-4) tackle Bedford's Bisons in a Bedford County League contest at Bedford, Sanders is at Charles Town and South Hagerstown's Rebels invade Frederick for other scholastic battles.

Potomac Hits Road

Allegany Beagle Club Point Trial Set For Saturday

The first in the annual series of six Plan B Point Trials will be held Saturday by the Allegany Beagle Club on the Barton Dairy Farm, McMullen highway.

Drawings in the 13 inch class will be made at 8 a .m., and in the 15 inch class at 1 p. m.

Jay Hall of Laughlintown, Pa., will judge the events and will be assisted by a member of the Allegany Beagle Club.

Meals will be served at the club house.

Maccabees, Calvary Cop Sunday School Basketball Games

The Maccabees took the measure of Emmanuel Episcopal, 39-31, and Calvary E. U. B. downed the South Cumberland Salvation Army in games played yesterday at the YMCA in the American Division of the Sunday School Basketball League.

S. Kaplon was high scorer for the Maccabees with 10 points while Torkington headed Emmanuel Episcopal with nine tallies.

Bearinger rang up seven goals and 19 points for Calvary E. U. B. Netzer was top scorer for the Salvation Army with nine points. Lineups:

The Citadel Names Erwin As Coach

CHARLESTON, S. C., Jan. 24 (AP)—Mack Erwin of Catawba College today accepted the football backfield and head baseball coaching posts at The Citadel.

Officials of the Salisbury, N. C., school announced that Erwin, who came to Catawba last fall from Lenoir Rhyne College, had accepted. He is a Davidson College graduate.

He is the third football assistant to be named to the staff of Eddie Teague, who two weeks ago succeeded John Sauer as head coach.

All-Staters Recognized

Three Cumberland boys who received All-State football recognition during the past season were given special recognition last night at the "Bosses Night" dinner of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce. Thomas A. Mont Jr., former Cumberlander and head football coach at the University of Maryland, extreme right, is shown shaking hands with Carl Brown, Allegany tackle, who was a first-team selection. Pictured, left to right, are Dalton Hillegas, Fort Hill back who made the second All-State team; Tom Snyder, Fort Hill end and first team selection; Brown, George L. Carney Jr., chairman of State Jaycee selection committee, and Coach Mont.

St. Mary's Snaps 20-Game String Of SS. Peter-Paul

Harden's Goals Win Overtime Catholic Loop Game, 46-43

St. Mary's cracked the two-year 20-game winning streak of SS. Peter and Paul by defeating the Catholic Youth League's defending champions last night in an overtime battle on St. Mary's court, Oldtown road, by the score of 46-43.

Coach Dick Blake's runner-up club tied the score at 40-40 as the regulation game ended on a field goal by Gary Blake and sewed it up in the extra period by outscoring the Fayette streeters 6 to 3.

In the overtime stanza Allen Lueck put St. Mary's in front with a field goal but a field goal and foul by Carroll Wilt gave SS. Peter and Paul a 43-42 advantage. Then Donnie Harden sank two field goals for St. Mary's to settle the issue.

The loss was the first in eight starts for SS. Peter and Paul this season but failed to yank them out of first place. St. Mary's now is a half game off the pace with a 6-1 record.

Wilt was the game's high scorer with 24 points on eight goals and 8-11 fouls. Mike Long was the "big gun" for St. Mary's with eight fielders, 6-8 fouls and 22 markers.

St. Peter's of Westernport also pulled a surprise last night by defeating St. Patrick's on SS. Peter and Paul court by the score of 39-34.

The visiting quint led throughout, the quarter scores being 9-7, 19-11 and 39-32.

Bill Davis was St. Peter's top scorer with 16 points and Tom Cangianelli collected 11. DeArcangelis was high for St. Patrick's with ten points. Lineups:

Softball Player, 75, Collapses And Dies

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP)—A softball player collapsed and died today during a game between St. Petersburg's famous Kids and Kubs teams; limited to men at least 75 years old.

Walter B. Helms, 75, collapsed after he had made a long run in an unsuccessful attempt to catch a foul fly. He was playing left field for the Kids. The game was called off.

Dr. E. R. Koontz, county medical examiner, attributed death to a heart attack.

Franklin Edges Warriors, 52-50

FRANKLIN, W. Va., Jan. 24—A field goal by Stan Dahmer with two seconds remaining in the game was the margin of victory here tonight by Franklin High School over Wardensville in a thrilling PVC contest. The score was 52 to 50.

Franklin, who won their first game of the season in an overtime contest with Paw Paw Monday, led the entire game until the last 46 seconds of play. Cliff Glover tied the game to set up the exciting finish.

Jack Simon paced the Panthers with 21 points on nine goals and three for four from the foul lane. Murphy chipped in with 10 tallies.

Big gun for the losers was Dave Orndorff who tossed in a total of 18 points. Miller and Kotz each had 12 and 10 markers.

The win was the eighth against five setbacks for Coach Curtis "Gus" Smith's charges for the campaign.

P. K. Wrigley Insists Baseball Day Sport

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (AP)—Wrigley Field will continue to remain the only major league park without night baseball, owner P. K. Wrigley indicated today.

Denying a rumor the Chicago Cubs were planning to install lights, Wrigley asserted: "The story is ridiculous."

Wrigley, insistent that baseball is a day sport only, has opposed night play at the Cubs' Los Angeles farm club in the Pacific Coast League which has a lighting system.

Mrs. G. W. Bibby Is Defeated At Ft. Lauderdale

Mary Downey Wins Over Mrs. Glick

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP)—Marlene Stewart riddled par and her first round opponent today and promptly predicted she can win this year's Helen Lee Doherty Amateur Tournament.

The tiny Canadian displayed terrific sub-par golf in ousting Mrs. G. P. Wilson Jr. of Louisville, Ky., 5 and 4.

She was five under women's par for the 14 holes the match required over the par 38-38—76, 6,048-yard Coral Ridge Country Club.

Other favorites advancing to the second round with Marlene included co-medalists Anne Quast of Marysville, Wash. and Dot Kirby of Atlanta and defending champion Joanne Goodwin of Dartmouth, Mass.

Other first round results:

Mrs. Grady McDonald, Atlanta, defeated Mrs. G. W. Bibby, Cumberland, Md., 3 and 2.

Mary Ann Downey, Baltimore, defeated Mrs. Maurice Glick, Baltimore, 7 and 6.

Mary Pat Janssen, Charlottesville, Va., defeated Elizabeth Long, Roxboro, N.C., 6 and 4.

Chicago Cubs Sign Minor League Stars

CHICAGO, Jan. 24 (AP) — Two players brought up from his championship Los Angeles team by new Chicago Cub Manager Bob Scheffing today signed 1957 Bruin contracts.

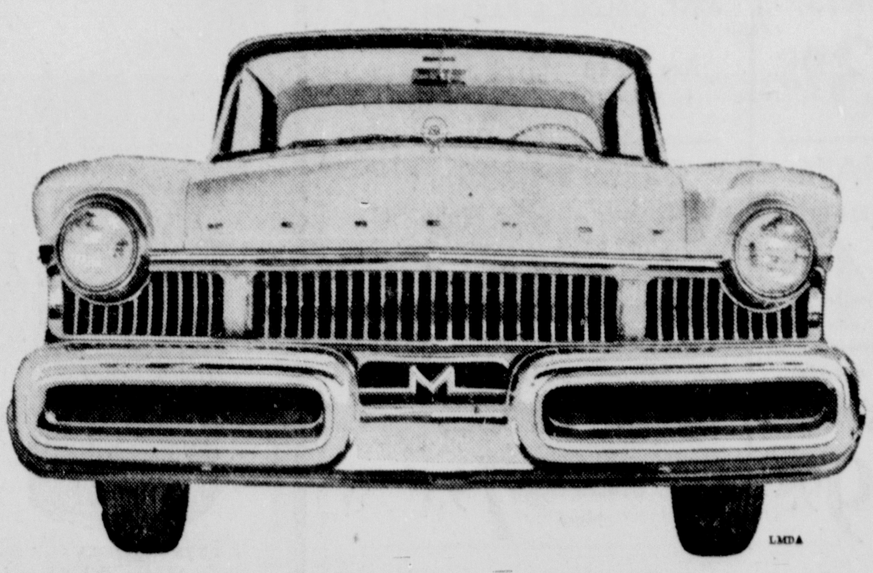

They are outfielder Jim Bolger, 24, who hit .326 as the Angels' cleanup hitter last season, and right handed pitcher Gene Fodge, 25, who had a 19-7 Los Angeles record despite a slow start.

Old Germans Win Seventh Game In Row

Top Rec Five, 91-67, Tie Peskin For Lead

Posting their seventh consecutive victory, the Old Germans whipped the Rec Five last night by the score of 91-67 at Fort Hill High School gym and tied Peskin's for the leadership of the City Basketball League.

The deadlocked leaders have 7-0 records.

Fritz Showers was high scorer for the Old Germans with 20 points while Don Moran pitched in 18 points and Jim Eckard had 16. Bratt topped the losers with 18 markers.

Paced by Paul Mason who slammed in 10 field goals and 24 points, the Forty and Eight Club downed the Knights of Columbus, 75 to 52. The win was the third in nine outings for Forty & Eight while the winless Knights suffered their eighth loss.

Kelly scored 12 points and N. Geatz and Minke 10 each for the losers. Lineups:

New Racing Dates? Change Grid Rules

Set 22-Game Limit An Endurance Test

By C. V. BURNS

D. ELDRED RINEHART, chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission, informs us that no change has been made in the racing dates assigned Hagerstown and Cumberland for this year but there may be some changes in the half milers' schedule when he meets with the Maryland Fair Board in February.

Dates already assigned Cumberland are Sept. 23-Oct. 5 and Hagerstown September 9-21.

Both half milers have protested. Hagerstown wants August dates for its 12-day session while Cumberland desires early September dates as last year.

CRESCENT BRIDE, supervisor of physical education for Montgomery County schools, represented Maryland at the recent meeting in Chicago of the Football Rules Committee of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations, and lists the following as the major rules changes for next fall:

1. All reference to flying block or flying tackle is deleted. (It wasn't being enforced anyway.)

2. It is a false start (and subject to a 5-yard penalty) if there is any movement of hand, head, foot or body by any interior lineman after he has taken a starting position on the line. (The end, apparently are immune to this.)

3. One player from either team may talk to his coach on the sidelines during a timeout taken by either team. (Coaches managed to get around the old rule regarding "illegal coaching" from the sidelines.)

4 It is a personal foul to grab an opponent by his face guard (unless he's carrying the ball).

THERE ARE a number of exceptionally high individual foul shooting performances this season in the tri-state area. Team averages also are running rather high with Valley High showing the way with .647 on 198 conversions in 306 tries while Allegany is close behind with .639 for 209 points in 329 attempts.

STARTING next season, the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association member schools will be permitted to play only 22 games during the basketball campaign, excluding one tournament and association playoff games.

One district has enforced this 22-game rule for several years but next season all schools in the state will be on a similar basis.

Maryland and West Virginia schools are limited to 20 games with other high schools and one game with the Alumni during the regular season. Additional games are in the state tournaments.

WILD DEER seldom live beyond four years. That's what the Wisconsin Conservation Department has discovered.

An examination of 2,000 deer killed in the recent hunting season by game men revealed that more than half were yearlings. Only seven per cent were four years or older.

The best chance for deer to stay alive is in captivity where they may live to be 20 years old.

REMEMBER Edward Lausse, the Argentine middleweight boxer, who appeared in a number of TV bouts in this country in recent years?

He has retired from the ring a wealthy man.

IT WAS just 34 years ago last week (January 17, 1923) that the Cumberland K.O.G. (Knights of Goodfellowship) basketball team and the Hagerstown Elks engaged in one of the longest basketball games on record in Western Maryland.

Hagerstown was the scene of the action and the Elks finally won the endurance contest, 47-42, after four overtime periods.

The regulation game ended 32-32 and the scores at the end of the first three extra periods were 38-38, 41-41 and 42-42.

Fritz Eiler got 20 of the K.O.G. points on four field goals and 12-18 fouls.

TO BASEBALL FAN who called:

Don Larsen did not beat Sal Maglie in the 7th and final game of the 1956 World Series. It was in the fifth game that Larsen tossed the perfect game and won over Maglie, 2-0. Johnny Kucks held Brooklyn to three hits and the Yankees won the 7th and final game, 9-0. Don Newcombe was the loser. Bessent, Craig, Roebuck and Erskine followed him to the mound.

ROCKWOOD, Pa., Jan. 24 — Coach Lilburn Brown's Northern High School Huskies of Garrett county extended their winning streak to five games by defeating Rockwood High School here tonight by the score of 65-64.

Rockwood was leading by one point with eight seconds remaining when Dick Spear sank the shot that decided the contest and enabled the Huskies to square their season series with the locals. It was Northern's 8th win against five losses.

Spear, Ward Humberson, Robeson and Glass collected all but two of the winning team's points. Bill Lamp, of Rockwood, however, headed all scorers with 34 points on 12 field goals and 10-16 fouls. Lineups:

FROSTBURG, Jan. 24 — Harris' Restaurant edged Skyview Inn, 57-54, and the Frostburg Dukes eked out a 36-34 decision over Kroll's Confectionery in games played last night in the Mountain State Basketball League.

"Scotchy" Adams paced Harris' quint with 17 points while "Mick" Cunningham had 12 and Nick Harris 10. Griffith dumped in 16 for Skyview.

Machen Is 4-1 Choice To Defeat Joey Maxim

Eddie Goes After 20th Straight Win In Florida Tonight

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 24 (AP)—Eddie Machen, one of the eager youngsters who are crowding the old guard out of boxing's heavyweight division, is favored to make the sly old workhorse, Joey Maxim, his 20th straight victim tomorrow night.

The 10-round main event at Miami Beach Auditorium will be televised and broadcast nationally (NBC) starting at 10 p.m.

Machen, quick-punching Californian who has knocked out 14 of his 19 opponents in a pro career of less than two years, is in no hurry to climb into a ring with heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson. His handlers want to bring him along slowly and surely.

But if the 24-year-old Negro stops the aging Maxim, the former light heavyweight champ and the only man who ever beat Patterson, he'll be close to the big one.

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club said last week that if Machen beats Maxim, his next fight would be in Madison Square Garden next month against Harold Carter, the battling young Linden, N. J., school teacher.

Machen, Willie Pastrano and Carter are rated 3-4-5 among the heavyweight contenders behind Tommy Jackson and Bob Baker. Carter gave Baker a boost on his way out with an easy victory over the lumbering Pittsburgh giant Jan. 11 in New York.

Oddsmakers here set Machen up as a 4-1 choice over the 34-year-old Maxim. Observers who watched him work out here were impressed by the speed of his punches and the power he packs in both hands.

Green Extends Hoad But Loses Five Set Match

American Women Win In Doubles

MELBOURNE, Jan. 24 (AP)—Mike Green, 19, of Miami, Fla., stirred new hope in America's Davis Cup future today when he battled Australia's Lew Hoad to five sets before losing a quarter-final match in the Australian National Tennis Championships.

The collegian took the first two sets from the heavily favored defending champion and led 2-0 in the third before Hoad rallied to win 4-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-3.

The United States' only other representative in the men's division, Myron Franks of Los Angeles was beaten in the preceding round. The combination of Shirley Fry of St. Petersburg, Fla. and Althea Gibson of New York blasted their way into the women's doubles finals by crushing Loraine Coghlan and Garet Helyer of Australia 6-1, 6-4.

Misses Fry and Gibson qualified to meet Australia's Mary Hawton and Fay Muller in the finals. The latter tandem beat Mary Carter an Beryl Penrose 4-6, 7-5, 6-1.

Patterson, Graham Honored By Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and sports columnist Frank Graham were honored tonight by the Boxing Writers Assn. of New York at its 31st annual dinner.

Patterson, 21 when he grabbed the title vacated by Rocky Marciano with a knockout victory over Archie Moore Nov. 30, accepted the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque from Julius Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

The Neil award, named in memory of the former Associated Press boxing writer killed in 1938 while serving as a war correspondent, was given to Carmen Basilio, welterweight champion, a year ago.

Graham, veteran columnist for the New York Journal American, recieved the James J. Walker award for "long and meritorious service" to boxing.

High Scoring Game Puts Fan To Sleep

BOSTON, Jan. 24 (AP)—Boston's Celtics romped to a 140-108 victory over Syracuse last night, setting a season's scoring high for the National Basketball Assn. but it didn't interest one spectator.

About 4 a. m. police received a call from a man who said he had fallen asleep and was locked in Boston Garden and would they help him out?

They did and were flabbergasted when the gent asked:

"Who won the game?"

Valley Jr. High Tops Cresaptown

Valley Junior High School's basketball team defeated Cresaptown Junior High School yesterday at Cresaptown by the score of 35-15.

The game was highlighted by the foul shooting of Bobby Brown, Valley forward, who sank 10 consecutive foul shots and paced the scorers with a total of 14 points. Larry McKenzie collected 10 points and Jim Getty had eight for the winners. John Strickland was high scorer for Cresaptown with five points.

Bruce Junior High School plays at Cresaptown next Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock. Lineups:

Officials—Kirk and Diaz.

Mississippi basketball captain Joe Gibbon scored on 29 out of 32 free throws this season in games against Alabama and Auburn.

FRED DWYER, former Villanova star now running for the New York Athletic club in indoor meets, will be the first American to run the four-minute mile. That's according to the prediction made by George Eastment, Manhattan College track coach. Dwyer, who recently defeated Hungary's Laszlo Tabori in a two-mile race, ran the mile in 4:00.8 last spring and then failed to make Olympic team. (International)

Ty Cobb Expects Williams To Play Three More Years

ATHERTON, Calif., Jan. 24 (AP)—Ty Cobb said today he expects 38-year-old Ted Williams will have two, or possibly three, more years of major league competition.

It all depends how the Boston Red Sox slugger keeps himself in condition, added the No. 1 man of Baseball's Hall of Fame. He explained:

"Ted's a specialist in hitting. A man learns more about hitting as he gets older. The trouble is that it's harder for him to get around. Get around the bases that is, and the outfield or wherever he plays. He has to keep his legs in shape."

Cobb played major league ball through his 42nd year.

"I can say this to Williams," he declared. "The older you are, the harder you have to train."

Market Pushes Higher For Third Straight Day

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP) — Strength in aircrafts and an assortment of specialties responding to good corporate news today was enough to nudge the stock market higher for the third straight day.

But it was a spotty performance and trading continued to be light.

Brokers said traders were unusually selective and pointed out that some of the day's industry-wide reports were not overly encouraging.

At the same time, announcements of stock splits in two companies brought a rush to buy the stocks. American Sugar bounded up around 8 points and closed up 5½ after directors proposed a 4-for-1 split of both the common and preferred. Norwich Pharmacal was a 2 point gainer as its directors recommended a 2-for-1 split.

Wall street sources attributed part of the demand for aircrafts to the forthcoming U.S. - British talks on British atomic armament.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 30 cents to $177, with industrials up 70 cents, rails up 30 cents and utilities unchanged. Trading amounted to 1,910,000 shares, compared with the 1,920,000 shares the two past days.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 24 (INS)—I'm interested to learn that Jon Lindbergh, 23-year-old son of Anne and Charles Lindbergh, now a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy, has inherited his mother's writing talent as well as his famous father's adventurous spirit.

In the March issue of Water World magazine, young Lindbergh has a factual magazine yarn, "Underwater Hunts," dealing with his experiences with a demolition team in Japan. Robert Petersen, publisher of the magazine and himself just 30 years old, has decided to finance this story as a feature movie.

Petersen has had several conferences with Jon, who lives with his wife and two children in Coronado, about working on the script and possibly appearing in the picture. Not as the star (he hasn't had that much dramatic experience) but in a lesser role.

Et tu Brutus? Now comes Bob Hope with a juvenile delinquent story. He plans to star in "Juvenile Jungle" for the Bob Hope enterprises. This will be a movie, not a television show. He'd like to have Natalie Wood and Marlon Brando, but who wouldn't?

At any rate, if Bob does his "Juvenile Jungle," you can bet your life he'll find an original angle.

Speaking of Bob, Eddie Fisher does a straight comedy spot on Bob's TV show tomorrow night, and, according to Robin himself, Eddie is just great. We'll certainly have a look.

Ty Power writes that between packing and unpacking for traveling he would like to know what's going on. He says that he and Ted Richmond go to Sweden to see about Stockholm as a location for a future picture.

"Then we head for Salzburg, Austria," said Ty, "where I am getting an award for 'The Eddy Duchin Story.' It was suggested I play a piano solo, but I'm not about to shatter anyone's illusions, so I declined—politely, I hope."

The ghost of Mozart would certainly rise up in Salzburg if Ty did play the piano!

In 1957, Audrey Hepburn should emerge an even bigger star. Someone who saw "Love In The Afternoon" tells me that it is one of the greatest comedies we ever made, and in "Funnyface," both Audrey and Fred Astaire are delightful.

But the one who really surprises everybody is Kay Thompson. Roger Eden, who has such a wonderful sense of comedy, has given Eloise's mother a leeway she's never had in any other picture and it pays off in big dividends. "Funnyface" is a picture no one will want to miss.

The Arthur Littles (Harriette Netcher) write from Thailand, "Bangkok is just like 'The King and I'—wonderful. Great to see

"We saw Bill Holden and Sam Spiegel in Ceylon over New Year's and Bill has a big beard and is very brown. From Bangkok we go to Singapore, Bali, Manila, Hong Kong and home in April."

What a life! Wonder if I'll ever live to see Bangkok and Singapore?

Last week Guy Madison reached the ripe old age of 35, so he feels it's high time that he takes the chance of displeasing his young "Wild Bill Hickok" fans by doing a really gutty role.

giggley people happy again after depressing India," says Hatsy.

So Guy has chosen as his next independent picture, "The Hard Man." He plays a character who kills because he lives under the compulsion that since he's the son of a famous outlaw he is destined to do so. This is the film to be made by Helen Ainsworth, Guy's partner and agent for many years.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Clark Gable turned down $125,000 from a national magazine for the rights to his life story. Reason: Clark says his life isn't over yet.

Henry King in London to huddle with Darryl Zanuck about a femme star for "The Sun Also Rises." Last word is that Ava Gardner isn't going to do this one, either.

One reason Bing Crosby would love his song "True Love" to win an Academy Award is because the composer, Cole Porter, has never won an Oscar, although Cole is certainly one of our distinguished song writers.

February 3 is the date of John Derek's marriage to Ursula Andress. Take place in Nevada but not Las Vegas.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Russian Play To Peiping Gives Ike Plan A Boost

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Russia's attempt to bring Red China into the Middle Eastern situation is a rather weak threat, but enough to give the Eisenhower plan a boost in Congress.

Since their aid was not badly needed, it would be inaccurate to apply one of this column's favorite lines, "The Russians have done it again."

It's a sign, however, that they have not outgrown their facility for words and actions which promote unity in the West. Nothing to compare with the way they killed off their two-year-old sweetness and light campaign by their actions in Hungary, but a small help.

What they expected to gain by copying the Eisenhower resolution in the joint Russian-Chinese statement is not clear. The principal result would seem to be an admission that the Kremlin, which so often has caused the West to react, has been pushed into a position where it has to react itself.

The Western Powers and the neutral states will not be impressed by an effort to proclaim a role for Red China in the Middle East.

Russia was able to use Red China when her own Korean War plans turned sour because Peiping had a natural, traditional interest in Korea.

The implication that Chinese "volunteers" could become a factor in the present situation is, to say the least, far-fetched.

Indeed, the lip-service which Chou En-lai has been paying to Russian leadership in international communism, and his defense of Russian actions in Hungary, is small evidence of Peiping's actual attitude toward the Kremlin.

Chou still needs and still is getting Russian help in modernizing the Red Chinse army and the industrial complex which he is attempting to develop for its support. His position is entirely different from that of the leaders of the party in the various Western nations, who now receive little from Moscow in the way of material aid for their movements. They can be critical and he cannot, although he started out, after de-Stalinization, by trying.

One of the chief Russian objectives at this time is to recreate, if she can, some semblance of solidarity in Communist ranks following the confusion of the past year and the deep wound inflicted by the Hungarian terror on the fundamental pretense of communism that it represents the interest of the working class.

Everything the Kremlin says must be read within that context.

In 1692, Judge Samuel Sewall sentenced 10 women to death in witch trials in Salem, Mass.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

One picture, the old saying goes, is worth ten thousand words. But ten thousand pictures, I kept thinking while watching the Presidential Inaugural parade as broadcast over three networks through the eyes of sixty-one cameras, to the chattering of twenty odd commentators, is worth one well written paragraph.

On the screen at the time, an arrowhead of motorcycles pushed slowly up drenched Pennsylvania Avenue. "The outriders are in view," declaimed a CBS commentator. "The Presidential car MAKES THE TURN!" And there, by George, it was — a car. "The Presidential car followed by those of the others makes its way past the crowd that is assembled," continued the voice in what may easily be the most obvious and unnecessary comment I've heard in years. "Everyone has turned to watch it."

So it went. Shots of cars, shots of motorcycles, shots of the crowd, shots of cops, while the commentators told you — in case your mind was wandering — that those were cars and motorcycles and people and cops you were watching.

Just for the devil of it (and because I have never really believed that business about the one picture being worth 10,000 words) I turned to a bit of the description of another cavalcade, that of the funeral procession of his father by Sean O'Casey from his autobiography:

"Hearse, mourning-coach, cabs and cars threaded their way through the tenement-hedged streets where swarms of boys and girls played and fought in front of the gloomy houses that had once, his mother told him, sheltered all the great lords and ladies of the land. Round into Cavendish Row where the houses were high and still mighty, with stately doors and flashing windows. Outside of them maids, with black or blue dresses and white aprons and caps with floating streamers, were polishing brass plates, letter box flaps and heavy knockers of bronze or brass."

As pictures go, I think I prefer the words to the electronics as infinitely more revealing. The trouble in Washington was there was just too much electronics, too many cameras, too many commentators at too many vantage points. More darned facilities to take a picture of some automobiles from above, from the side, from the front (where it was very fuzzy and wobbly indeed) There were, of course, a few shots — a very few — of the President and Mrs. Eisenhower, smiling and waving.

One smile and one wave would have been more impressive. In fact, it occurred to me that the trouble with the whole show was a total lack of editing. Just as a writer searches for the right word and then uses that one and that one alone, the TV people ought to seek the one shot — and then use it once, not forty-five times.

And the commentary or narration or whatever it was: "That's Mrs. Doud you see now, Mrs. Eisenhower's mother. She's being taken to her seat. That's little David on the left, Susan on the right — and Mr. James Hagerty. . . The tension is building here as the moment arrives when the President will take his oath of office. There's Vice President Nixon wearing a dark blue coat with a homburg." (He was bareheaded.)

To turn again to Mr. O'Casey: "The coffin was placed on a low car covered with flowing black draperies, and pulled by a well-groomed gentle black horse, enveloped in a black gown heavily embroidered with silver, so that only the eyes, the ears and the feet of the animal were visible. A tall black plume rising from his forehead made him look like the nag that the Black Prince rode at the battle of Crecy. Overhead, in a grey sky, spotted with timid-looking blue patches, dark heavy clouds were being tossed and pushed along by a northerly wind blowing steadily and reasonably, except that now and again it gathered strength and swept by fiercely, filling the cemetery with a mad rustle and a cold swish-swish from the bending branches of the trees."

As pictures go, I wouldn't trade that one for any number of live shots — and we got plenty of them — of Robert Montgomery and Mr. James Hagerty.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 diamond	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 no trump	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 spades	Pass	4 clubs	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	5 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

It was a good day for the "form" players at the nationals in New Orleans when Helen Sobel and Sidney Silidor came thru for the second year in a row, to win the mixed pair championship.

But this time they had to draw upon all their resources, in the final round, to come from behind in a spectacular finish.

The winners wound up on the right side of the many slams which featured this event. In today's hand, the defending champions resisted the temptation to play at the higher no trump slam and chose the safer contract of six spades.

The first round of bidding was routine. With 19 points in high cards, Mrs. Sobel, sitting South, had a classic jump rebid of two no trump, and when North showed his second suit, she declared an immediate preference for spades. The four club bid is well chosen and gives partner a clear picture of at least 10 black cards. Mrs. Sobel then showed the ace of hearts and Silidor jumped to five spades, leaving the door open to a final no trump contract. Mrs. Sobel realizing that the partnership probably had just one stopper in hearts, took the conservative course and raised to six spades.

Agnes Gordon of Buffalo who teamed with Donald Farquharson of Kingston, Jamaica B. W. I., to finish second in this event by the narrow margin of two points, had a stroy of cheer to tell on this hand. Mrs. Gordon sat West and South became the declarer at a contract of six no trump. As she studied the problem of the opening lead, she had a painful recollection of a similar situation on the final round of last year's tournament.

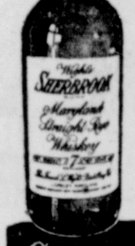

At that time, against a six no trump bid, she declined to lead from a holding of four hearts to the king, a lead which in that case would have sunk the adverse slam. "I may be a year late," she mumbled inaudibly, "but here goes" and out came the deuce of hearts. With the king of spades "offside," declarer was unable to bring in the contract.

QUESTIONS

1—Who is Reggie MacNamara?

2—What player batted .408 in 1911, but did not win the American league batting title?

3—Who was the first player in World Series history to hit a grand slam homer?

HOOHEE?

HE was a member of the America cup and Walker cup teams. Last year he was runner-up in the Masters tournament. A top amateur, he is expected to go a long way now that he's joined the pro circuits.

ANSWERS

2—Shoeless Joe Jackson. Ty Cobb won that year with a .420 mark.

3—Elmer Smith of the Indians in 1920.

44 Fairchild Propjet Transports Ordered

NEW YORK, Jan. 24 (AP)—Orders for 44 Fairchild F27 twin propjet transports have been placed by scheduled domestic and foreign air lines and U.S. corporations, Fairchild Engine & Airplane Corp. announced today.

The planes currently on order have a sales value of 24 million dollars, President Richard S. Boutelle said, and air lines have taken options on 29 additional planes.

The company said the plane, first U.S. built propjet transport, cruises at 280 miles per hour, has a pressurized cabin capable of carrying 40 passengers and is designed for short to medium haul operations with a range of 2,250 miles. It also comes in an executive model for use by business firms and is adaptable for carrying freight as well as passengers, Fairchild said.

Four Local, Area Men Join Navy

Louis W. Knott, petty officer in charge of the Navy Recruiting office here, announced that four local and area men have enlisted in the Navy.

They will receive their boot training at Bainbridge. James David Davis, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Davis, 633 Elm Street, city, enlisted as a seaman apprentice. He was a member of the National Guard and enlisted for minority.

Robert Joseph Shipley, also a member of the National Guard enlisted for minority as a seaman recruit. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Shipley, 404 York Place.

Arthur James Williams, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Williams, of Dawson, enlisted for a four-year period, while Richard Arvin Collett, 17, son of Mrs. Helen Collett, also of Dawson, enlisted for minority.

The first patent issued in the U. S. was to John Ruggles, a U. S. senator from Maine, for a locomotive invention.

NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNERS

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, to be held in the City Hall at 10:00 o'clock A. M. on the 25th day of February, 1957, an ordinance will be introduced providing for the closing of portions of the following described streets and alleys:

DAY STREET from a point one hundred fifty feet (150') south of the intersection of Day Street with the Southerly side of Laing Avenue in said City, and then in a southerly direction to the end of Day Street.

EMMA STREET from its intersection with the southerly side of Laing Avenue in said City, and thence in a southerly direction to the end of Emma Street.

KEY STREET from its intersection with the Southerly side of Laing Avenue in said City, and thence in a southerly direction to the end of Key Street.

SOUTH STREET from its intersection with the southerly side of Laing Avenue in said City, and thence in a southerly direction to the end of South Street.

VANCOUVER STREET from its intersection with the southerly side of Laing Avenue in said City, and thence in a northerly direction one hundred seventy-five feet (175') to the southerly side of an unnamed alley.

LAING AVENUE between its intersection with South Street and Vancouver Street, a distance of nine hundred twenty-six feet (926').

UNNAMED ALLEY, the most easterly eighty feet (80') of an unnamed alley ten feet (10') in width, which runs parallel with and one hundred feet (100') distant from the southerly side of Laing Avenue between Emma Street and Day Street.

UNNAMED ALLEY nine feet (9') in width, parallel with and one hundred feet (100') distant from the southerly side of Laing Avenue between Key Street and South Street.

UNNAMED ALLEY fifteen feet (15') in width, running parallel with and one hundred twenty feet (120') distant from the southerly side of Laing Avenue, said alley connecting South Street and an unnamed alley extending southward from Vancouver Street, a distance of nine hundred thirty-five feet (935').

And all of the following alleys:

UNNAMED ALLEY eighteen foot (18') alley which extends southward from Laing Avenue as an extension of Ontario Street for a distance of one hundred twenty feet (120').

UNNAMED ALLEY eighteen foot (18') alley which extends southward from Laing Avenue as an extension of Vancouver Street, for a distance of one hundred twenty feet (120').

The ordinance will also provide for the appointment of commissioners to award compensation or to assess benefits to any person, persons or corporation owning property on said streets or alleys which may be closed who may be affected thereby.

Doris G. Gatlin vs. Cecil Gatlin, No. 24760 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a decree of divorce A VINCULO MATRIMONII for the Plaintiff, Doris G. Gatlin, and against the Defendent, Cecil Gatlin.

The bill states that on April 9, 1946, Doris G. Gatlin was married to Cecil Gatlin and that one child, Darryl Anthony Gatlin, was born on the 13th day of July, 1947; that the parties lived together until the summer of 1952, when Cecil Gatlin abandoned and deserted the Plaintiff, Doris G. Gatlin, without just cause or reason; that such abandonment has been continuous and uninterrupted for more than eighteen months and is deliberate and final, and the separation of the parties beyond any reasonable expectation of reconciliation; that the Plaintiff prays the custody of the infant son born of said marriage, and that the Plaintiff has been a resident of Allegany County for more than one year.

It is thereupon this 24th day of January, 1957, ordered by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper in Allegany County, Maryland, once each week for four successive weeks before the 25th day of February, 1957, giving notice to the said Cecil Gatlin of the object and substance of this Bill of Complaint, and warning him to be and appear in this Court in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 13th day of March, 1957, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

Treat Elected President Of Central YMCA

New Directors Also Are Named

Ernest B. Treat, assistant Allegany County tax collector, was elected president of Central YMCA last night at the annual election of officers following the organization's 82d dinner meeting in the YMCA community room.

Also named to serve as officials of the organization were Dr William B. Allen, first vice president; Dr. Thomas Lewis, second vice president; Roy W. Eves, who was re-elected treasurer, and Karl W. Bachman, re-elected recording secretary.

Members of the board of directors elected to serve with these officers on the executive committee were C. William Gilchrist, Lynn C. Lashley, H. D. Barber and James W. Bishop.

Mr. Barber is immediate past president of the YMCA and Bishop is a past president and chairman of the nominating committee.

Directors Elected

Ten directors were elected by ballots of YMCA members. Of 486 ballots mailed to members, 261 valid votes were returned for a mark of 54 per cent of the eligible votes cast.

New directors named last night were Robert E. Pence, Robert E. Moore, Rev. Kenneth W. Grove and Mrs. Albert S. Faye. Re-elected to the board of directors were Mr. Bachman, Mr Barber, Mr. Lashley, Edward L. Ewald, Henry W. Price, and Rev. Maurice Robertson. All will serve for three-year terms.

Mrs. Calvin Keiter was named to a one-year term on the board of directors to replace Mrs. Barbara Bogart who resigned in September.

Approximately 110 persons attended last night's annual dinner, which officially kicks off this year's local celebration of YMCA week. The 106th National YMCA Week will begin on Sunday throughout the country.

Duard H. Little, manager of Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto, was the principal speaker. He was introduced by Mr. Barber, who presided at the dinner meeting.

Mr. Little spoke on the "Business of Youth," telling briefly the important part youth plays in business. He said, "as a business man, I am primarily interested in business; as a father and American citizen, I am interested in youth."

Urges Honesty, Judgment

"We need to teach our children honesty, judgment, pride and to develop his leadership talents. Youth can develop many of these qualities through such agencies as YMCA, 4-H clubs, scouting, and boys clubs," Mr. Little said.

Mr. Barber introduced Baylies U. Smith, new executive secretary who will assume his duties here February 1, made the past president award to Mr. Bishop, and gave the YMCA annual report.

Miss Barbara Mann, president of Allegany Tri-Hi-Y, gave the county Hi-Y council report, Mr. Eves gave the treasurer's report; trophies were given to ping pong winners by Robert L. Davis; and Dr. Allen presented an employe's service recognition award to Frank Jones, janitor.

Rev. Robertson gave the invocation and benediction.

Pealer Named Man Of The Year

Woodward D. Pealer (second from right) receives the Junior Association of Commerce Distinguished Service Award as "young man of the year" from Kenneth J. Williams (left), Jaycee president, at a dinner meeting last night at Ali Ghan Country Club. Looking on are William A. Gunter, chairman of the judges committee, and Bernard Warren, chairman of the DSA committee. University of Maryland Football Coach Tommy Mont was speaker.

Pealer Receives Award As Young Man Of 1956

Woodward D. Pealer, 1027 Penhurst Avenue, last night was presented a distinguished service award by the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce as Cumberland's young man of the year for 1956.

Mr. Pealer, who has been manager of the Kelly Tire Store on South Mechanic Street the past five years, was announced as the winner by William A. Gunter, who served as "foreman" of the five-man "jury" which made the selection. The presentation was made by Kenneth J. Williams, Jaycee president.

The ceremony was the highlight of the Cumberland Jaycees' annual "Bosses Night" dinner at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. About 100 persons attended the affair.

The young man of the year has been active in the fund-raising drives of the Community Chest for the past 10 years. Last year he was chairman of the classified section. A past vice president of the Cumberland Lions Club, he also is a former Jaycee.

Principal speaker last night was Thomas A. Mont Jr., former Cumberlander who is the head football coach at the University of Maryland. His humorous remarks also included the serious observation that too many of the boys of today are looking for the "easy way" to get things.

In a recent physical fitness test for more than 5,000 youths, some 47.9 per cent failed at least one of the tests, he said.

Coach Mont also was the speaker at the Central YMCA. He told the Kiwanians that eight Cumberland boys will be on the Maryland football squad next season under present indications. They include Gene Alderton, co-captain and center; Ronald Athey, John McVicker, Rodney Breedlove, Barry Sterner, Bill Steppe, Kenneth Poling and Ronald Shaffer.

County Farmers To Hear Four U.M. Specialists

Four specialists from the University of Maryland will present programs at the annual Winter cattle feeding meeting for Allegany County farmers at the LaVale Fire Hall on Thursday, February 14.

County Agent Joseph M. Steger reported that Charles P. Ellington, extension agronomist, will speak on "Forage Programs for Dairy and Livestock Farmers."

Dr. Richard F. Davis, head of the Dairy Department, will speak on "Dairy Management" with special emphasis on home grown feeds in preparing balanced rations. Many dairy farmers are now using local feed mills and home feed grinders in the preparation of rations.

The afternoon program will begin with a talk by Dr. Paul Santelmann, extension agronomist and specialist on weed control problems. "Weeds in Small Grains and Corn" will be his topic. He also will give some help on the control of quack grass and Bermuda grass.

Beef producers will hear a talk by Dr. James R. Ferguson, livestock specialist, on the topic "Livestock and a Balanced Farm Program." This will be a blackboard discussion of livestock in diversification, labor distribution, roughage and grass-land utilization, home grown fertility and the spreading of risk on Maryland farms.

The session will run from 10 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. Luncheon will be served by the Women's Auxiliary of the LaVale Volunteer Fire Company.

Youth Petitions For Quick Trial

Gary Ambrose Dicken, 18, of RD 3, Valley Road, has submitted a petition asking for immediate trial in Allegany County Circuit Court on charges of "malicious destruction of public property, a felony."

In this petition Dicken, through his attorney, Earl E. Manges, asks to be tried on criminal information filed by the State's Attorney He waived his right to indictment by the grand jury.

Dicken has been held in Allegany County Jail since January 16, when he was given a preliminary hearing before Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason on the charges ordered held on $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury.

The youth was picked up by City Police along with two 15-year-old boys after the trio had damaged about 17 parking meters on Commerce Street in an effort to take the coins from the meters.

Authorities said damage to the meters amounted to about $1,000.

Teachers Association Nominating Group Requests Volunteers

The nominating committee of the Allegany County Teachers Association has come up with an idea to put square pegs in square holes.

Members of the association who would like to serve as officers or committee chairmen are asked to notify the nominating committee on or before February 13 so they can be listed among the nominees.

The nominating committee includes Robert C. MacMillan, Mt. Savage School, chairman; Alyce M. Edwards, Dr. Wayne W. Hill, John Snyder and Anna H. Thomas.

Railroad Pay Schedule Bill Action Postponed

By MARTY SUTPHIN

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 24 (AP) — A legislative committee postponed action today on a bill which would require railroad companies to pay their 37,000 Maryland workers once a week instead of twice a month.

Representatives of several railroad brotherhoods told the Senate Judicial Proceedings Committee the present pay schedule causes economic hardship to the average railroad worker.

Some workers said the semi-monthly pay system results in "loan sharks" plying their trade at rail centers—men who will loan $10 in return for $12 a few days later.

Others said desperate employes sometimes sell their $90 railroad watches for $30, then must turn around and purchase a new watch on the time payment plan.

J. A. Birkel of Port Covington, representing railroad carmen, said a recent check of 38 members of his craft revealed that 37 were "broke" before their last payday.

Birkel, asked if a weekly pay schedule would change this situation, said just as many might be broke before payday but "they wouldn't have to stay broke for as long."

Representatives of the railroad companies argued that the proposed bill, sponsored by Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st), is discriminatory and possibly unconstitutional.

They said a weekly pay system would result in a "substantial and needless expense" in accounting departments and would create a hardship in reports by the calendar month to the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Railroad Retirement Board.

William J. Culbertson, state representative of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, directed the workers' arguments and introduced speakers who represented

Deer Accidentally Killed By Driver Enroute To Work

A Green Spring, W. Va. motorist lost his supply of winter antifreeze and damaged his car yesterday morning as a result of an accidental out-of-season deer kill.

Wilbur Bell, a machinist at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, was on his way to work when a deer darted into the path of his auto. The animal was knocked to the side of the highway by the impact.

The accident occurred about two miles from Green Spring. Mr. Bell said he went to a nearby house and asked that the game warden be notified of the accident. He and a passenger in the car, who were uninjured, proceeded to work in another car.

Snow Expected In Area Today

Cloudy skies and warmer temperatures, with snow this morning in Western Maryland, spreading eastward later in the day and changing to rain is the weather picture for today.

The mercury remained below-freezing last night in the Cumberland area and the temperature was expected to drop to the low 20s during the night.

Temperatures were expected to skid to about 15 above west of Cumberland in Garrett County sometime during the night.

Unofficially the temperature rose to 35 degrees here yesterday afternoon and by 9 p. m. had dipped to 30 above. Snow was forecast for northern West Virginia today, while sleet and snow turning to rain was expected in the southern part of the state.

Cloudy, warmer, and occasional snow with a high of 22-30 degrees was forecast for Western Pennsylvania today.

Police, Firemen Thanked For Aid In Local Crash

A local youth who was pinned in his car for about an hour following an accident December 19 on Baltimore Avenue has written a letter of appreciation to city police and firemen, thanking them for freeing him from the wreckage.

Kenneth Jacobs, of 474 Goethe Street, pointed out in his letter that the "people of Cumberland are fortunate to have such wonderful men working for them."

He thanked all concerned, including Dr. Leo H. Ley, who administered medical aid at the scene and accompanied him to the hospital.

Jacobs also expressed thanks to Jake Cross, a local automobile body repairman, who used a cutting tool to free him from the car.

Seven Scouts Pass Review

Seven local Boy Scouts passed advancement tests Tuesday at a Board of Review held in the Potomac Council Boy Scouts of America office in the County Building on Union Street.

The board of review was conducted by Jack L. Towler, chairman of the Advancement committee, and board member Paul Cornwell.

Okayed for advancement were David Dawson, of Explorer Post No. 13, First Presbyterian Church, who earned his Star Scout badge; Paul Moran, who was advanced to Star Scout, and Robert Dolan, who made Second Class Scout, both of Troop 1, St. Luke's Lutheran Church; Marshall Porter, Life Scout; Larry Narjes, First Class; Dennis Barncord, Second Class, and Charles Kolb, Second Class, all of Troop 11, LaVale Baptist Church.

South End Gets Two False Alarms

Firemen from South End station answered two calls yesterday evening, both of which apparently were false alarms.

About 5:02 p. m. the firemen received a call that there was a fire in the 600 block of Elwood Street. They found no trace of a blaze.

Two hours later, at 7:06 p.m., another call was received that a fire was burning in Fisher's Woods. Firemen looked for the fire for about 20 minutes but were unable to locate it.

Big Pour Made On Archway Job

Crews of the R. J. Nissley Company, Lancaster, Pa., yesterday made a 900 cubic yard concrete pour on the archway being built over Evitts Creek for the B & O Railroad.

The pour on a 40-foot section of the archway began at 2 a. m. and crews expected to quit work by about 8 o'clock last night.

Financial Report Of Chest Drives Is Presented

Books Closed On 1955-56 Campaign

Payments on pledges made in the 1955-56 Community Chest campaign totaled $105,286.83 on December 1. This was 91 per cent of the $115,920 raised in the drive to support the nine Red Feather agencies.

The financial report, presented by Simon Rosenbaum II, treasurer, at the annual meeting recently, showed total receipts of $118,021.68 in the 1955-56 Chest.

This figure included a $4,000 loan from the 1956-57 Chest, a refund for prepaid 1956-57 campaign expenses and miscellaneous receipts for insurance, Social Security and withholding taxes.

Disbursements, representing budgets of the Red Feather agencies and administrative and campaign expenses, totaled $116,840.28 on December 1.

Available to repay the $4,000 loan were a bank balance of $1,181.40 on November 30, $1,790.02 from collections during December and January and estimated additional receipts of $500 for a total of $3,471.48.

Reporting on the progress of the 1956-57 Chest, Mr. Rosenbaum said receipts totaled $67,622.88 on January 1.

Disbursements, representing the December allotment to Red Feather agencies, administrative and campaign expenses and the $4,000 loan to the 1955-56 Chest totaled $22,932.99, leaving a cash balance of $44,689.89 on January 1.

Total receipts from 1956-57 pledges totaled $67,622.88 as the year began, representing 45 per cent of the record $151,064.20 raised in the campaign.

The financial report, Mr. Rosenbaum reported, has been audited by William Torkington, local CPA, and is available for public inspection at Community Chest headquarters.

Rev. Konves Will Speak At Rally

Rev. Russell Konves, pastor of Grace Brethren Church, Listie, Pa., will address the Tri-State Youth for Christ Rally Saturday at 8 p. m. in the Salvation Army Citadel.

A graduate of Grace Theological Seminary, Winona Lake, Ind., Rev. Konves became pastor of the Listie church last November after a pastorate in Clay City, Ind., where he also served on the advisory council of the Youth for Christ.

Special instrumental and vocal selections will be presented by local young people.

County School Record System Is Evaluated

Supervisory Staff Meets With Higgins

The final evaluation of a revised cumulative record system for Allegany County public school pupils, which is included in a state-wide project, was made yesterday at the Board of Education offices here.

Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel of county public schools, said the findings and evaluation will be submitted to the State Department of Education by February 15.

Mr. Higgins conferred yesterday with members of the supervisory staff of the Board of Education. The revised system includes scholastic records as well as personal data, test records and health records of the individual pupils from the first through the 12th grade.

The Child Study Program organized in 1945 by the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland placed emphasis on the importance of recording, studying and using information about the pupils.

Mr. Higgins pointed out that this increased interest in the understanding of children has made educators aware of the necessity of recording significant data about them.

The forms have been in process and studied since October 1955 under the chairmanship of Miss Dorothy Shires, supervisor of pupil personnel for the State Department of Education.

Other committee members were appointed from other branches of the school system. All general supervisors worked with principals and teachers in the evaluation of the new record system, Mr. Higgins added.

Such tentative forms were forwarded to Allegany County for evaluation in the state-wide plan.

Fire Damages Small House At Spring Gap

A recently remodeled frame bungalow at Consolidated Orchards, Spring Gap, was practically destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Firemen blamed an overheated flue.

Mrs. Philip Combs was doing the family washing in her company-owned four-room home when the lights went out. Investigating, she found a small fire which had burned through some wires and caused a fuse to blow. Her husband was working in the orchard and her children were away at school.

Orchard workers helped Mrs. Combs carry furniture from the home and called District 46 Volunteer Fire Company, three miles away at North Branch.

By the time firemen got to the scene the flames had a headstart. The firemen concentrated their efforts on limiting damage to about two-thirds of the house.

They exhausted the 500-gallon water supply in their pumper, and set up a portable pump to pump 2,000 gallons of water onto the fire from the orchard reservoir a thousand yards away.

No one was injured in the fire, and no estimate of damage was available. Fire Chief Leroy Shoemaker said he understood the home was insured. The family moved temporarily to another house on the orchard property.

Chief Shoemaker said 10 firemen fought the flames from 11:30 a. m. to 2:30 p. m.

Sheriff Bill Enacted

Senate Bill 85, sponsored by Senator Charles M. See, was enacted by the House of Delegates yesterday. It provides for boosting the salary of Allegany County's sheriff from $4,000 to $4,800 a year, beginning with the next elective term.

The House also enacted Senator See's SB 81, which would exempt Maryland Workshop for the Blind vending stands from requirements for special licenses for the sale of cigarets.

Dog Is Reburied By Men Working On Flood Control

"Wally," a Pomeranian dog which died about four years ago, was reburied in the back yard of 418 North Mechanic Street Wednesday by men working on the flood control project along Wills Creek.

Construction work on the project necessitated moving ground in the vicinity of the dog's grave and so it was taken from the rose garden of the residence to a new burial place near the kitchen window of the home.

Miss Daisy Sowers, owner of the white dog, said it was about 16 years old when it died. It was buried in a small casket, which still is in good condition.

SRC Will Seek Tax Unit Help On Land Costs

Wants Assessments To Reflect Awards

BALTIMORE, Jan. 24 (AP)—The State Roads Commission plans to seek the aid of the State Tax Commission in curbing the apparent generosity of juries in land condemnation suits.

The roads commission will suggest that the tax commission use the value placed on a piece of land by a condemnation jury as a criterion in assessing neighboring properties for tax purposes.

The proposal was made at yesterday's SRC meeting by John J. McMullen of Cumberland, a member. Robert O. Bonnell, chairman, said he would discuss it soon with members of the tax commission.

The idea would work like this: Let's say a jury decreed that the roads commission must pay $20,000 for a piece of property assessed for tax purposes at $8,000. When it came time for assessors to evaluate other property in the vicinity for the following year, they would use $20,000 as a basis for arriving at new valuations.

Doubts Legality

However, a tax commission official—queried about the proposal—expressed doubt as to its legality "under present law."

"Under the existing law," said Albert W. Ward, executive secretary to the commission, "assessments are made at full cash value.

"The Court of Appeals has defined full cash value as the value placed on the property by a willing buyer and a willing seller, neither of which is forced to buy or sell."

In the case of condemnation proceedings, Ward said, "you have neither a willing buyer nor seller or the case wouldn't be in court."

Because of the seriousness of the problem, the roads commission might be moved to seek a change in the law.

Cites Rising Costs

In the last three years, McMullen said, the amount of condemnation awards has risen 61 per cent.

If jurors realize their own property might be reassessed at a higher tax rate as a result of the award they make, the commission feels, they might not be so generous in handing out fancy prices.

Bonnell said it seems apparent that most juries add the value placed on a piece of land by the roads commission to the amount asked by the owner and then divide by two to determine the award.

"That's hardly scientific," he said.

"Many people seem to think the roads commission is some far away organization with lots of money to spend.

"We want to find some way to make people realize that this is their money we are spending."

Seeks Fair Plan

When the commission must pay more than a fair price for a piece of right-of-way, Bonnell said, the extra money usually has to come out of funds which would otherwise go into new roads.

This inflation of property values is a serious problem, the chairman said, and is being approached from several angles.

The commission also is organizing a statistical department, Bon-

Md. Lawmakers Seek To Solve Money Problem

Senator Northrop Heads Committee

By LOUIS PANOS

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 24 (AP) — The Democratic majority in the Senate named a special committee today to find an answer to the State's politically explosive financial troubles.

President Goldstein (D-Calvert), announcing the formation of the committee at a news conference after a caucus, said it will be headed by Sen. Northrop (D-Montgomery).

Besides Newsmen, the only other sitting in on the entire conference with Goldstein were Northrop and two officials of the Maryland State Teachers Assn., which is pressing for a teachers salary increase.

Goldstein said the new unit will be "a fiscal study committee" to study all proposals to increase taxes for financing State services, "including a teachers' pay raise."

In the meantime, Goldstein said he would not introduce two revenue-raising proposals he had planned to drop into the hopper—one to raise the sales tax and another t. boost the income tax. Nor would he sponsor a teachers' pay-increase bill.

"In that case," said Milson C. Raver, executive secretary of the teachers association, "I'd like to ask you to return the bill to me."

Handed Proposal

Goldstein handed him the proposal, which has been ready for introduction several days, from a folder on his desk.

Raver and Robert Y. Dubel, his assistant, said they would canvass others who earlier had agreed to sponsor the bill to see whether it cannot be dropped into the hopper immediately.

State financial experts estimated it would cost 11 million dollars for each of the two $400-a-year raises being sought by the teachers, one beginning next September and the other one year later.

In addition, there is already a 22 million dollar gap between Republican Gov. McKeldin's proposed spending program for the year beginning July 1 and estimates of revenues expected from present tax programs. McKeldin has proposed that this gap be met with 14 million dollars of surplus money, two million in unspent money returned by the various departments and agencies, and seven million from a tobacco tax he proposed.

Even if the teachers were granted no increase, Democratic leaders said, there is no guarantee a surplus will be available to balance the budget the Legislature must act on one year from now, making a major tax increase almost inescapable. But most Key Democrats also said the picture is even bleaker because there is so much pressure of a teachers pay raise that some form of one is probable.

With few politicians willing to risk postponement of a tax boost in the election year of 1958, most seem agreed that any increase must be put in effect in the current Legislature.

Senate Concurs

Earlier today the Senate concurred in a technical House amendment and enacted a bill designed to block refunds of sales taxes on certain manufacturing equipment. The governor and the comptroller's office had requested the measure, saying it would mean more than one million dollars to the State.

The House of Delegates was stirred up by the name of Dr. Robert Reddick before it enacted a bill to abolish the Homeopathic Board of Medical Examiners. All doctors licenses in the future will be issued by a board from the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty.

Dr. Reddick, restrained from issuing licenses in the name of the homeopathic board, failed to attend a hearing on the bill before the Ways and Means Committee.

Pleas to hold up the bill to give him another opportunity to appear brought from Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert the advice that the "committee owes him no more courtesy than a mad dog."

He said Dr. Reddick "had brought shame" on Maryland. Sybert obtained the court injunction against Dr. Reddick and also has charged him with contempt of it.
